AGREE ON FARM-RUM PLANKS

LLIES, BEATEN, TO STAY IN RACE AGAINST HOOVER

Names of 5 Will Go Before Convention.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Kansas City, Mo., June 13.—[Special.]—With a wild scramble for the band wagon in progress, Herbert Hoover will receive the Republican nomination for President with more than 200 votes to spare when the first ballot is taken in the convention tomorrow.

New York having got aboard the Hoover band wagon today with a solid block of 90 votes, the secretary of commerce is assured of 750 out of the 1,089 delegates in the convention.

Frank O. Lowden, at a conference with his advisers, decided to stay in the contest and go down to defeat. His name will be placed in nomination and seconded, and the corn belt delegates will vote for him as a tangible protest against the nomination of Hoover, who opposes the corn belt farm relief plan. Senator Curtis of Kansas, Senator Watson of Indiana, and Senator Goff of West Virginia also decided to stay in the fight to the last ditch.

Day Was a Waterhaul.

This day was largely one of marking time so far as convention proceedings were concerned. After permanent organization was accomplished, with Senator George Moses as chairman, it was a case of waiting for the resolutions committee to get ready to report.

A night session was assembled but the platform was not ready so an adjournment immediately followed until 10 a. m. tomorrow. Then will come the resolutions committee report and whatever fights are made on the platform will take place on the floor of the convention itself.

Deneen Comes to Fore.

Vice President Dawes is still leading the field of candidates for second place on the ticket with the vice presidential nomination scheduled to be made on Friday. Senator Deneen of Illinois, who was given an enthusiastic reception in the session of the convention this morning, is also coming to the fore as a possibility for running mate to Hoover if Gen. Dawes should not be renominated.

The New York delegation was one of the last to go over to Hoover. New York came to Kansas City with only thirty delegates committed to Hoover. The delegation caucused today and voted to give Hoover its full 90 votes on the first ballot. A count of noses showed 75 for Hoover, five for Dawes, four for Hughes, and one for Lowden, with five absent.

On motion of former Senator Wadsworth, who voted for Dawes, the delegation declared unanimously for Hoover. The motion was seconded by Miss Sarah Schuyler Butler, who had voted the proxy of National Committeeman Hilles for Dawes.

Dawes by Acclamation.

The prevailing opinion among the leaders tonight is that Vice President Dawes will be renominated by acclamation if he will consent to run again.

Although Hoover leaders are in control of the convention they have made no effort to slate any one for running mate for the secretary of commerce. One reason is that they desire to avoid arousing before the nomination of Hoover the animosities that would result from an attempt to influence the selection of the vice presidential candidate. Another is the division among the Hoover leaders on the question and the absence of any word from their chief indicating his preference.

East Raises Objections.

In the expectation that it will be an open contest on the convention floor with one man's chances as good as another's, the friends of the score or more of candidates for second place on the ticket are furiously electioneering.

The eastern candidates are arguing that with Al Smith pitted against Hoover the election battle is going to be in the east instead of the west, and that it behooves the party to strengthen itself in the east by the choice of an eastern man for vice presidential nominee. No less emphatic is the counter argument that, with the Republican states of the corn belt shot through with disaffection on the farm relief issue and with Hoover the particular object of the farmer's resentment, it is imperative to strengthen the ticket with a corn belt nominee for Vice President.

The general expectation is that the choice of Hoover's running mate will follow tradition. The candidate for Vice President usually is selected by the dominant faction of leaders, and the delegates dutifully do their bidding

Coolidge Train Stops Briefly Here Today

Washington, D. C., June 13.—[Special.—After two days of delay in vacation departure, due to the illness of Mrs. Coolidge, the presidential party left Washington tonight (near midnight) for the summer White House in Wisconsin. The President and Mrs. Coolidge motored to the station at 8:30 o'clock and immediately went to their special car, which had been placed on a lower level. Mrs. Coolidge walked to her car and climbed aboard without assistance.

The President bade good-by to Secretary of Commerce Hoover, Secretary of State Kellogg and Attorney General Sargent early in the evening and the trip to the station was made unaccompanied.

Because of the illness of Mrs. Coolidge the photographers were not allowed to take pictures of the departure of the President. Only a few persons, most of them relatives of the President's party, were at the station when the train pulled out.

To Make Brief Chicago Stop.

The special train on the Baltimore and Ohio is scheduled to reach Chicago at five o'clock tomorrow afternoon, remaining half an hour for switching to the Chicago and North Western tracks, and arriving in Superior Friday morning.

The residents of the north country have made preparations to welcome the President and Mrs. Coolidge, and after a brief reception they will motor to the lodge on the Brule river which is expected to be their home until fall.

Mrs. Coolidge Better.

Lieut. Commander Joel T. Boone of the Mayflower, who is Mrs. Coolidge's physician, gave his consent this afternoon for her to take the trip. She had improved greatly, was cheerful and anxious to get started on the journey. Dr. Boone did not accompany the party, as had been planned at first, but will go to Boston on the Mayflower and be within easy distance of the bedside of Mrs. Coolidge's mother in Northampton.

While the President was out on the lawn today it was noticed that he limped and it was learned that he had a blister on his heel which had been treated by one of the White House physicians.

The President's train, which will carry about seventy-five persons, is in charge of E. D. Ainslee, assistant general passenger agent.

The President will be guarded this summer by regular army troops from Fort Snelling, Minn., who will camp about a quarter of a mile from the lodge.

Jessica Brown Admits She Is Divorcing Her Count

New York, June 13.—[Special.]—The countess of Northesk, formerly Miss Jessica Brown of Buffalo, who left the Winter Garden Revue five years ago to marry the earl of Northesk, returned today from England. She confirmed the report that she had commenced divorce proceedings in London. The countess arrived on the Homeric of the White Star line.

"All I have to say on the subject," said the countess, "is that I am divorcing Lord Northesk. My decision is final. There will be no reconciliation."

SMOKE OF LOOP LEATHER BLAZE OVERCOMES TEN

Ten firemen, battling a stubborn blaze last night in the basement of an eight story building at 312-316 West Jackson boulevard, were overcome by smoke arising in dense clouds from piles of celluloid and leather. All were carried out by members of squads No. 1 and No. 2, who fought their way through the darkness to reach them.

Seven were sent to St. Luke's hospital, where they were treated by Fire Surgeon Harold P. Sullivan. It was discovered that Patrick Kelly of engine company No. 6 had suffered a fractured leg in addition to severe burns of the throat.

The other injured are Capt. Charles Pathe, Daniel Keefe, G. Mattis, William Carney, Edward Veseley, Thomas Hogan, Martin Kearney, A. H. Cornell, and Charles Weisenheim. All were unconscious when brought into the open air, but physicians announced their condition not serious.

The first floor of the building is occupied by the Superior Brass and Fixture company. Damage estimated at $10,000 was caused to their plant and stock.

SAILS FOR PARIS, BUT SOCIETY GIRL BRIDE IS MISSING

New York, June 13.—(AP)—Gilles Weill Godchaux, Paris commissionaire, sailed for home aboard the liner Mauretania tonight without his bride of two weeks, the former Marcella Gump, San Francisco society girl.

The couple was married in San Francisco after a three day courtship. Passage had been booked for a week ago. Godchaux arrived at the pier at that time, but his bride failed to appear. Just before sailing time he returned to his hotel with his wife's nineteen bags and trunks and announced they were not sailing because his wife was ill.

It later was learned she had gone to the home of an aunt. Godchaux insisted they would sail on the Mauretania. Godchaux, however, appeared alone again at the pier tonight.

"Where is your wife?" he was asked.

"I don't know where she is," he shouted.

Friends hinted Mrs. Godchaux was on her way back home.

Noted Leader of Suffrage Fight Is Dead

LONDON, June 14.—(AP)—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, noted suffragist leader, died this morning at the age of 69.

WAS MILITANT LEADER.

Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, English suffrage leader, author, and lecturer—whose "militancy" helped win the voting franchise for 6,000,000 women of Great Britain—was in the period of her greatest activity one of the most widely known political reformers in the world.

On the eve of what appeared to be the triumph of the suffrage cause in England, which she had led for more than a decade as the head of the Women's Social and Political union, founded in 1903, the great war broke out. Up to this time the followers of Mrs. Pankhurst had been widely characterized as hecklers of statesmen, window smashers, and firebrands.

Changes Her Attitude.

Mrs. Pankhurst and many of her aides, including her two daughters, Christabel and Sylvia, suffered nearly every form of obloquy and hardship for the cause. They had frequently been sent to prison and in some instances had gone on "hunger strikes," hoping by this means of self-imposed starvation to attract sympathy for the suffrage movement among British political leaders.

With the outbreak of the war, the attitude of Mrs. Pankhurst and her disciples immediately changed. In a declaration to the members of the Women's Social and Political union, she admonished them to cease their activities as militant suffragettes and bend all energies toward "helping the allies to win the war."

Twice Visited U. S.

Mrs. Pankhurst, while recuperating from the excitement of riot and arrest in London, made two trips to America before the war, once in 1911, and again in 1913. On the latter visit she was ordered deported by the immigration officials at New York, but the government at Washington overruled the decision.

Loop Photographer Ends Life with Gas in Studio

When Carl F. Gairing, of Carl F. Gairing & Co., commercial photographers at 108 West Lake street, had failed to arrive at his home at 916 Garden avenue, Park Ridge, until early this morning, his wife notified the Chicago police. They went to the studio and found Gairing dead from gas, with a rubber tube attached to a gas stove. A note said he had made "a botch of life," and told where his insurance policies could be found.

6 Killed, 40 Wounded in Greek Tobacco Strike

ATHENS, June 14.—(AP)—Six persons were killed and forty wounded at Xanthi today as disorders attendant upon the strike of tobacco workers, including those of the American Tobacco company, continued. Cavalry charged the strikers at Drama. The government decided to adopt a firm attitude in dealing with the situation.

BUT WAR ON DRY ISSUE AND CROP FEE TO GO TO CONVENTION FLOOR TODAY

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Kansas City, Mo., June 13.—[Special.]—The battle over the McNary-Haugen bill goes directly to the floor of the convention itself tomorrow.

The resolutions committee tonight broke a 24 hour deadlock and adopted a farm plank that ignored the principle of the "equalization fee," the heart of the corn belt farm relief scheme. The vote stood 35 to 15.

The corn belters, who are headed by Earl C. Smith of Illinois, president of the Illinois Agricultural association, served notice that they would submit a minority report. This will not use the phrase "equalization fee" but it will contain an explicit indorsement of it. Mr. Smith will lead the minority fight on the floor.

The fifteen votes in favor of the equalization principle, the phrase itself being deleted, were from the corn belt states.

Fierce Battle Promised.

The farm uprisers declare the outlook is for one of the most intense debates that has enlivened a Republican convention since 1912, the year of the Bull Moose revolt.

The farm plank voted by the majority of the platform committee, is to a measurable degree, the McNary-Haugen bill minus the equalization fee.

Senator Hiram Bingham of Connecticut emerged from the chamber and as mouthpiece for the committee, described the majority plank:

"Briefly," said Bingham, "the plank admits the serious condition in which the farmers find themselves. It admits the need of better marketing and distribution of surplus.

"It pledges the Republican party to find ways and means to dispose of the surplus. It advocates the creation of a farm board to aid the farmers in disposing of their surplus."

Mr. Smith outlined briefly the proposed substance of minority report:

"It will not mention the equalization fee by name," he said, "but it will contain an explicit definition of the principle of the equalization fee. Nothing less will satisfy the farmers."

Both Sides Adamant.

The subcommittee which framed the platform was unable to effect a compromise after 12 hours of deliberation. The equalization fee was the stumbling block. Every time a proposed farm plank went to a vote, it stood fourteen to two.

In the full committee, the equalizer group refused to vote for any compromise which did not indorse the principle of the equalization fee.

The majority insisted as strongly against reporting a plank which indorsed the basic principle of the McNary-Haugenism. This, they said, would be a slap at President Coolidge, who twice vetoed the measure. Besides, it is argued, it would not be in consonance with the nomination of Secretary Hoover, who is accounted one of the chief advisers of the President in his veto.

Borah Offers Compromise.

Senator Borah and others offered compromises in the subcommittee, but the corn belt leaders were adamant.

Senator Borah declared he would support the corn belt proposition if it were modified to read:

"We believe that any operation undertaken to assist the farmers to meet this problem should be largely under the farmers' coöperative organizations, with the use of only such federal legislation as will distribute the costs of marketing the surplus to those who will benefit."

"Viewing the situation," said Borah, "I believe the party would stultify itself by a direct mention of the equalization fee. It is purely an economic, not a political, problem and it is a shame it should come before the convention."

The corn belters pointed out that Senator Borah, like other opponents of the McNary-Haugen bill, had failed to suggest another remedy that would spread the cost over a whole commodity protected by surplus control.

The farm organizations tonight were reiterating their warning that if the convention turns down the farm demands the farmers will speak at the polls in November.

Stopped at Convention Door.

Earlier in the day the protesting farmers made a vain attempt to enter the convention hall, but were stopped by the police.

Headed by a band in overalls, the farmers marched on the hall this morning, chanting "We don't want Hoover." Refused permission to parade through the hall, the farmers, headed by William H. Settle, president

HOOVER HIS OWN MARK HANNA IN THIS CAMPAIGN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Kansas City, Mo., June 13.—[Special.]—Who is the Mark Hanna of the Hoover candidacy?

This is the question everybody has been asking everybody else as the overwhelming character of the victory of Herbert Hoover over his rivals for the Republican nomination for President has been revealed.

Secretary Hoover, who eight years ago did not know whether he was a Republican or a Democrat, triumphed over competitors for the nomination who are among the most experienced politicians in the country, over well drilled political machines such as those of Pennsylvania, New York, and Massachusetts, and over Mellon, Butler, and Hilles, the "big three" who were expected to dictate the nomination.

Candidacy Just Grew.

Here is all the evidence of the work of a Mark Hanna's master hand. The truth is, however, that there was no Mark Hanna unless it was Hoover himself. His has been a candidacy that just grew. No one great manipulator but a numerous aggregation of politicians of average ability organized his campaign and translated into votes the political capital Hoover has amassed in innumerable public undertakings affecting the interests of millions of people.

Herbert Hoover, reputed to be ignorant of politics now is revealed as the cleverest politician of them all.

Work Gives Counsel.

The man who launched the Hoover boom for President and guided the canvass for the commerce secretary in its early stages is Dr. Hubert Work, secretary of the interior.

When Hoover became an avowed candidate Work retired into the background, but continued to give the Hoover managers the benefit of his counsel. If Hoover is elected it is not doubted that Work will be promoted to a more important cabinet post than that he now holds.

Other members of the cabinet, who have aided the Hoover candidacy are Secretary of Agriculture Jardine and Postmaster General New, both of whom it is reasonable to suppose, Mr. Hoover would retain in his official family. Presumably Secretary of the Treasury Mellon would be asked to continue, but Secretary of State Kellogg probably would be allowed to retire as he does not exactly see eye to eye with Mr. Hoover on foreign policies.

Welds Hoover Organization.

For some time, after the Hoover candidacy formally was launched it had no generalissimo. There were Hoover committees working independently in a score or more of states and finally James W. Good, a Chicago lawyer, was appointed a coördinator of these activities. Mr. Good once was a congressman from Iowa and was chairman of the house committee on appropriations. He was western manager of the Coolidge nomination campaign in 1924.

Eventually Mr. Good was made supreme director of the Hoover campaign. He welded the Hoover organization into a smoothly working machine and directed the expenditure of $400,000 in the primary campaign. The perfection of the Hoover machine that Good put together was observed with dismay by the anti-Hooverites when it went into action at Kansas City.

Borah a Factor.

There is much speculation here on the possible consequences of the association of Senator Borah of Idaho with the Hoover candidacy. Some think that Borah wants to be secretary of state and will expect this reward if Hoover is elected.

Numerous politicians attended to the processes of rounding up delegates, but they found that the ground had been prepared for them by a greater politician than any of them—Mr. Hoover himself. For more than ten years Mr. Hoover had been engaged in undertakings in which he was brought into contact with thousands of men and women, most of whom became admirers of his ability and Hoover boosters in their communities.

Chestnutt was selected for his stories depicting "the life and struggles of Americans of Negro descent."

Anti-Saloon League Has Its Way in Committee.

BULLETIN.

Kansas City, Mo., June 13.—[Special.]—Framing of the Republican platform was completed shortly before midnight tonight. The resolutions committee adopted all planks in exactly the form in which they were submitted by a subcommittee this afternoon.

The final action was the rejection of a complete substitute proposed by Senator La Follette [Wis.]. This substitute, which is patterned after the platform approved at a conference of Wisconsin radicals at Madison last winter, will be presented to the convention by Senator La Follette tomorrow in the form of a minority report.

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Kansas City, Mo., June 13.—[Special.]—"Observance and vigorous enforcement" of the eighteenth amendment will be championed by the Republican party in the coming campaign.

The resolutions committee late tonight approved, with only a few dissenting votes, the prohibition plank as framed by a subcommittee in the early hours of this morning. Approval of the plank in the convention tomorrow is assured, regardless of any final protest made on the floor.

Makes Prohibition Major Issue.

By yielding to the demands of the anti-Saloon league, which insisted upon a specific declaration for support of the eighteenth amedment instead of a general law enforcement plank such as was in the platform of four years ago, the Republicans have definitely forced prohibition into the presidential campaign as an issue of major importance.

There will be another fight over prohibition at the Democratic convention at Houston. If Gov. Al Smith, a recognized wet, is the nominee the Democrats are certain to be on the moist side of the argument in the campaign, even though their platform fails to declare for repeal of the eighteenth amendment or modification of the Volstead act.

Text of Prohibition Plank

The final draft of the prohibition plank was not exactly as framed by Senator Borah [Idaho], a member of the subcommittee, but was in line with his ideas. It was more an Anti-Saloon league plank than a Borah plank. The text follows:

"We reaffirm the American constitutional doctrine as announced by George Washington in his farewell address—to wit:

"'The constitution which at any time exists, until changed by the expressed and authentic acts by the whole people, is sacredly obligated upon all.'

"We also reaffirm the attitude of the American people toward the federal constitution as declared by Abraham Lincoln:

"'We are by both duty and inclination bound to stick by that constitution in all its letter and spirit from beginning to end.

"'I am for the honest enforcement. Our safety, our liberty depend upon preserving the constitution of the United States as our forefathers made it, inviolate.'

"The people, through the method provided by the constitution, have written the eighteenth amendment into the constitution.

"The Republican party pledges itself and its nominees to the observance and vigorous enforcement of this provision of the constitution."

Try to Head Off Fight.

Republican leaders were busy tonight trying to head off a prohibition fight on the floor of the convention when the platform is reported by Senator Smoot [Utah], chairman of the resolutions committee.

Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university, who appeared before the resolutions committee in support of the plank for the repeal of the 18th amendment, expressed his intense dissatisfaction with the dry plank approved by the committee. He announced his intention of carrying his fight to the floor of the convention.

Wets Insist on a Test.

Former Senator James W. Wadsworth of New York and other wets were prepared to join in the battle if the leaders in the movement decide to go ahead in the face of protests from party chieftains who wish to avoid a split in the party on the prohibition issue.

Senator Elect William S. Vare of Pennsylvania, an active wet who was a member of the resolutions subcommittee and who intended to submit a minority report to the convention on the prohibition issue, said today that he does not now expect to do so. Mr. Vare apparently abandoned his plan as a result of pressure from party leaders, recognizing that it would be futile. Failure to present a minority report on prohibition would not keep Dr. Butler and other wets from expressing their views on the floor.

Dry Leaders Confident.

Dry leaders were confident that the convention would approve the prohibition plank by an overwhelming vote. This was not disputed by the wets, whose idea in carrying the fight to the floor is to force a record vote by many delegates who have dodged the issue in running for office and to lay the ground work for continued agitation on the subject in the future.

That the plank, as approved, represented a sweeping victory for the Anti-Saloon league was indicated by comments of F. Scott McBride, general superintendent of the league, who appeared before the committee last night.

"The plank was exactly what we wanted," he declared. "We did not ask that the party go on record for the principle of prohibition, but were anxious to obtain a declaration for observance and enforcement of the 18th amendment with a specific mention of the amendment."

Intended to Pussyfoot.

It is the first time that a Republican national platform ever has included a specific declaration for observance and enforcement of the eighteenth amendment. The 1924 platform pussyfooted on the proposition with a mild law enforcement declaration and many of the party leaders intended to have the same sort of a plank this time.

The tentative platform prepared by Senator Smoot had a law enforcement plank much like that of four years ago. Pressure exerted by the Anti-Saloon league and the influence of Senator Borah, however, caused approval of the dry declaration.

What Was Said in 1924.

The law enforcement plank of the 1924 platform was as follows:

"We must have respect for law. We must have observance of law. We must have enforcement of law. The very existence of the government depends upon this. The substitution of private will for public law is only another name for oppression, disorder, anarchy, and the mob rule.

"Every government depends upon the loyalty and respect of its citizens. Violations of the law weaken and threaten government itself. No honest government can condone such actions on the part of its citizens. The Republican party pledges the full strength of the government for the maintenance of these principles by the enforcement of the constitution and of all laws."

Democrats Omitted Plank.

The 1924 plank represented all that the Anti-Saloon league asked for at that time. This year 32 dry organizations joined forces in a demand for a specific declaration for enforcement of the eighteenth amendment. The 1924 Democratic platform did not contain a law enforcement plank, nor did it make any reference to the prohibition issue.

The radical platform to be offered by Senator La Follette (Wis.) as a substitute for the committee report on the floor of the convention contains a plank for the liberalization of the Volstead act. This platform, however, will not receive much support from the wets for the reason that most of those active in the wet movement in other states are conservatives and would not be willing to approve the entire document.

The conservative minority of the Wisconsin delegation today approved a resolution for a nation-wide referendum on prohibition. The text follows:

"The will of the majority is fundamental in the government of the United States. We therefore favor a nation-wide referendum provided for and regulated by congress to ascertain what the judgment of the nation is regarding the repeal or modification of the Volstead act.

"If the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act are sustained by such a referendum then their enforcement will be easier of accomplishment. If the result of the referendum is adverse, then congress will be guided by a direct mandate of the popular will to repeal or modify one or both."

LET 'EM PET, IS PARIS PREFECT'S CODE FOR LOVERS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, June 13.—A formal protest against immorality on Parisian streets was lodged with the municipal council today by Councilman Leon Riotor.

Midinettes and their boy friends shamelessly kiss and pet on the streets on their way to and from work, M. Riotor said indignantly. The scenes on the railway station benches before train time are enough to make a decent man's hair turn gray, he said.

"That is nothing new," averred Prefect of Police Chiappe. "Personally I find it all very charming and part of the Parisian atmosphere. I used to do the same myself, so, unless ordered, I will do nothing to molest the love birds. Better on the street, and even on the benches in the railway stations, than in some shabby hotel."

HOOVER RULES CONVENTION, BUT O! SO DECENTLY

Steam Roller Flattens, Yet Doesn't Crush.

BY JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Kansas City, Mo., June 13.—[Special.]—My thought, as the Rotarians say—my thought is that the way to get the good and the instructions out of this convention is not to take it as a routine matter.

In its superficies—as the doctors say when they examine you—it is a routine matter. It is all Herbert Hoover, as you will see on Thursday.

And yet it is a great deal more than Herbert Hoover.

It is you—and it is because Herbert Hoover know that it is you—that he is a candidate for President of the United States.

Does Hoover Care?

If it were only that the Quaker felt that his future hangs upon the votes of this convention, I don't think he would care much.

He looks beyond that.

He knows how hard work it is to be President of the United States.

He knows how it means rising at 7, ante meridian, and being at the desk at 9:30 o'clock.

He knows how it means having Uncle Calvin send for you three times a day on this, that, and the other subject.

Cousin Herbert has been going through that for seven years.

Calvin Coolidge is a hard boss. He is so hard a boss that he even bawls out his wife in public when she delays him in his arrival at public functions.

Pulls No Rough Stuff.

The point of all this reminiscence—part of which was imparted to me by Herbert Hoover himself—is that Herbert is not keen to be President of the United States just for the sake of being President. He, if the truth were known, is keen to be President because being President means service. And, with a Quaker, service is joy. It is religion.

Once I asked Hoover, "did you bawl out the Germans in occupied Belgium, and did you tell them to 'go to hell?'"

"No," said he, "there was no rough stuff. The story is a good one, but it is not true. I wanted to deal with the reich. The German general staff wanted me to deal with them. I did not wish to. I said so. But there was no rough stuff."

All that applies today.

In this convention, though Herbert's cohorts control it, there is no rough stuff.

This morning all passed legalistically and decently. Herbert won, but he did not do it by riding rough shod. His people behaved like good citizens.

The contest was interesting—and it was history.

That Texas Grouch.

Texas—which in extent is an empire that would make Europe gloat—had a grouch.

That grouch it brought before the convention. That fact means freedom.

"Certain delegates of this convention," said the grouchers, "have been elected to this convention by conventions of congressional districts of our state. Your committee on credentials maintains that the election is not valid and that the valid delegates in this hall are those who have been designated by the Texas state convention of the Republican party.

"We insist that your committee on credentials is wrong. We insist that the Republican congressional district conventions of our state have the right to elect delegates to the Republican national convention because they are the units of the Republican party in Texas."

Affects Legality of Show.

All this interested me intensely because it was so vital. It affected the validity and the legality of the whole show that was passing before me in this convention hall in Kansas City.

The debate on the whole subject went on for an hour or more.

The routine party wheelhorses, like Simeon Fess and George Moses and Reed Smoot halted the debate because it delayed party routine and engendered topics for plain people like you and me to think about.

And as long as you and I don't think, the Smoots and the Moseses and the Fesses and the Butlers are contented. It is our thinking—when we take time for it—that balls up their plans.

But I—and the plain people like me loved the debate because it was concerning our liberties and showing us that, despite pre-arranged routine, we—the plain people, I mean—do matter and do cut ice.

The Reed Smoots and George Moseses and William Butlers were balked and delayed and taught a lesson at every turn of the road in this morning's session of the convention.

They could not hurry things.

Because, when they tried to, up rose hairy men from Texas who said—

"Ladies and gentlemen of the convention, we protest. The law in this matter is so and so"—and then they would quote law and precedents going as far back as James A. Garfield's speech of protest on the same matters in the Republican national convention of 1880.

Both Sides Have Their Say.

I am not ashamed to say that I gave my attention to these proceedings with a beating heart and—sometimes—with swimming eyes.

It was all so vital and earnest. I know—for I—though emotional—am not quite a fool—that the primary purpose of the debate was to seat Hoover delegates. I know that the steam roller was functioning. But the point is that the steam roller was not functioning without protest, and that good lawyers and good Americans were being allowed their say by a convention which was against them.

Judge Hastings of Delaware spoke. He is a hairy man and he asked the convention, "is the law of the state of Texas binding on a national Republican convention? The law of Texas says that delegates to a national convention may be nominated by a state convention. But it does not say that they may not be nominated by a congressional district convention."

That was the gist of the question before this convention.

I will not go into the intricacies of the debate. They would consume a column.

Watch People's Interests.

The effort of the debate was that your interests—I mean you, neighbor, who pay two cents for this issue of THE TRIBUNE—are being watched by honest, clever men and women.

Judge Hastings contended that a law of the state of Texas on the election of delegates to a national convention is not binding on the convention. He insisted that a national convention is an autonomous body having a right to determine its own procedure.

The judge went into detail. He begged the delegates to take account of this, as he put it:

"The sacred precincts of the Republican party ought to be saved not alone for this generation, but for future generations."

"For future generations."

It's Not All Ballyhoo.

That is the kind of phrase with which thoughtful men at conventions give you pause and make you think.

It is, neighbors, whatever you may gather from the press reports, not all blah and ballyhoo at these conventions.

It is a matter of the essential fairness in regard to the nomination of delegates who are to select a candidate for the presidency of the United States.

That fairness depends upon the right settlement of the question before the convention.

So they wrangled on—patiently, fairly, good naturedly.

Those were the vital matters—the patience and the good nature.

Mrs. Willebrandt, as chairman of the credentials committee, spoke. She said that the continuously functioning body of the Republican party—which is its national committee—had decided to acknowledge itself bound by the election laws of the various states of the Union. She was clear and emphatic. She is a good lawyer, and as such, she spoke. The delegates gave her close heed.

Then came voting, and Hoover won.

The winning Texas delegates are Hoover men. The convention was for them. It was for them a good deal more heartily and sincerely than it was for any principle.

Such are the fallibilities of human nature.

Human nature will vote for a friend much more ardently than it will vote for a cause.

Vast principalities—as in Europe they would denominate our states—came into this debate.

Illinois came in.

It came in to the accompaniment of loud cheers. It voted against the seating of the Hoover delegates from Texas.

That vote was a tribute to Frank Lowden more than it was a tribute to a principle.

Cheers for Deneen.

Senator Deneen announced the vote of Illinois. The delegates cheered him roundly. They like him. They may nominate him as Vice President of the United States. If they do it will be because he beat William Hale Thompson. Thompson is on the scene. Not a cheer greets him. Only glances of curiosity.

Well, neighbors, after all the voting had ended and after the principle that the states of this Union have a right to conduct their own affairs in their own way, then George Moses, senator from New Hampshire, was brought on the scene as permanent chairman of this convention.

George a Busy Partisan.

George is a busy, officious, partisan person who can walk past you so impressively that he makes you think that the weight of our nation is on his shoulders. It is not. George Moses and only Georgie—thinks so. Yet he is a useful, hard working member of the United States senate. Vice President Dawes likes to give him the gavel when he—Dawes—gets sick to death of the senate.

Charlie knows that George is safe—and Charlie, for all his God damning and hell raising, is a safe man. Don't make any mistake about that. Charlie is a lineal descendant of the Dawes who helped Paul Revere spread the glad tidings of rebellion against British tyranny, but even so, he is no rebel.

I can give you proof of that. One day Charlie said to me:

"O'Donnell, whom would you like to meet at my house tomorrow night for a quiet visit?"

"Borah," said I.

"O," said he, "why not Robinson? If I bring you in touch with Borah people will think I am trying to cultivate a rebel."

Dawes Is Conservative.

So I did not meet Borah in Charlie's mansion out on Belmont avenue in Washington.

That is how conservative Charlie Dawes is.

Also that is how conservative Dawes' buddy, George Moses, is.

And yet, George, who is a Phillips Exeter man and a Dartmouth man, talked like this when he was led before the convention today as its permanent chairman:

> "Whether he [speaking of a great party's possible candidate] emerge from another spectacle like the one hundred and three round battle of the Madison BEAR Garden, or whether he come from an overpowered convention held spellbound by the glare of the Tammany Tiger, we are ready for him. Bring him on and we will bury him. We welcome him with hospitable hands to a bloody grave.
> "And we care not whether his name be Brown, Jones, Robinson—or Smith."

And that kind of man is an LL.D. Strange, strange it is, what politics can reduce a gentleman to.

HOOVER TO GIVE FIRST TALK AS NOMINEE TODAY

Special Police Detail Guards His Home.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 13.—[Special.]—As the Republican presidential nominee, Secretary of Commerce Hoover plans to break tomorrow the silence that has kept him sequestered for the last week in his private office.

Much of today was spent by the Hoover secretaries arranging for interviews tomorrow and otherwise grooming their candidate for his entrance into the political arena as the standard bearer for the Republican party.

While Mr. Hoover and his aids kept silent on the subject of a Vice President, it was presumed that this was one of the subjects discussed during the many long distance telephone conversations the secretary held today with his Kansas City supporters.

Silent on Dawes.

Special efforts were made to obtain the reaction of Hoover to the selection of Vice President Dawes, but all comment was refused. In some quarters it is maintained that the selection of Dawes would be displeasing to the White House.

Supporters of Mr. Hoover are apparently of the opinion that in picking out a running mate care should be taken to select one who has been in sympathy with the administration. It is not believed, however, that Mr. Hoover would be disposed to intervene in case the convention desired to name Mr. Dawes.

Hoover leaders speak approvingly of Senator Moses of New Hampshire, Senator Edge of New Jersey, and Representative Tilson of Connecticut, the Republican floor leader of the house.

An Orator Favored.

Some of the Hoover supporters favor a man noted as a campaign orator, as it is conceded that Mr. Hoover will not do any extensive stumping. Senator Moses is looked upon as capable of filling the bill.

Mr. Hoover spent most of his day in listening to the convention proceedings over the radio.

The Washington police department today created a special "beat" in the neighborhood of the Hoover home and a special detail will be maintained there night and day until the Hoovers depart for the west.

JIM REED DIGS INTO HOOVER RECORD WHEN MOSES JABS LEAGUE

Kansas City, Mo., June 13.—(AP)—Senator Jim Reed, a Democrat who has said some cutting things in his time about the opposition party, walked into the convention stronghold of Republicanism today, looked around, passed the time of day with friends, and got away with it.

This is the home of the Missouri senator, and as one of the hosts of the visiting Republicans he has been keeping close watch on them, even though he is a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination.

The senator said he enjoyed the speech of Senator Moses, the permanent chairman, who challenged the Democrats "to bring on" their redoubtable candidate.

"I was pleased to hear my friend Senator Moses, crack the league of nations," Reed added, "but if I remember, his presidential candidate, Herbert Hoover, was one of the 31 who signed the league of nations letter to Warren Harding in the 1920 campaign."

700 FOR HOOVER ON FIRST BALLOT, TEST INDICATES

Convention O.K.'s Seating of Texas Group.

BY PARKE BROWN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Kansas City, Mo., June 13.—[Special.]—Hoover managers saw in the vote of 659½ to 399½ on the adoption of the report of the majority of the credentials committee affirming the action of the national committee on the Texas contest the minimum vote they believe the secretary of commerce will receive on the first ballot for President.

Technically the test was the vote which defeated a motion to substitute a minority report, signed by fourteen states, for the majority report. It was on the most clear cut contest of the list, that of the district delegates from Texas. And the minority total was believed increased slightly by delegates who voted strictly on the merits of the question involved without regard to their presidential preferences.

Question of Procedure.

The issue centered around the fact that the national committee placed on the temporary roll call the delegates named in the Texas state convention. The contestants were named in district conventions. Therefore, the controversy brought in the question whether the Republican party would recognize the democratic principles "that the state is the unit or follow precedent holding that each congressional district shall speak for itself in the Republican party."

The fourteen states that signed the minority report were Connecticut, Delaware, Illinois, Indiana, Kansas, Minnesota, Missouri, New York, North Carolina, North Dakota, South Carolina, South Dakota, West Virginia, and Wisconsin.

This was about the lineup of the minority that bucked the millimeter precision of the Hoover organization in the credentials committee last night. The meeting lasted until 2:30 this morning, and resumed at 10 o'clock to dispose of the troublesome Porto Rican problem. This offered the novelty of a contest between "Republican" delegates and those elected by the "pure Republican" organization. The latter was formed when a sort of copyright on the word Republican had been established by a group that concentrated on island issues rather than old line party principles.

Argue Legal Point.

Legal argument played a considerable part in the Texas contest. The majority report cited the Texas state law providing that any political party desiring to nominate candidates for a national convention shall call a state convention. The minority insisted that "uniform custom" permitted the election of the delegates by districts.

Two Hoover lieutenants swung the majority report through the convention as a whole. As chairman of the credentials committee, Mrs. Mabel Willebrandt, assistant United States attorney general, presented the majority findings, arousing some applause as her court room enunciation and emphasis came clearly through the amplifiers. Her floor leader in the committee, Frank W. Fort of New Jersey, wound up today's fight from the chairman's rostrum.

The minority report was presented by Daniel O. Hastings of Delaware. Mrs. Willebrandt answered him. T. O. Streseguth was the second speaker in the attack, and then Floor Leader Fort closed the debate, and the roll call was begun.

Strongest Case of Minority.

This was considered the strongest case on which the minority could put up a fight, and the Lowden and allied forces permitted the remainder of the Hoover majority report to go through without protest, except in one minor detail. In the late night committee meeting they had been beaten regularly by votes running from 32 to 15 up to 36 to 14. In several instances also the issue was almost exclusively a fight for local control involving election of delegates by rump conventions and there was little use in fighting about those.

Illinois, including the Thompson group, which may vote for Coolidge on the first ballot, voted solidly for the minority report

Therefore, when today's roll call is considered, it is pointed out that even if the allies concentrate on Lowden the Illinoisan probably would not reach the 400 mark on the first ballot. And Hoover will have an additional 22 votes from the challenged Texas district delegates who were not permitted to vote on their own case. In addition his vote from New York on the first roll call is expected to exceed the 31 cast on the credentials report.

Without going further, these bits of analysis support earlier estimates that Hoover will pass the 700 mark on the first ballot.

HOW DELEGATES LINED UP IN FIRST TEST OF STRENGTH

Kansas City, Mo., June 13.—(AP)—By a roll call vote of 659½ to 399½ the convention refused today to recognize the credentials of 22 uninstructed district delegates from Texas. Indianapolis, Ind., June 13.—[Special.]—James E. Watson, senior Indiana senator, paid $1,500 to $2,000 toward the expenses of Earl Klinck in obtaining a fraudulent affidavit seeking to repudiate testimony against Watson before the Reed senate investigating committee, it was charged tonight in a telegram sent to William M. Butler, Republican national chairman, by Thomas Adams, antiklan editor at Vincennes, Ind.

Klinck was convicted here yesterday in the false affidavit trial. Today he was sentenced to one to three years in state prison. Adams has been a leader in the klan scandal exposes.

Adams explained he sent the telegram to Butler because Watson is a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

DEMOCRATS INVITE ANGRY FARMERS TO MARCH TO HOUSTON

Houston, Tex., June 13.—(AP)—The army of fighters that marched and threatened to march to the Republican national convention in Kansas City was invited today to come to the Democratic party's convention here by Clem Shaver, chairman of the national Democratic executive committee, and Jesse H. Jones, chairman of the committee on arrangements.

"Of course," said Mr. Shaver, "we can promise nothing except that the farmers will be given a fair and courteous hearing."

"The farmers will be welcome here," Mr. Jones said. "Any promises that are made to them will be kept."

FARM WOMEN BEMOAN FATE; SISTERS SIP TEA

'We Won't Forget,' Their November Promise.

BY GENEVIEVE FORBES HERRICK.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Kansas City, Mo., June 13.—[Special.]—While a group of political women, in pretty print gowns, met in a hotel ballroom this afternoon, sipped their tea and talked of the train home, a group of farm women gathered together in a nearby hall and shouted their intentions of never leaving until this convention had given the farm women of America a fair show.

They screamed defiance at Hoover's nomination. They challenged Andrew Mellon to plough a field. They declared that it would have been much better for Senator Moses to have been left in the bullrushes. They told, with real tears in their eyes, of this farm and that, back home, that had gone under the hammer.

And they united under the leadership of Mrs. Verna Hatch of Huntertown, Ind., and planned to go to Mr. Mellon's room and tell him what they wanted.

Plan to Call on Mellon.

"Better get there before eight thirty," counseled Mrs. T. L. Smith of Atlantic, Ia. "Uncle Andy goes to bed early."

"Well, we'll wake him up," declared Mrs. W. W. Van Pool of California, Mo. "We farm women have had to get up in the middle of the night to get a doctor for a sick child. It won't hurt him."

Mrs. Hatch jumped up on the table and began her speech.

"For seven years," she called across the hall, "the Republican party has done everything it could to punish us for furnishing the nation with food, then when we asked for bread, we got a slap in the face. Let us go to the citadel and storm it; if they want to slap the American farm women in the face, we want the world to know it."

Cannon Namesake Speaks.

Mrs. Zala Joe Breeding, an Illinoisan, named for Uncle Joe Cannon, clambered up to the table. She was the wife of an Oklahoma farmer; at his death she ran the farm until she lost it "through the tactics of the present administration," and she shook her fist this way and that as she cried:

"We are all crusaders; we all vote. And we don't believe that Andy Mellon, who made his money in whisky, is any dryer than Al Smith. Women have more gab than men; doggone it, women have more sense than men; come on, women, let's tell this convention what the farm women think of it."

"And let's do it soon," urged Mrs. Van Pool, a tired looking woman, who said she had to start back home early tomorrow to get the work done.

Education "Futile."

"My husband," Mrs. Van Pool told the meeting, "said we couldn't afford to come here, that we should have the money to educate our children. But I says, 'what's the good of educating them unless the world's a safe place for farmers to live in?'. So we came down.

"Them women over at that tea, they don't know what it is to leave a couple of young babies in the house, and go out in the field and work. We do, and we're tired of it. Come on, let's go see Mellon."

Mrs. Smith took up the story.

"Those smart politicians, they figure that we country women are kinda excited and cranky because we're in a big city, and they think we'll calm down when we get back to milking cows. But we won't calm down. We don't forget. No sir, when November comes around, we'll remember Kansas City. Yes, sir."

But, after all their talk, the women did not make their call on Mr. Mellon.

Watch Fortunate March.

Earlier in the day the farm women had stood in front of the convention hall and watched those who had tickets march into their places.

In the convention hall the same group of important women sat in the same important boxes as of Tuesday, and clapped their white gloved hands decorously when such an enthusiasm seemed appropriate. But if the ladies were the same, the gowns were not, for the woman who has two frocks and two tickets wears the second frock when she uses the second ticket.

Up in the gallery the women sat forward and identified, sometimes correctly, Alice Longworth, Alice Robertson, Oklahoma's former congresswoman; Hoover's son Alan, who is serving as a page, and Miss Marion Huff, whose eighty years make her the oldest woman at the convention.

Iowa Woman Lobbies.

Mrs. A. M. Martin of Shenandoah, Ia., worker in the anti-Hoover farm demonstration, was busy lobbying for her cause.

"It's all very well," she explained, "for women who have never seen a farm except on a post card to dismiss the subject of farm relief with a nice little sentence; I know a farm, and I know farm women. And it's time that the Republican party did something for the farmer's wife and home."

Mrs. Ernestine Dewitt from Springfield, Ill., summed up, for the benefit of the women in her box, her opinion of this convention.

"I think Hoover has standardized Republican conventions. I think it will be a dull routine like this always. Like a wedding ceremony, with a lot of ceremony and ritual, but the actual important transaction all planned ahead of time.

"And I think the result will be that fewer and fewer people will fight to get seats. Look how many vacant places there are in the boxes and in the gallery."

INDIANIAN'S ORATORY TO CROWD IN HOTEL WAS UTTERLY WASTED

Kansas City, Mo., June 13.—[Special.]—Ed Bush of Indiana was out seeking anti-Hoover converts in the hotel lobbies today before the convention opened. At the Dixon hotel he received a merry razzing from a crowd of Missourians.

"Indiana will not vote for a subsidized, un-American candidate," Bush shouted from the staircase.

"Whoopee! Then vote for Al Smith and free beer," a Missourian suggested.

"Do you dare to cheer for Hoover when thirty million farmers are demanding relief?" Bush asked in his best oratorical manner.

"Hoover is subsidized by the British; the big interest in this campaign is the dollar."

"O, take that stuff to Houston," some one yelled amid the shouting.

"Well, you look like a bunch of Democrats," the Indianian shouted as he left in disgust.

ROGERS IS UPSET; NICARAGUA NOT ON THE ROLL CALL

Kansas City, Mo., June 13.—[Special.]—Calling the roll of states for the first time today on the question of seating Texas delegates, the stentorian-voiced secretary reached Wyoming, then called the District of Columbia, Alaska, and the other territories.

"Hawaii, two, no," "Philippine Island, two, no," "Porto Rico, two, no," answered the delegates, shouting to be heard.

As the diminutive Porto Rico spokesman sat down, Will Rogers, the California comedian, who occupies a seat in the press section, swung around to the gallery behind him, with a look of pained astonishment.

"Migod!" he exclaimed. "They forgot Nicaragua."

Will Carry Battle Into the Convention Today.

of the Indiana Farm bureau, marched around it three times, yelling with the full power of well seasoned lungs.

For an hour they almost drowned out the amplifiers which were spreading the doings of the convention to the outside world, with this seven word song:

"Thirty million farmers won't vote for Hoover."

Stopped by Policeman.

It was an orderly, good natured throng in the main, but it was well equipped with lung power. At one juncture State Senator John Schuman of Watertown, Wis., at the head of a section of the parade, marched his crowd up to the main door and tried to press inside. A police captain blocked the way. Schuman waved the flag he carried. "This flag goes anywhere," he cried. "It won't go here without an admission ticket," said the policeman.

The marchers tried again at the alley door, with no success.

Edgar Bush, former lieutenant governor of Indiana, entered the hall, saying he would ask official permission for the farmers to enter. He looked up a sergeant at arms, also from Indiana.

"We're all good Republicans," said Mr. Bush. "All we want is to come and stage a peaceful demonstration and march out again."

Turn-Down Number Two.

"Sorry," said the sergeant at arms, "but they can't enter without tickets. It would demoralize the proceedings."

"The farmers will resent this," said Mr. Bush. He carried the word back to the uprisers, who again took up the march.

From the balcony of the Muehlebach the irrepressible Ed Bush made an announcement that at 5 p. m. the embattled farmers were to be given an audience by Secretary Mellon.

"They are getting alarmed, my friends," he said. "They don't want any loser."

But at the appointed hour Mr. Bush and his conferees failed to show up, while Secretary Mellon was over at the club.

Roadhouse Raided in Vain Hunt for Fugitive Cleaver

Seeking Charles Cleaver, the limping train robber who led four companions in a successful break from the Du Page county jail last Sunday, Chief James L. Budapest Merchants Leave After Visiting City's Stores

A delegation of business men from Budapest, members of the National Merchants' association of Hungary, left Chicago yesterday after a brief survey of the city's stores. On Tuesday, after being officially welcomed to Chicago by City Attorney William D. Saltiel, the visitors were taken on a tour of the Marshall Field & Co. store. Edmund J. Horwath of New York, president of the American Hungarian chamber of commerce, made a brief talk. The Budapest merchants have already visited Detroit and Cleveland.

Woman Uses Dog as Clew to Secure Robbery Arrests

Mrs. Helen Hartman, 1123 South Humphrey avenue, Oak Park, discovered yesterday that $275, a diamond stickpin and a pistol had been stolen from her home. She had left a ferocious dog to guard the property and reasoned that the thief must have known the animal. So she obtained a warrant charging Frank Gorgolinski and his wife, known as Dorothy McNamara, with larceny. The couple recently roomed at her home. They were arrested and released on bonds.

ALLIES, BEATEN, TO STAY IN RACE AGAINST HOOVER

Five Names Will Go Before Convention.

and nominate him. But the naming of the candidate for Vice President long has been considered the prerogative of the delegates in open assembly.

It was to that liberty of action that Calvin Coolidge owed his nomination for Vice President in 1920. The leaders, who had just put over the nomination of Warren G. Harding for President, slated Senator Irvine Lenroot of Wisconsin for second place. But the delegates were not satisfied, and when an Oregon man leaped upon a chair and proposed Coolidge, a stampede to the Massachusetts governor ensued.

To the operation of similar forces Vice President Dawes was indebted for his nomination in 1924. The administration leaders attempted to nominate, one after another, men for whom President Coolidge had expressed a preference. Although the administration controlled the convention in every other respect, the delegates would not accept any of the administration candidates, and wound up by naming Dawes.

Hoover Camp Is Divided.

It is evident that the Hoover following is divided on the question of renominating Dawes. James W. Good, the Hoover manager, has pronounced the Vice President acceptable to him, but has made it clear that he does not speak for Mr. Hoover, and that he has not consulted his chief on the question.

"We are not going to take up the matter until after Mr. Hoover has been nominated," Mr. Good said. "It is not unlikely that the convention, after nominating Mr. Hoover, will adjourn over night to consider the second place on the ticket."

Bascom Slemp of Virginia, a prominent Hoover leader, is in favor of Dawes and declares it is his opinion that the convention will not tolerate any dictation. Such Hoover leaders, however, as Secretary of the Interior Work and Postmaster General New are opposed to Dawes. They regard him as the brains of the opposition to Hoover that was organized in the primaries in a number of states and are not in favor of rewarding him with renomination.

Hear Coolidge Opposes Dawes.

A report emanating from Washington that President Coolidge has turned thumbs down on Dawes could not be confirmed here. Everett Sanders, secretary to the President, would not discuss the rumor and both National Chairman Butler and Secretary of the Treasury Mellon denied having heard from the President on the subject.

The report found ready credence, however, for the reason that it is well known that President Coolidge is not what would be called a warm admirer of the Vice President. In fact, at times the President has been caustically critical of General Dawes. He has felt that the Vice President was out of sympathy with the Coolidge administration. The aid and comfort which Gen. Dawes gave the sponsors of the McNary-Haugen bill also served to widen the gap.

There have been some indications that Secretary Hoover shared the President's attitude as a result of which there is much speculation as to whether he would declare the Vice President unacceptable as a running mate. According to one report, however, the commerce secretary was sounded on the matter by telephone and declared he intended to keep hands off the selection.

Must Placate Corn Belt.

The Hoover leaders who favor the renomination of Dawes are confident that he will win in an open fight on the floor, even if the administration and Hoover himself should oppose him. Their confidence is based on what they regard as the necessity of the situation, which is to placate the corn belt.

They are impressed by the bitterness engendered by the victory of Hoover and feel that an effort must be made to keep the more extreme McNary-Haugenites on the reservation. If any one could keep the malcontents in line it would be Dawes, it is believed, for Dawes has been intimately associated with the progenitors of the McNary-Haugen bill. Moreover, it is contended that the eastern financial and big business interests which are cold toward Hoover would feel more kindly disposed to the ticket with Dawes on it.

Oppose "Hybrid" Ticket.

The Hooverites opposed to Dawes are still dwelling on the inconsistency of naming candidates for President and Vice President who are diametrically opposed to each other on the farm relief issue, which is destined to figure so prominently in this election. "No hybrid ticket" is their war cry.

To these men, Senator Curtis of Kansas would be vastly more acceptable, for while he voted for the McNary-Haugen bill, he took the curse off himself in their eyes by voting later to sustain the President's veto. It is hard for them, however, to ignore the extent to which Curtis disqualified himself for the place by proclaiming that the nomination of the commerce secretary would place the party on the defensive. They have visions of the Democrats quoting this outburst throughout the campaign.

Faction Favors Allen.

Those Hooverites scanning the corn belt for suitable vice presidential timber but who are not satisfied with either Dawes or Curtis are favorably inclined toward former Gov. Henry J. Allen of Kansas. There could be no inconsistency in that case, for Allen, like Hoover, is an opponent of McNary-Haugenism.

An addition to the field of corn belt entries in the contest is Gen. Pershing, who hails from Nebraska and who has the support of Mark Woods and other leaders in the corn belt farm relief movement.

Why the CADILLAC CODE is applied to our Used Cars

Our primary business purpose is to sell and service Cadillac and La Salle cars. In order to carry out this purpose, it is necessary for us to deal in Used Cars.

But we can and do handle this "by-product" business in such a way as to win new friends and build good will for the whole Cadillac and La Salle establishment. DELAY STEWART VERDICT; MIXED JURY LOCKED UP Deadlock Forecast in Oil Contempt Case.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 13.—[Special]—After ten hours and forty minutes of deliberation, the jury in the case of Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the Standard Oil company [Indiana] was apparently hopelessly deadlocked at midnight.

When the jury was locked up shortly before 12 o'clock indications pointed to a disagreement. The jury, consisting of four women and eight men, one of the latter a colored grocer, was taken to a nearby hotel to spend the rest of the night under the guard of bailiffs and two matrons.

Under the instructions of Justice Frederick L. Siddons the jurors retired to their room a few minutes after one o'clock this afternoon with only the bare facts of Stewart's appearance before the senate Teapot Dome scandal committee and his refusal to answer the questions of the senators before them for consideration in determining a verdict.

Judge Shatters Defense.

All that the defense built up in behalf of Stewart, attacking the pertinency of the questions which he had refused to answer and the mass of evidence produced by his attorneys to show that a quorum of the Teapot committee was not present when the questions were asked, was stricken out by Justice Siddons.

Stewart and his attorneys were confident, however, that in spite of the court's instructions the stricken evidence must be disregarded, and a "fog of doubt" raised in the minds of the jurors, and as the hours dragged away without a word from the jury room, their optimism increased to the point where they predicted an acquital.

Source of Defense Optimism.

They based their optimism in part on the action of the jury which a little more than a year ago deliberated eight hours before returning a guilty verdict against Harry F. Sinclair, millionaire oil magnate and chief figure in the Teapot Dome scandal, despite Sinclair was also charged with contempt of the senate for refusing to answer questions addressed to him by senate investigators during the original oil scandal probe four years ago.

In that case, however, all of the evidence for and against Sinclair was presented to the court in the absence of the jury, and when the court finally ruled against its admissibility, the jury was given only the admitted facts of Sinclair's appearance and defiance of the senators.

Followed Continental Deal.

Stewart was indicted following his refusal to tell the senate committee what he knew of the division of the $3,080,000 profits which accrued to the Continental Trading Company, Ltd., in a huge crude oil transaction or to disclose whether he had discussed the split with Sinclair. The latter, it was revealed, passed $233,000 of his share to Fall after a Sinclair company secured a lease on the navy's Teapot Dome oil reserve in Wyoming.

Attorney Frank J. Hogan, chief of Stewart's counsel, appealed to the jurors in his closing arguments today to administer a lasting rebuke to "snooping, spying senatorial inquisitors to whom the rules of the senate mean nothing more than does the constitution apparently."

He especially attacked Senator Norris [Rep., Neb.], who appeared as a government rebuttal witness to assert that it is "the custom and usage" of senate committees to cross-examine witnesses in the absence of the quorum required by senate rules.

District Attorney Rover based his argument principally on the rulings of Justice Siddons and warned the jurors not to be concerned over the defense plea that a quorum was not present at the committee hearing.

AWAITS VERDICT

RESCUE FLYERS READY TO SEARCH ICE FOR NOBILE

Ship Finds Open Water; Nears Castaways.

[Copyright: By Associated Press.]

KINGS BAY, Spitzenbergen, June 13.—(AP)—Giuseppi Biagi, radio operator of the Italia, reported to the base ship Citta di Milano today that the Nobile party was being driven in a northwesterly direction. He reported the position of the group as 80.37 north latitude and 27.34 east.

This drift was carrying the Nobile party slowly in the direction of their would-be rescuers who are now making every effort in the sealer hobby to reacher North Cape, whence an air reconnaissance can be made toward Foyn island. It has not yet been possible to establish contact with the portion of the crew which drifted away with the gas bag of the dirigible and their fate is not known.

It was stated that if the Nobile party had been thrown from the Italia from 30 to 40 miles further to the southeast, they would have drifted in a southwesterly direction towards the coast of Spitzbergen itself.

Flyers Prepare to Take Off.

Capt. Riiser-Larsen and Lieut. Luetzow Holm, Norwegian flyers, were ready to start today on a determined attempt to take help to the castaways.

The sealer Hobby, after battering its way through open leads, was in open water today and the Norwegian flyers were planning to take off as soon as conditions were favorable in an effort to find the Italia's radio party, of which Gen. Umberto Nobile is head.

The moment conditions permit, the aviators will go into the air, and will drop supplies for the castaways, if they are so fortunate as to sight them.

Blizzard Ends; Sun Appears.

After the blizzard of yesterday the sun appeared and the expectation is that the weather will hold favorable for the search for the missing men, who are split into three groups, two of them widely separated, and the third, if alive, in an unknown region.

The ice breaker Braganza is back at Kings Bay, taking on gasoline and provisions, together with dogs and sledges. It will proceed as soon as possible to northern Spitzbergen.

The best the present rescue expeditions hope to do is definitely to locate the Italia's men, and supply them with food, medicines and proper equipment to withstand the cold. The work of transporting the castaways must be left to the bigger planes or the Russian ice breakers if they succeed in cutting their way through.

With the return of the Braganza today, a story was told of the thrilling experience of Lieut. Holm and his companion, Pilot Myre, when they were forced to land at Brandy Bay and had to spend several nights in their sleeping bags. Polar bears put in an appearance, nosed the plane and sniffed at the two figures in the sleeping bags. They did no damage, however, although Holm and Myre spent a few anxious minutes, and breathed sighs of relief as they departed.

Capt. Sora, leader of the Alpine chasseurs, was enthusiastic over Lieut. Holm's fine flight over the polar regions. He believes Lieut. Holm and Capt. Riiser-Larsen certainly will succeed in giving first aid to the stranded explorers and will probably be able to discover the whereabouts of the missing balloon party, as well as verify the position of Nobile's party.

WHITE HOUSE ICEBOX BARE, SO COOLIDGE AND HIS GUESTS DINE OUT

Washington, D. C., June 13.—(AP)—Official Washington, led by President Coolidge, Secretary of State Kellogg and Attorney General Sargent, today united to express the nation's felicitations to Capt. Emilio Carranza, Mexican good-will aviator, upon his flight from Mexico City to the capital.

Everything was lovely until President Coolidge told the White House housekeeper to prepare luncheon for Capt. Carranza and a number of other distinguished guests.

The housekeeper looked a bit startled—hesitated, then replied: "But we haven't a thing in the ice box, sir.

"Well, we will eat out," was the verdict, and the luncheon party went to the Pan-American Union building.

The flyer announced he will fly to New York Monday and that he plans a nonstop flight from New York to Mexico City within the fifteen day furlough allowed him by the Mexican air service.

Carranza's father, Sebastian Carranza of the consul general's office in New York, was here for the welcome today.

NOBILE REVEALS INJURY

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, June 13.—The attention of entire Italy was focussed anew today on Gen. Umberto Nobile and the polar drama with an official government announcement this evening that Gen. Nobile himself had suffered injuries to his right arm and left leg when the dirigible Italia crashed from a height of 500 meters [1,640 feet] onto the arctic ice pack on May 25.

Besides Gen. Nobile, the chief engineer, Cecioni, suffered a broken leg, and Prof. Malmgren incurred bad contusions of the arms. Prof. Malmgren, says the government, may be considered as cured, since he took part in the exploration toward Cape North, headed by Capt. Mariano, while Gen. Nobile's injuries are rapidly improving.

The government announces that nothing further has been heard of the seven men carried away with the gas bag when it bounded back into the air.

Push Rescue Plans.

Further preparations for rescue work went on feverishly today under the direction of the ministry of marine. Premier Mussolini summoned Admiral Seriani and Undersecretary of the Navy Sendino for a three hour conference.

A second huge Dornier-Wahl hydroplane will be sent to the arctic regions, fully equipped with supplies, in two or three days, following the first Dornier-Wahl plane, which took off at Pisa this morning at 7 o'clock enroute for King's Bay.

Gen. Nobile wirelessed an official report to the government this morning on the causes of the accident. He said that on the morning of May 25, while the Italia was navigating at a height of 500 meters, it suddenly started falling in a nose dive, like a dead weight. The cabin and part of the superstructure were dashed to pieces, while the dirigible was carried by the storm in an eastern direction.

Among the wreckage on the ice pack, Gen. Nobile and eight men found themselves miraculously alive. Almost all the material in the cabin was found scattered on the ice. Gen. Nobile's report says that one minute after the fall all started shouting, "Hurrah for Italy."

U. S. LOSES SUIT FOR $2,394,438 VS. AIRCRAFT CO.

New York, June 13.—(AP)—United States District Judge Thomas B. Thacher today dismissed the federal suit in equity against the Standard Aircraft corporation to recover $2,394,438.48, which it alleged had been illegally paid in settlement of war air contracts. A counter claim of the defendant for an additional payment of $142,000 also was dismissed.

The case included testimony from former war department officials and officers of the airplane company, which during the war had held contracts for aircraft for the government totaling about $11,000,000.

After the armistice, a settlement was made for the company's plants at Elizabeth and Plainfield, N. J., the unfilled portion of its contracts and unused raw materials, which the prosecution charged was excessive.

Among the items of overpayment listed were $2,181,115.98 for amortization of the two plans, $102,675.73 for such alleged extravagant expenses as banquets, club dues, Liberty loan parades.

The case arose originally from allegations by Gaston B. Means, during the Daugherty scandal in 1924, that a $100,000 bribe was paid to facilitate the government's settlement with the corporation.

"Neither fraud, misrepresentation, concealment or mistake is shown," said Judge Thacher. "In my opinion the settlement was not only fair, but advantageous to the government."

Joseph Jacobi, 17, of Michigan City, Ind., was drowned yesterday. He slipped and fell from a fishing tug while lifting a lead line. The lake at that point, eighteen miles from Michigan City, is 100 feet deep. The body did not rise and efforts to find it were futile.

MINNEAPOLIS CHICAGO ST. PAUL

POLITICIAN JUST BALL MAGNATE IN A SILK HAT

Dear, Credulous Public Are the Fans.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Kansas City, Mo., June 13.—[Special]—It begins to strike me as a bit unfair of us second-guessers of the press-coop to criticize the politicians so harshly for their venality, the cut of their clothes and whiskers, the hang of their dew-lapes and the sin of getting their coat-tails caught in saloon doors now and again.

I trust that I am not becoming one of those milky, tolerant observers who can be relied on to say that Pontius Pilate was good to his mother, because tolerance, to my mind, has been greatly over-rated.

In addition to drugging just and natural resentment against presumptuous and larcenous conduct of others, thus encouraging those evils, it induces an emotional drowse which cannot be compared, as a pleasure, to the fine emotion of anger, of which bigotry is an unfailing stimulant.

Dry League an Instance.

To illustrate, I will admit that the Anti-Saloon league and I are quits because I have taken as much pleasure in detesting the good brothers and sisters of the league as they have taken in hating me. No doubt it gave them great enjoyment to pass the Indiana frisk-and-sniff law, but no more than it has given me at various times when passing the outskirts of Elkhart or Goshen to enclose in a gin bottle an insulting mash-note to the Rev. Shumaker, the head man of the Indiana League, and toss the gin bottle off the veranda of the observation car.

My drinks have been flavored with a special delight in having thwarted the boys and girls, comparable to their delight in the difficulty to which they put me in obtaining a variety of stimulants ranging all the way from a semi occasional noggin of genuine three-Star Martell to the best deep-vat Wyoming sheep-dip.

Politicians Are Different.

Still, there is no pleasure in detestation unless the object is able to set up a counter detestation, and of this the politicans seem incapable. At national conventions, during campaigns and between times they are subjected to quite savage abuse for their comical insincerity, their ignoble bargains and their evasions, and except an occasional whimper against destructive cynicism, there is no resentment.

It has become gradually more violent until now, as the statesmen gather to quibble and stall about prohibition in Kansas City, a town with the normal liberal quota of stews, joints and drums, it is a good deal like scolding a goat for its smell.

At noon today, just after Mrs. Mabel Willebrandt of Washington, D. C., had finished reading to the convention the solemn report of the seating of southern Negro delegates, representing constituents who can't vote, I met a citizen of Kansas, fully enfranchised, a property owner with strong party principles and firm prejudices and a respected citizen of his community.

"I'm afaraid it's Hoover," he said.

"Afraid?" I asked. "Why?"

"Because he's a damned Englishman. He was born in England and he's nothing but a damned Englishman. We don't want no dukes and lords."

"Are you sure about that?" I inquired.

"Well, that's what they say. Everybody says he's a damned Englishman and I'm against him. You from New York?"

"What do you think about Hoover?"

"Good man, I guess, but he'll stall on prohibition. New York doesn't want prohibition."

New York Will Get It.

"New York's going to get it though," he said. "It's the constitution. Lots of wops and foreigners ain't going to change the constitution."

"You seem to get plenty of liquor here," I said. "Doesn't the constitution go here?"

"We get plenty here, but that don't make any difference. New York can't change the constitution. They'll put in a dry plank and the New York Republicans will have to vote for a dry president. If they don't they'll throw down their party and waste their vote on a loser."

"If Hoover is nominated, will you vote for him?"

"Have to," he said. "But he is an Englishman just the same. Everybody knows it."

Paying Party Debt.

I met a Negro attorney from Jackson, Miss., named S. D. Redmond, member of the seated delegation which was said to have been sold to Hoover.

"What's the good of your voting in conventions if you can't vote for your nominee at the polls?" I asked him.

"As the old fellow said, we're paying off our debt to the party," he said. "The Democrats won't let us vote because we'd outnumber them."

Here was another problem in the compromising ways of politics. There would be law enforcement for prohibition, but the black brethren of the party would go back to the cotton rows not to be heard from again for four years, when they would bob up again as dummy delegates representing constituents no better at the polls than so many mule critters. Why not delegates for the mules?

I thought of the home run farce in baseball, of the leather bound golf ball that Babe Ruth has been spattering hither and yon for eight years, of the customers' credulous delight and the magnates' word of honor that the ball was the same as Home Run Baker hit the season he set the old record with eleven over the walls.

HE WHO GETS SLAPPED KNOWS GLORIA IS FAST

Process Server Sues and Tells Woe.

New York, June 13.—(AP)—Gloria Swanson, screen star, is small, but slaps fast, testified S. Alexander Cohen, 185 pound process server, today in his suit before the Supreme court asking $25,000 for a right and left to the cheek. He accuses the actress of having dealt him the slaps when he attempted to hand her a subpoena two years ago.

Cross-examined, he told the court that he had waited outside Miss Swanson's apartment with a summons for her appearance in a suit brought by Janet Beecher Hoffman, an actress, against her husband.

Instead of taking the document quietly, he said, she swarmed on him so suddenly that he could not recall the details, except that she had laid the palm of one hand and then the other resounding against his cheeks. Testimony will be continued tomorrow.

Income Report Attacked.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 13.—[Special.]—Federal tax liens totaling $18,889 were imposed against Gloria Swanson through the internal revenue office today. Deficiencies are charged in Gloria's income tax for 1923, when she was Mrs. H. K. Somborne, wife of a local real estate man. Federal officials said the returns of a number of other movie stars were to be investigated.

VON HINDENBURG IN PRAYER FOR NEW PARLIAMENT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, June 13.—Kneeling at his seat of honor at the main altar in the Lutheran cathedral this noon, President von Hindenburg prayed for divine guidance for the members of the new reichstag, this being the ritual preliminary to the assembling of parliament.

"I have appointed you that ye may go and fructify," was the text of the eloquent sermon which the president directed at the leading officials, but only a few of the new deputies listened.

The oldest deputy, the Socialist Herr Bock, 82, took the chair at the reichstag's opening session, which was marked by great decorum, even the communists being on their best behavior. They hope to secure one of the vice presidents' seats.

JOLLY GOTHAM PAIR ENLIVEN AFFAIRS IN CAFE

A few belated patrons of the Thompson restaurant at 180 West Randolph street were startled early today when a heavy, shiny object crashed through the front window. Examination disclosed that it was a spittoon. It was followed by a shower of towels, hair brushes, pitchers, and glass, most of which fell harmlessly in the street.

Sergt. John Flaherty of the central police went to a thirteenth floor room of the Bismarck hotel and arrested two hilarious young men from New York, Francis Molloy and James A. Haggerty. They asserted they were just feeling lively and that they hadn't intended to harm any one.

COMMONS NEARS VOTE ON REVISED BOOK OF PRAYER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 13.—After nine hours of debate in the house of commons today, the fate of the new prayer book is still in doubt.

The debate was earnest and reverent, the subtleties of eucharistic doctrine being debated hour after hour frankly and keenly and as seriously as a discussion of a grave matter of state.

A decisive vote accepting or rejecting the book will be taken about midnight Thursday.

MABEL'S PLANE READY; AMELIA'S REFUSES TO RISE

"Diamond Queen" Hopes to Fly Over Ocean Today

HARBOR GRACE, N. F., June 13.—(AP)—Plans to take off for Europe at four o'clock tomorrow morning, local time, [1:20 a. m. Chicago day light savings time] were announced this afternoon by the flyers who arrived here yesterday from New York in the monoplane Columbia. A rainstorm late today stopped work on the plane, which may cause a delay in the hopoff.

The work of refueling the plane was supervised today by Capt. Oliver Le Boutillier, chief pilot, and Arthur Argles, co-pilot. Mechanic Andrew Surrini gave the Columbia a thorough examination and the only defect which he discovered was a slight indentation on the edge of one propeller blade.

Miss Mabel Boll, "diamond queen," who borrowed the trans-Atlantic plane Columbia from Charles Levine to make the flight, spent part of the day visiting nearby towns.

Friendship Again Fails.

TREPASSEY, N. F., June 13.—(AP)—The start of the monoplane Friendship for Europe was deferred until early tomorrow morning after six more unsuccessful attempts had been made to lift the plane from Trepassey harbor today. Wilmer Stultz, pilot, said the dozen failures of the plane to take the air in attempted takeoffs last Thursday, yesterday and today had proved that the six ton load was too great.

Stultz and his co-flyers, Lou Gordon and Miss Amelia Earhart, former Chicagoan, plainly showed their disappointment at the delay, but said they hoped to get away tomorrow.

Courtney to Try Ocean Hop.

LISBON, Portugal, June 13.—(AP)—Capt. Frank T. Courtney completed today the first leg of a trans-Atlantic air journey when he arrived here after fourteen hours' flying from Piza. He intends to touch at the Azores and Halifax on his way to New York. The captain made a good descent on the river. He said he was fatigued by the flight which covered 1,325 miles, but that all had gone well except that his speedometer ceased working soon after the start. He said he would rest here until Friday.

Melbourne Greets Pacific Flyers.

Melbourne, Australia, June 13.—(AP)—The trans-Pacific monoplane Southern Cross, carrying its crew of four and two passengers flew from Sydney to Melbourne today in six hours, encircled the city and landed perfectly at Essendon airdrome while 80,000 spectators roared a tumultuous welcome.

The crew, Capt. Charles Kingsford-Smith and Charles Ulm, Australian pilots, Navigator Harry Lyon, and Radio Operator James Warner, Americans, were greeted as they swept over the city by an escort of nine planes. In the ship were Capt. Kingsford-Smith's mother and Ulm's wife.

The eager crowd of spectators swarmed on the landing field and covered all the hill tops, buildings, and every available open space in the vicinity to greet the flyers.

CARLO AIELLO IS SOUGHT IN OLD POLICE KILLING

Row Over Injury Case Brings New Clew.

A 35 year old widow, mother of five children, and a 40 year old father of seven quarreled yesterday about the division of $400. The police were called. As a result of accusations made by the man the first definite information was obtained about the killer of Policeman David Boltano. Boltano, known as a foe of extortioners, was shot to death Sept. 25, 1924.

Carlo Aiello, member of the numerous Aiello clan that once sought to seize the underworld leadership that had been the Gennas' and former owner of a grocery at 1144 Townsend street, is being sought as a murderer.

He Says Woman Told.

The quarreling man asserted that the quarreling woman had told him in detail how Aiello killed the policeman.

It was from Frank Leo, 717 South Ashland avenue, that the bulk of the information came. He gave it after Mrs. Frances Trippidi, 2526 West Monroe street, asked Lieut. Paul Riccio to arrest him for being too persistent in his demands for a split of the money she got in settlement for a damage claim against the Yellow Cab company.

Mrs. Trippidi was injured by a cab about four months ago. According to Leo, she was in bed for two days. He said that on a promise of an even share of the cash he testified she was in bed 90 days. Leo was to meet her at the cab company's 21st street garage, he said yesterday. Instead, he met Lieut. Riccio

"Don't lock me up and I'll tell you who killed Boltano," Leo said to Lieut. Riccio. "Frances told me. She used to be Carlo Aiello's sweetie. She was looking out the window at 1146 Townsend street the night Boltano got it. She went out after the shooting and picked up Aiello's cap.

Says She Hid Aiello.

"He ran away, but later he came back and she took care of him while the police were looking around for him. All that she said to me and it's true."

Mrs. Trippidi denied all that. Lieut. Riccio held both of them while the search for Aiello was launched.

FINED $50 FOR DISORDERLY CONDUCT.

John McAuliffe, 20, 2253 South Avers avenue, was fined $50 yesterday when he was arraigned in the Boys' court on a charge of disorderly conduct.

SINGLE WITNESS USED TO FIGHT RAISE IN "L" FARE

City Contends Property Valuation Is Wrong.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The city administration yesterday started and completed its case against a 20 per cent increase in the fares of the elevated roads. The battle consisted of the testimony of Harry G. Westphaln, city accountant, supplemented by two exhibits prepared by the witness.

Assistant Corporation Counsels John G. Drennan and Edward C. Higgins, who conducted the city's fight, predicted they are going to win. They contend the "L" company cannot obtain a fare increase without first having a new valuation of their properties, which they claim the companies have not done.

Fixes Valuation at $86,250,000.

The petition for the fare increase was presented Feb. 15. At the subsequent hearing Attorney Harry J. Dunbaugh for the company submitted the valuation of $86,250,000, placed upon the "L" property in 1921 by the public utilities commission in fixing a rate of charges. To this he added the actual cost of property since added and subtracted property discarded, bringing the total to date to about $94,000,000. In addition he presented testimony showing that the cost of materials, labor, and real estate have advanced an average of approximately 38 per cent. But he did not ask a return on a larger sum than $94,000,000.

The utilities commission in 1921 arrived at a valuation of $86,250,000 by reckoning the reproduction cost of the "L" properties at $95,000,000; or, less depreciation, at $80,250,000. To this later sum was added $6,000,000 in working capital.

Call System All Wrong.

In effect, Mr. Westphaln and the city lawyers told the Illinois commerce commission yesterday that the company's system of estimating values is all wrong. They represented that the right way is as follows: The cost originally of the "L" property, less accrued depreciation, is $60,775,000, as announced by the utilities commission in 1921. To that, the city representatives added $9,764,626 in new property and two other items of $235,000, then made another allowance for depreciation, with the result they valued the "L" properties at $68,360,724, instead of $94,000,000 as suggested by the companies.

The other difference between the city and company figures relates to income under the proposed new fare. The company's estimate is $5,780,944, as compared with the city's figures of $7,713,865. The company assumed that the increased fare would reduce the number of car riders, while the city said there will be just as many under a 10 cent straight fare as under three rides for 25 cents. The company estimated the riders under the proposed new fare at 215,713,922 a year; the city at 226,212,172. The city and company also differ on the probable expenses. The company's estimate is $17,272,477 while the city's figure is $17,031,446 per year.

Differ on Return Percentage.

Westphaln, Drennan and Higgins claimed that the proposed fare would give the company a return of 11.3 per cent, as compared with the company's figure of 6.02 per cent.

When the city had finished its "battle" in less than an hour some of the commerce commissioners were visibly surprised. The commission's accountants and engineers are reported to have been working on the "L" fare case for three months. The commission will announce this morning whether it is satisfied with the city's case, or will present evidence of its own.

Almost as interesting was another battle by another assistant corporation counsel, James I. McCarthy, against the Chicago surface lines, also before the Illinois commerce commission yesterday. Mr. McCarthy strenuously opposed granting permission to the surface lines to buy 17 more motor busses and use them as feeders to the street car system at a 7 cent fare with free transfers. The surface lines have been operating five busses on this plan for more than a year and sundry aldermen of the northwest side are clamoring for more feeder busses.

Coach Company Also Protests.

The Chicago Motor Coach company does not want the surface lines to utilize feeder busses. Instead, it wants to operate busses, at a 10 cent fare, with no transfers. The bus company would add 100 more miles of routes.

Ald. T. J. Bowler, Ringa, Mills and others want feeder busses, but have been unable to get valid ordinances through the city council.

"I question the right of the Illinois Commerce commission to grant a permit for feeder busses to the surface lines," said Assistant Corporation Counsel McCarthy yesterday to the regulatory body. "I also question the right of the surface lines to operate them, if given a permit.

"If this permit is granted you will open the door for a 10 cent fare."

"All that is bunk," replied Attorney Harry P. Weber for the surface lines.

The application was taken under advisement. It involves an expenditure of $336,000 for 22 motor busses with equipment.

DRYS ARREST 3 MEN AND GIRL ON BRIBERY CHARGE

Three men and a girl were arrested yesterday by prohibition agents under George E. Golding, accused of attempting to bribe dry agents by the offer of $200 to "fix" a charge of transporting alcohol against the girl and one of the men.

Miss Helen Angel, 20, of 1732 North Hermitage avenue, and Dominick Lino, 1316 Larrabee street, were arrested by police while transporting 25 gallons of alcohol in a truck. They were taken to the dry offices where they are alleged to have offered two agents $50 to fix the case. Later, Thomas Vitello and Carl Vance appeared at the prohibition office and are said to have swelled the offer to $200.

Charges of attempted bribery were placed against the four.

PAL OF FERNEKES FINED $25 AFTER RACE WITH POLICE

Daniel McGeoghan, former associate of Henry Fernekes, the midget bandit who once plotted the blowing up of the county jail, and three companions were fined $25 and costs each yesterday by Magistrate Frank J. O'Brien of Oak Lawn. The charge was disorderly conduct.

The four defendants, two of them women, were pursued for several miles by the county highway police on May 28. It was alleged that they had tossed several gallons of whisky and two pistols from their car before they were captured. McGeoghan's companions were James Redecke, 1520 West 18th street; Mabel Palmer and May Peterson, both of 922 East 22d street.

With Fernekes and Joseph Flannery, McGeoghan was tried for murder and was sentenced to death. Later he obtained a new and separate trial and was acquitted.

EXPERT CHARGES KOESTER FORGED JENNINGS WILL

A forged will of the late Edwin B. Jennings, multi-millionaire recluse, was said yesterday to be in the handwriting of Edward C. Koester, ex-convict forger. That was the testimony of J. Fordyce Wood, a handwriting expert, before Judge H. Sterling Pomeroy.

Koester, who claims to be a son of Jennings by a secret marriage, is seeking a court order for the entire estate, estimated at $6,000,000. He contends that a genuine will, naming him the sole beneficiary, was stolen from the files of the Probate court and the spurious instrument substituted to discredit his claims.

Attorney John G. Campbell, counsel for eight cousins who claim the fortune, then put the handwriting expert on the stand.

Learn the Secret of How to Have One

Women and men are amazed at the magic benefits of IRONIZED YEAST. Thin, weak bodies are brought up in weight and strength. Flesh is made round and firm. Hollows filled out. Skin made satiny smooth with the glow of girlhood. How is this done?

Ironized Yeast is two tonics in one—weight-building Yeast and strengthening Iron. The yeast is the same used in making malt and which makes malt so beneficial. It is specially cultured and concentrated to give the utmost in flesh-producing value. So it is natural that after taking IRONIZED YEAST in a single course treatment you will notice an amazing improvement in your health, appearance and spirits. The skin loses its sallow, pimply, blotchy look, pounds of good flesh are taken on.

So don't have a skinny, weak body that looks as though it had never been fed enough. Don't go around with an ugly skin. Go to your druggist today, and get a generous test treatment of IRONIZED YEAST—pleasant, tasty, tablets in a handy bottle. They do not cause gas or bloating and are safe for everybody—contain no harmful drugs.

Try it on "Money-Back" Offer

Go today to any drug store and get a full size treatment. If, after this generous trial, you are not delighted with effects, ask for your money back. It will be refunded immediately. If inconvenient to buy from druggist, send $1.00 direct to the IRONIZED YEAST CO., Atlanta, Ga., Desk 146-PH.

CAUTION! While the amazing health-building value of IRONIZED YEAST tablets has been clearly and positively demonstrated in cases of lack of energy, indigestion, constipation, skin eruptions, poor complexion, and a generally weakened physical and mental condition, IRONIZED YEAST should not be used by anyone who OBJECTS to having weight increased to normal.—© I. Give your child a chicken's chance!

SUCCESSFUL breeders of chickens don't heat their brooders with fuel that throws off smoke and soot. Certainly not—they use the cleanest, safest, most even-burning fuel they can find.

They burn Anthracite—the coal that is clean and safe—the coal that gives off no smoke, or soot—no poisonous gases.

Do you give your children the same chance they give the chickens? Is the air in your home pure, clean, and safe for them? In other words, do you burn Anthracite?

Anthracite is the most economical fuel you can find. It is long-burning, requiring but little attention.

Ask your dealer for his expert advice on the size you should have.

DANCE WINNERS BOTH DENY THEY ARE TO MARRY

But Smiles May Speak Louder than Words.

BY KATHLEEN M'LAUGHLIN.

(Picture on back page.)

Number 70, otherwise Robert Johns, ex-marine, and Serena Bergandi, champion dancers of the universe—all you need to do to best their record is to dance longer than 259 hours and 43 minutes—awoke yesterday after a ten hour sleep in their rooms at the Hotel La Salle to talk freely of their victory and falteringly of their possible engagement.

For neither would confirm the reputed romance, though the attitude of both seemed to speak louder than words. Serena shook her head, eyes at the huge silver loving cup that represented their victory, and blushed a bit as she declared that no engagement existed.

Both Seem in Doubt.

"But," she added, "if you ask him he'll say there is."

He didn't, however.

"Well-l-l-l now," he allowed, quite gravely, "I'm pretty puzzled about that myself."

It is possible that the next few days may settle the subject definitely, for the champions are to have several days in which to recuperate at an estate at Lake Geneva, while they consider their vaudeville offers.

Meanwhile, another of the competitors was nothing loath to confess the true state of her love affair. Marcella Meadows, the feminine half of team Number 55, second prize winners, tossed her blonde hair out of her eyes in a room at the American hospital and admitted that she was married three days before the marathon began —but not to her partner.

One Admits Marriage.

"I came near not being married, because my husband didn't want me to go into the marathon, and I said that I wouldn't marry him unless he let me," confided Marcella. "So he did, and he was my trainer. His name is Lester Leyes. He's a clerk from La Salle, and we live at 3900 Broadway.

"What about Walter Grafsky? You were reported engaged to him," some one suggested.

Marcella pouted.

"I should say not," she said, "and I don't see why he didn't keep me awake—we'd have won first prize."

So Marcella's prize money will help to brighten the honeymoon. In addition to the second prize of $1,000 she and her partner received about $500 from the fans, she said.

Lois Henry and James Pedrow shared the $750 third prize.

The two couples, teams 55 and 100, are under observation at the American hospital, on Irving Park boulevard, while physicians try to obtain data on the effects of their fatigue.

NEW NEIGHBORS ACCUSE CROWE OF ILLEGAL PLOT

Building Halted, They Ask Court's Aid.

State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe, in a suit filed yesterday, is charged with using his political influence in an attempt to force the sale of his home upon unwilling buyers at an exorbitant price. A co-defendant in the proceedings is Building Commissioner Christian P. Paschen, who is accused of aiding the prosecutor in the alleged unlawful conspiracy.

The plaintiffs are Joseph Siegel, a contractor, and Isidore Phillips, who have started excavating for a nine story hotel apartment at 3331-3-5 Washington boulevard, abutting Crowe's home at 3329 Washington boulevard. The petitioners are asking the court to enjoin Paschen and Crowe from interfering with the project.

The complaint, drawn by Attorney Daniel M. Healy, sets up that the city building department, with technical excuses, halted progress on the excavating soon after the state's attorney looked out of his bedroom window one morning and discovered that he would soon have a hotel for a neighbor. But before using his influence with Paschen to block the project, it is alleged, Crowe tried to sell his residence to the hotel men for $45,000.

Crowe's home is one of the fine stone mansions which made Washington boulevard one of the exclusive residential streets of the city. In late years, however, hotels and apartments have been going up along the western thoroughfare and with a nine story hotel apartment planned for his next door neighbor, Crowe, it is alleged in the suit, used extarordinary measures to change his residence without suffering a financial loss.

Policemen and building inspectors halted the work on the project and are remaining on watch to prevent a resumption of activities, the bill asserts. In the meantime, according to the complainants, they are suffering a loss of $500 a day from the delay, being liable on contracts let to artisans, and on interest for money borrowed.

Judge Hugo M. Friend set the case for hearing today. Neither Paschen nor Crowe was in the city last night.

Maid, $3,000 Gem Gone; Arrests One, Finds Other

Daisy Armstrong, 20, employed as a maid in the home of Mrs. Frank Stone, 1200 Edmer street, Oak Park, quit on Tuesday. A little later Mrs. Stone discovered that a three and a half carat diamond was missing from one of her rings. She suspected that Daisy might know something about it. The Oak Park police arrested the maid and she admitted that she had hidden the stone valued at $3,000, in the seat of a chair in Mrs. Stone's living room. It was recovered.

DAWES AND THE VICE PRESIDENCY.

It is not unusual for a national convention to pick its candidate for Vice President just as the delegates are reaching for their hats and starting for their trains. It is not often apparent that anything has been taken into account except the willingness of the candidate to go in second place and the idea that a section of the country would give more votes or a section of the party be held in line better on account of a particular personality.

Such a method is not the most rational in the world, and it is not highly considerate of the possibilities of presidential succession. That it sometimes works better than it might be expected to is a remark which might be made of the whole American political system. On one occasion the Democratic party nominated for Vice President an elderly gentleman because he had great wealth. The party was taking a chance with the succession to fatten its campaign fund.

The runners-up in a convention seldom care to take second place if they have missed first. That would be a politically reasonable thing to do, but men who would enjoy the activities of the White House prefer to be engaged in their own private affairs rather than face the inactivities of the vice presidential office, although there are the duties in the senate chamber.

It is true that sometimes a party will select a man for Vice President who is quite as able as the man at the head of the ticket. That was done four years ago by the convention which nominated Dawes with Coolidge. It may be not much in Mr. Dawes' wish to go on the ticket this year with Mr. Hoover. There was a time when the possibility was considered that events would bring him first place, but that did not have any support from him. At this writing it is assumed that if he will accept the nomination for Vice President the convention is ready to give it to him again. If it is as fair to him as it is intended to be complimentary he should be urged to do so, and the convention could hardly be better advised than to draft this internationally known citizen of great ability to run with Mr. Hoover if Mr. Hoover is to be the nominee for President.

If it is opposed to so distinguished and representative a western man, it might consider Representative Tilson of Connecticut, a four square American with regard for the American place in the world and a determination that it shall have adequate defense.

The office was intended to be one of dignity and distinction. Both in possibilities and fact it is. It is not an unimportant place for an unimportant man. It should be treated as important in the convention. It is probably difficult to do so when it is necessary to grab a reluctant man and hoist him into the place when he wants to prove that it ought to be some one else.

When the White House becomes an American citizen's home he is well along in his maturity, and it is bound to occur at intervals in the country's history that the man elected with him will have to step up into his place, and that man should be as well equipped as the man he succeeds. There is no reason why the vice presidency should not be a logical line of political succession. It could be a reasonable expectancy that when a President retires the Vice President will be considered favorably by the nominating convention. The only objection to that would be the tendency, if the President and Vice President were friendly, for the former to give the latter the federal delegate pickings in the south, but that would be removed if the Republican party reformed itself and based its convention votes on the party numbers in a state and not on the population.

The parties should not treat the vice presidency as if it were an inconsiderable place for which the decision will be made with little consideration for its importance and its potentialities.

THE DEMANDS OF WOMAN.

Of Miss Jessie Burrell of Washington, D. C., it was announced that she would address the delegates to the Kansas City convention on the subject "The Demands of Women." She hasn't and she won't. She is in California and not in Missouri. And she isn't Miss Jessie Burrell. She is Mrs. Earle Eubank, wife of Prof. Eubank of the sociology department of the University of Cincinnati. The professor, as is fitting and customary in such instances is also in California. A wedding trip there seems to have rated higher in the young lady orator's scheme of life than a political trip to Kansas City. The lucky professor was within reach. The lady's decision was astute.

It will not be necessary for her to change her subject. If she had her speech well in hand the number of occasions on which it will be useful will be found to be infinite. There are a lot of men in a convention but after all what does talking to them get you? What indeed? Possibly a lot of applesauce but nothing negotiable in any sound bank or transferable in a shop. For responsiveness a convention is all flat whereas a husband properly kept in hand may be a good provider.

An addendum to this political note relating to the demands of women might be found further in the news from Portage, Wis., that Miss Zona Gale, the writer and political liberal attached to the La Follette-Blaine party, wasn't a delegate to the Republican convention because she had made other plans. They were revealed when she became Mrs. W. L. Breese.

FORCING SECTIONALISM UPON US.

The New York state chamber of commerce has called a meeting to frame a protest against the recent reduction in freight rates from the middle west to the Pacific coast. The new rates apply to shipments by way of New Orleans and the Panama canal and place mid-western manufacturers in a position to compete with the manufacturers of Pittsburgh and Buffalo.

The business men of the seaboard states have always regarded the Panama canal as their private possession. If they frame their protest with frankness it will read something like this:

> Whereas, Chicago and the middle west are at last in a position to take advantage of cheap water transportation to the Pacific coast; and,
> Whereas, The right to take advantage of the canal belongs to us and not to them; and,
> Whereas, The markets of the Pacific coast have belonged to us ever since the canal made it possible for us to snatch them from the middle west;
> Therefore, The reduction in rates should be denied.

Such frankness would serve to open the eyes of business men throughout the country to the selfishness which seeks to strangle the middle west. If any of the manufacturing industries of this section have prospered it has been despite the opposition of the east. It took years of effort to throw off the senseless Pittsburgh plus practice in the steel industry, a practice which was utterly indefensible. The steel mills of Pittsburgh and Birmingham have been given cheap river transport, but not those of Chicago. The demand of the middle west for the development of our waterways has not yet been answered adequately. The Panama canal cost us our markets on the Pacific coast, but every effort to restore the balance in that direction has been resisted, just as the new freight rates are being resisted.

The east, in effect, holds that the manufacturers and distributors of the middle west should content themselves with supplying the needs of the mid-western market. On top of that, the east has done all in its power to reduce the buying power of our home market by refusing to give the farmers the relief they need. The farmers, we are told, are to constitute most of our customers, but their purchasing power is to be as limited as possible. It is astonishing that under these circumstances mid-western agriculture and mid-western industry have not yet united in a demand for fair play as between sections.

Chicago and the middle west resent the injustices and the losses. We resent the fact that the seaboard states are forcing upon us a sectionalism which can have most vicious consequences in the national life. By temperament and history the mid-westerner is not a sectionalist. The prairies were settled from both north and south, and if we drew any lesson from the civil war it was the lesson that sectionalism is a national menace. We have no sectional consciousness such as is possessed by the New Englander or the southerner, but we can develop it, and we will develop it if repression and injustice force the issue upon us.

In the economic and political struggle that would ensue the middle west would not come off second best. We have the lion's share of the nation's productive wealth. The industrial center of the United States, according to the census reports, is within an hour's ride of Chicago. The center of population is not far from Indianapolis. The agricultural center is in Missouri, a night's ride to the west of us. It is not thinkable that the richest section of the nation will permit itself to be held down by arbitrary restrictions imposed by the jealousy and selfishness of others. We have not sought and we do not desire a renewal of sectionalism, with all it implies of the waste of national energy, but we cannot avoid the issue if it is thrust upon us.

LANGUAGE ON DRESS PARADE.

Admiral Wiley doesn't like the term gob, signifying a sailor of the American navy. No more do we. It is the least inspired invention of American slang. Admiral Wiley thinks it undignified. But while a commander in chief can expel it by fiat from the pages of ships' newspapers, all the board of admirals, thundering in unison, cannot expel it from the vernacular, naval or civilian. That will have to be done, if it is to be done, through some general sense of critical disapproval, and it isn't going to come from a quarterdeck demand for dignity. Leatherneck, doughboy, buddie are not dignified, and when they, or the like of them, are exchanged for dignified terms in the conversation of our fighting men, we had better get ready for a licking.

Editorial of the Day

MRS. KNAPP.

[Des Moines Tribune-Capital.]

Women have been singularly unfortunate in the quality of their representatives who have attained prominence in politics. There are many women in minor offices around the country who have set new standards for public service, but they have gone about it quietly and the publicity has gone to "Ma" Ferguson, late governor of Texas, and Mrs. Florence E. Knapp, just convicted of grand larceny in her term as secretary of state of New York.

These women played the game as men played it. They were chosen by men who were leaders of the political parties, and they treated the whole business of politics as politicians always have treated it, as something to get personal advantage out of.

It is not enough for women to excuse them on this ground, however. It may be true that Mrs. Knapp did not take anything at all compared with what other politicians take out of New York's government every year. But she should not have taken anything.

If women play the old political game they are going to lose by it, and they are going to be the scapegoats for their friends who run the parties. They have got to take hold of the parties and run them, not for the offices or the spoils but for public service. The old game is not their style: it is dangerous not only for individuals but for the good name of the whole sex, and besides it is just not worth while.

NO APPEAL.

"Gosh, Smith was certainly unlucky in his divorce suit."

"How's that?"

THE WHY OF GOOD AND BAD DAYS FOR HAY FEVER.

HAY FEVER is caused by the pollens of trees, grasses, and weeds. That which develops in the spring is caused by tree pollen, that of the late spring and early summer by grass pollen, and that of later summer and autumn by weed pollen.

People vary in their sensitiveness to pollens, and pollens vary in their ability to cause hay fever. Some years ago Dr. Scheppegrell began to write about the variations in hay fever pollens in various parts of the United States and the need of studying the pollen pollution of the air in the several states at all seasons of the years.

The United States public health service followed with a report giving the facts then known about the distribution of different pollens in different parts of the country and at different seasons of the year.

Drs. Duke and Durham published the result of studies of pollen pollution of the air day by day in two locations in Kansas City, one in the business district, the other farther out. They compared the results with somewhat similar studies made in Chicago and Oklahoma City.

The variation of pollen content in the air differed greatly from day to day. Rain was the largest single factor. A heavy rain washed the air clean. In the autumn a heavy rain was more powerful in stopping pollen than was frost. On the other hand, in the pollenating season, a gentle, warm rain caused the production of pollen to increase rapidly.

Wind was the next factor of importance. Whenever a strong wind blew from the right areas, particularly certain bottom lands around Kansas City, the air filled up with pollen.

The daily variation in the pollen content of the air was enormous. It was so striking that one could easily understand why some hay fever patients have good days and bad days. The pollen counts of Kansas City and Oklahoma City were very much higher than those of Chicago. In fact, so great is the variation between the pollen content of the air in Boston, Chicago, Kansas City, and Oklahoma City that they do not think the results of treatment in the several places can be compared. They are not able to get the good results from the Walker treatment in Kansas City that Walker reports from Boston.

WORRIES OF A DIABETIC.

R. H. writes: Is a very large excess of indican an alarming symptom in a diabetic 70 years old?

My grandfather lives in the mountains, miles away from any doctor, and on my last visit to him I brought a specimen of his urine back for analysis. The sugar found present is 3.2 per cent. Otherwise everything is O. K. He is most conscientious about his diet.

REPLY.

It is not. At most, it may indicate some degree of constipation. In some cases indicanuria suggests certain changes in diet, but if your grandfather is dieting for diabetes he had better stick to the main issue. However, 3.2 per cent sugar is not a trifling matter.

CURING RINGWORM.

G. M. K. writes: I have been suffering for about three or four years with a ringworm on my hairy chest. I tried the iodine three nights in succession and wasn't cured. What do you advise?

REPLY.

Have a physician scalp your chest with X-rays. As a rule, no other treatment is required.

BANANAS FOR 2 YEAR OLD.

A. J. C. writes: Is it safe or advisable to feed bananas to a child of less than two years?

REPLY:

Well ripened banana is a good food for a child. Unless the fruit is well ripened it is not.

A child two years of age can eat well ripened banana with sugar and milk. The banana should be mashed well.

NOT COMPELLED BY LAW.

Sycamore, Ill., June 6.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. If an employer brings a personal maid from California, can he be made to furnish railroad fare back to California or be made to pay doctor's or hospital bills? I have been with an old lady for more than a year, giving good service since coming here from California with her, and making one trip back. I was stricken with pneumonia last month, was in hospital two weeks, and have been on a farm convalescing for two weeks. My employer refuses to pay any bills or give me fare back home.

2. Can she be compelled to do so by law? C. H. K.

1. Not on the bare facts stated.
2. No.

CANNOT HOLD WIFE TO LEASE.

Chicago, June 6.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A husband signs a lease to an apartment for a year, and three months later deserts his wife. She remains in the apartment for three months longer, then moves after refusing to pay more rent. She is financially responsible. Can the landlord hold her for the unexpired time even though she did not sign the lease? J. E.

No.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

PAYING WITH CARE.

Oak Park, Ill., June 9.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A sum of money, amounting to $500, was borrowed in 1912. 1. My understanding is that under the statute of limitations this could not be collected at the present date.

2. If I should make a payment on this loan at the present time, would that make me liable to collection of the whole amount? I would like to pay on the loan from time to time, but do not wish to make myself liable to suit for the whole amount.

3. Is there any way by which I could make these payments and not lift the statute of limitations? H. D. H.

1. Correct unless exceptional facts are present to extend the period.
2. Yes.
3. Accompany your payments with a written statement that they are not intended as an acknowledgment of the debt or as implying a promise to pay the balance.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

WHEN President Coolidge said, "I do not choose to run," most of us accepted that declaration as his well considered and final decision. There are many who would like to see him serve a third term, or a complete second term, to be more exact. It seems he might have had the nomination, and probably the election, had he been willing. Yet had the President allowed himself to be "drafted" for party or national weal, campaign charges of equivocation and insincerity were inevitable. Whatever one's individual preference on the subject, Cal is bigger for having adhered to his announced determination.

THE TRAIN WHISTLE.

Long, low and leisurely, and then in jerks,
The whistle of the train cries out 'along
The darkening night and in its sound lurks
A call to fly with it—to learn the song
It sings to all the world—a message clear:
To leave behind the arduous work on hand,
Forget one's every troubling care and fear,
And fly with it to some distant land.

I listen for a moment, drinking deep
Its golden meaning, and it seems to me
In sweet imagination I can keep
For one short moment hopes that will not be.
I wait—now dies the throbbing, beckoning scream
And with it fades my fancied dream. ENORTT.

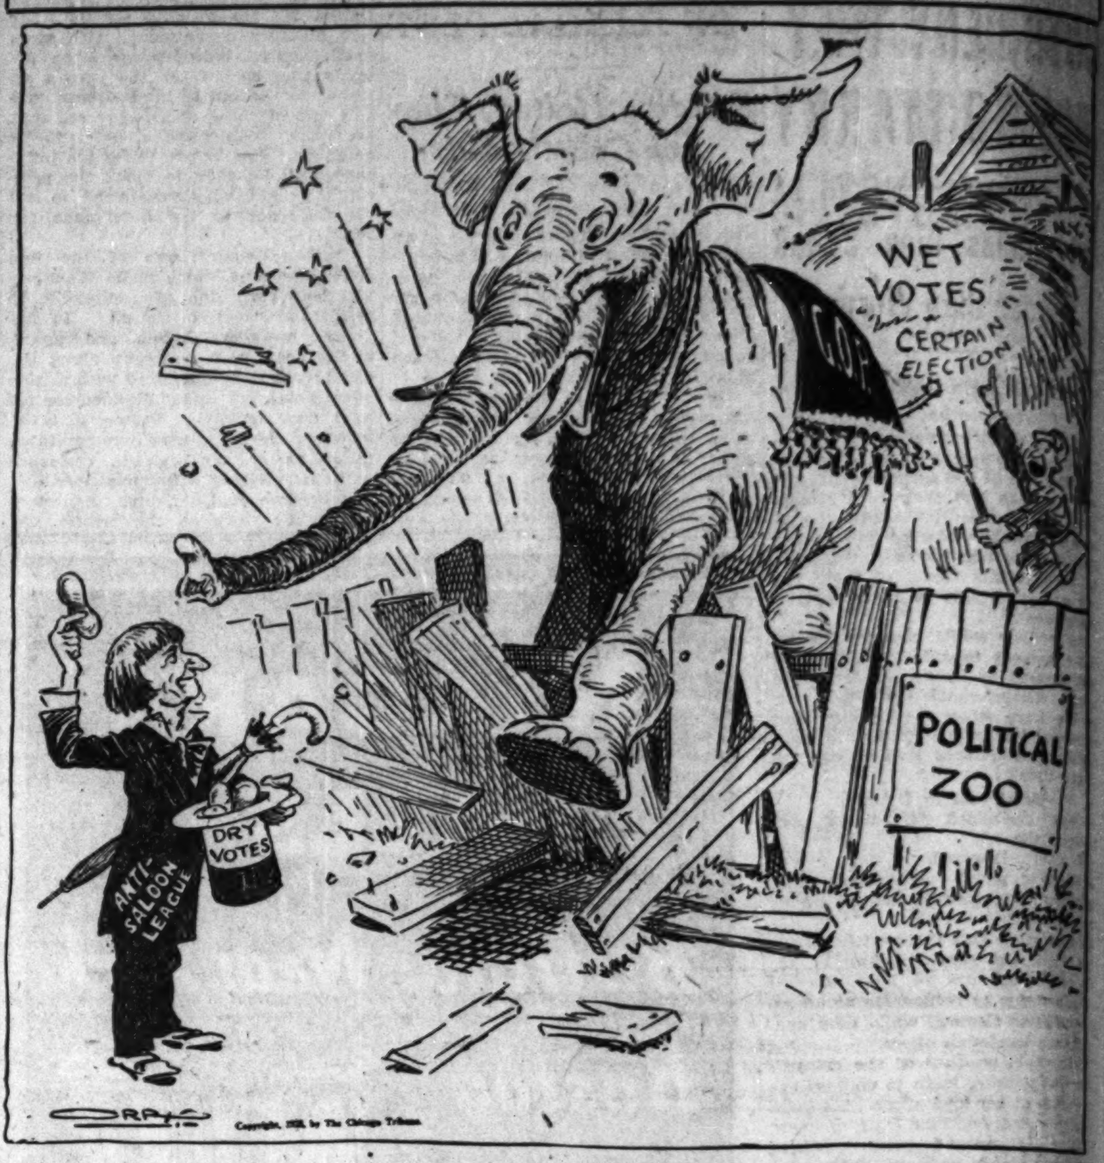
LEAVING THE HAYSTACK FOR A HANDFUL OF PEANUTS



Copyright, 1928, by The Chicago Tribune.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

JUNE 14, 1863.

NASHVILLE.—Gen. Forrest with 5,000 rebel cavalry and two batteries attacked the cavalry division of Gen. Mitchell, but retreated as the federals advanced in battle line, firing as they came. The rebels were pursued six miles. Their loss was 2• killed and 60 or 70 wounded. Our loss was six killed, among them Lieut. N. C. Blair of the Indiana cavalry.

JOHNSON'S LANDING, Yazoo River.—The rebels are known to be in a terrible condition within Vicksburg. A few days more must reduce them to starvation. Cannonading continues in front and rear of the city.

NEW YORK.—The Washington special to the Tribune says: Four rebel deserters report Gen. Lee with his entire force marching up the Rappahannock, a statement which is confirmed by other evidence.

ST. PAUL.—A squad of men under Capt. Cady overtook the Indians who have been committing murders and depredations in Wright county, near Lake Kandyohi. In the fighting Capt. Cady was instantly killed. The Indians escaped.

CHICAGO.—John B. Clay and Miss Clara B. Martin were married on June 11 by the Rev. Dr. T. M. Eddy.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

JUNE 14, 1898.

CHICAGO.—The great Leiter wheat deal crashed, and Joseph Leiter retired from the wheat market, after more than a year's skirmishing, figuring his losses, not his profits. During one of the most exciting sessions the Chicago Board of Trade has ever known he disposed of all his futures in the grain, and before the day was done the banks which furnished the money for his gigantic deal were practically in possession of Mr. Leiter's millions of bushels of cash wheat. It is the case of another good deal gone wrong; a deal which a month ago showed profits variously estimated at from $2,500,000 to $5,000,000, and which now shows a net loss of between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000.

WASHINGTON.—The first army of invasion to Cuba is now well on its way, thirty-two transport steamships, bearing more than 15,000 officers and men, convoyed by battleships, cruisers, gunboats, and auxiliary cruisers, sixteen in number, having actually sailed from Key West at daybreak this morning.

CHICAGO.—Evidence is increasing that the German government contemplates some serious movement in the orient against the interests of the United States. The action of Emperor William in sending practically all his Asiatic fleet into those waters is looked upon with grave suspicion in Washington. Advice of several German newspapers to their government to demand at least a coaling station in the Philippines, it is thought, comes near to voicing the least of the German demands.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

JUNE 14, 1918.

PARIS.—Von Hindenburg's thrust southward from Noyon, with Compiegne as the prize, appears to be absolutely spent, while the flanking assault southwestward from Soissons towards the forest of Villers Cotterets is halting on the edge of this forest, with nothing but terrifying casualties to show for an advance of not more than three miles. The Germans essayed another great assault against the much coveted high ground between Courcelles and Mery which the French hold. Just as the German ranks had been formed and the men were charging, the French artillery caught them in the open and literally tore the organizations to pieces. In the French center, southwest of Noyon, Gen. Foch loosed a counter attack which fairly swept the Germans from their feet, capturing some 1,000 men and ten or more pieces of artillery.

WASHINGTON. — Prospective extension of the draft age to include practically all able bodied men of the country between the ages of 18 and 49 is planned for this winter, Representative Kahn, ranking Republican member of the house committee on military affairs, stated.

CHICAGO.—Maj. Alexander Lampert of New York was elected president of the American Medical association at its convention here. He succeeds Dr. Arthur Dean Bevan.

CORN BELT POLITICS.

Earlville, Ill., June 11.—There are two good reasons why the 100,000 farmers will probably not march upon Kansas City—there aren't that many with either the time or the money to go. But our leaders are there and we at home are no mirage, believe me! This, I think, is a typical midwest community of farmers and those interested in farm prosperity. We hope we are not forced to vote for an eastern man, but many there are around here who plan to vote Democratic if by so doing they can help defeat an eastern Republican. We've had enough of that brand of the G. O. P.

ONE WHO VOTED FOR COOLIDGE.

THE UNIMPORTANT TARIFF.

Chicago, June 10.—I take issue with your editorial statement in this morning's TRIBUNE: "The basis of the farmer's ills is the fact that nearly everything he buys is sold to him at an artificially high price, created and maintained by the federal government, while the crops he sells enjoy no such advantage."

The farmer's difficulties are due to the fact that he has not reorganized his industry on the basis of big scale, low price production. Industry has been successful because it has done this very thing. The same principle, where it has been applied to production of agricultural articles, such, for example, as cotton and wheat, has resulted in lowered production costs and lower prices, with a sufficient margin of profit.

That this is true is exemplified by the fact that our manufacturers are able to compete with foreign goods in foreign markets. Our exports are growing rapidly, and their growth is in direct proportion to the success of our manufacturers in getting effectively organized on a basis of low cost production.

Because of our necessity to seek world markets for our manufactured goods, tariff has become a matter of relatively small importance. S. WORTHINGTON.

CORN LIKKER REPLACED BY SUGAR BOOZE.

Clinton, Ia., June 11.—The farmer of the grain belt was relieved of a large portion of his market in the closing of the breweries and distilleries. With the loss sustained by the coming of the automobile and the tractor, he is now near bankruptcy. But the same relief committee offers him more medicine.

With 141 stills uncovered in Melrose Park, it would not be hard to figure out a fair estimate for the rest of the country. These stills use sugar made in the dry south and Cuba. Some big cookers are using carload orders. Stills are advertised in a number of the small farm magazines.

It would take enough tax money from the farmers and the rest of us to put us all on the blink if enough dry snoopers could be paid to make even a little dent in the making of sugar booze.

SUMMER OPERA IN ENGLISH.

Chicago, June 13.—The promotional headquarters of the American Opera company is now in Room 922 Fine Arts building, and not at the Stevens hotel as stated in a TRIBUNE editorial. Any one who wishes to know more of its proposed summer season or the future plans of the American Opera Society, the Chicago organization which is trying to get it financed, the people interested, the basis of estimates, etc., is invited to call between 10 and 4 o'clock at Room 922 or phone Wabash 0430. A carefully and economically worked out budget covering a period of 8 weeks may be examined at any time. The books of the company are at all times open to the inspection of subscribers. This budget amounts to $2,300 weekly or $18,400 for the 8 week period and is based upon payment of a small staff of the principals, of rental and a business manager. Some of this expense will be defrayed by the concerts and opera performances it is proposed to give during the summer session period.

IRENE MANSFIELD AFFLECK.

MAKING ENDURANCE UNENDURABLE.

Chicago, June 12.—Why not have a real "endurance contest?" What's a broken arch, or a damaged heart, or a wrecked nervous system? We ought to have the nice, old fashioned rack or wheel or whipping post and see who would holler quits first. Or it might be still more edifying and exciting to have endurance candidates see how much they can take punishment by chopping off one toe, then another, and so on. This might be carried far enough to make it good business to offer a $5,000 or $50,000 prize and people might pay as much as to go to a prize fight.

DISGUSTED.

A TALKING DERBY.

Chicago, June 11.—After noting the public interest taken in the endurance dance at the Coliseum, one wonders what is next. Perhaps a talking contest for women would be interesting. What a treat for the men at home.

CLARENCE SOLLER.

THE INFLUENCE OF BETTING ON BUSINESS.

Chicago, June 11.—Ask the retail merchants of Chicago how their business was on Saturday, June 9, Derby day. Was there any material falling off in receipts? Did the fifty-five thousand paid admissions at the track, and the thousands of dollars that passed into the hands of small bookmakers, scattered throughout the city, divert the money that is usually spent in stores into other channels? RETAILER.

HE'S GOOD AT FINGERS.

Chicago, June 8.—This here idea of G. C. Perry about making figgers easy by using 12 instead of 10 as a starter is fine, but what is he going to do about guys like me that have to count on our fingers? LLOYD M. CROSGRAVE.

COURT ACTION BLOW TO CITY SPOILS SYSTEM

Injunction Bars All but Civil Service Men.

The spoils system in the city hall was hit by Circuit Judge Ira Ryner yesterday in an order that, it was said, will strike the names of eighty "sixty day" appointees from the municipal pay roll.

The judge issued a temporary injunction enjoining the city "from further employing any person who has not complied with the city civil service law and rules with respect to examinations and certificates as carpenters to perform work for the city of the kind usually performed by civil service employés."

The plaintiff in the case was Walter J. McGrane, a member of the Civil Service Protective association, who said he was one of 184 carpenters on the civil service eligibility list who have vainly sought jobs with the city while eighty political favorites have been drawing salaries as temporary appointees.

Ten of the city's carpenters were laid off without just cause, it was alleged, to make room for those given jobs in recognition of their work in precinct politics, rather than for any efficiency with the hammer and saw.

Under the civil service rules, department heads can make temporary appointments to meet an emergency. This rule was abused, it was charged, since eighty of the patronage benefactors drew salaries for more than six months when no emergency existed, unless it was a political one.

Attorneys Samuel B. King and Joseph J. Lelivelt, saw the judge's ruling as a precedent that would enable the Civil Service Protective association to clean the City hall of the so-called "sixty day" appointees, whose appointments are renewed every two months.

IOWA FARMERS OWN 10,566 MORE RADIOS THAN ONE YEAR AGO

Des Moines, Ia., June 13.—[Special.]—Iowa farmers increased their ownership of radios by 10,566 in the year ended Dec. 31, 1927, according to Charles D. Reed, head of the Iowa weather and crop bureau, who has just completed a survey of rural owned radios.

On Iowa farms of three acres or more they now total 76,030, giving 36.19 per cent of Iowa farm homes radio connection with the outside world.

GIRL IN GLASER CASE REPORTED FOUND IN WEST

Delores Wheeler, school girl witness against Joseph Glaser, one time owner of the notorious black and tan Sunset café, is believed to be located in Los Angeles, Cal., according to a telegram received by the police yesterday. Assistant State's Attorney Charles Dougherty, who successfully prosecuted Glaser to a 10 year sentence for rape, has wired to the coast city for details.

The Wheeler girl disappeared immediately after Glaser was convicted. It was later announced in court that Glaser had taken her to Kentucky and married her.

At the time there was talk of a $5,000 bribe being offered. John Wheeler, father of the girl, was given a contempt sentence of six months. The Los Angeles authorities wired they have under treatment for disease, a girl who said she was the missing Wheeler girl.

3 GENERATIONS OF PUPILS HONOR VETERAN TEACHER

Miss Roundy Retires in West Chicago.

Fifty years ago, when she was 21 and just out of college, Miss Carrie E. Roundy first took charge of the primary classes in the Lincoln school in West Chicago. Last night 800 persons went to the auditorium of the new West Chicago Community High school to do honor to their old teacher and to applaud the speakers as they recalled scenes from the old school days. In the audience were several whose children and grandchildren, as well as themselves, had been helped through the first days of school by this teacher, who is now retiring from service, a gray-haired woman.

Her former pupils are scattered in many states, but a few were able to return to West Chicago especially to see Miss Roundy receive recognition for the years that she has devoted to the youngsters. Charles Kruse of Richmond, Ill., was one. He went to school to Miss Roundy 49 years ago. Now he is a business man in the town of his adoption. John Kruse, a brother, still living in West Chicago, has children and grand children, who, besides himself, had Miss Roundy for a teacher.

Business Men Attend.

Two business men of Chicago, also former pupils of Miss Roundy, are William Walliser, vice president of the Chicago and North Western railway, and Charles C. Bunker, department manager and foreign buyer for Marshall Field & Co. Mr. Bunker was there with a report card dated Dec. 10, 1886, made out by the teacher.

An old friend, Miss Lefa Chatfield, acted as master of ceremonies. Clarence Grames, president of the high school board; H. H. Benjamin, president of the grade school board, and H. H. Kirkpatrick, former superintendent, told of Miss Roundy's loyalty to the town, to the school, and to the children.

As they spoke Miss Roundy sat at one side of the stage surrounded by baskets of flowers.

Praised by Speakers.

"She was one of the best and most loyal teachers I have ever had," Mr. Kirkpatrick said. "It is well that we show her some appreciation for what she has meant to us and to the community."

Judge Charles C. Clark of Wheaton paid her a homely compliment when he said that she "has never done any back seat driving."

Two of her latest pupils, six year olds, Betty Steen and Norma Rasp, ended the program with the presentation of a purse containing $2,000, which had been collected from residents of West Chicago. "We hope you will have a nice time spending this," they said.

Though through with active teaching, Miss Roundy will not retire. She intends to read, to study, and to travel to places which her work had prevented her from visiting before.

"It is vacation time now, but in the fall I will miss the long walks I have taken to school in all kinds of weather," she remarked. "Of course, I will miss the children and the school. It will not be easy to break off with what I have been doing for 50 years and liked to do."

FOURTEEN GIRLS, EIGHT BOYS LEAD IN HIGH SCHOOLS

Get Diplomas Tonight and Tomorrow.

Girls will outnumber boys 14 to 8 when the valedictorians of Chicago's 21 public high schools step out on the platforms this evening and tomorrow evening. These students, selected for high averages covering the four years of high school work, were called to the office of William J. Bogan, acting superintendent of schools, yesterday. There he congratulated them and asked whether they intend to go to college, most of them saying that they do.

Mr. Bogan declared last night that his act was no innovation but he wanted those honor students to feel they are a credit to Chicago's public school system. He told them so in an informal talk.

Three Are Foreign Born.

The ability among these honor students is widely distributed as to nationality. Three of them are foreign born, seven are children of foreign born parents, one is a colored girl, one of the boys is a Chinese. The others are of native parentage. The exercises of graduation will be held in the school halls, except in two cases where those are inadequate. The Lane Technical High school seniors will get their diplomas in Medinah temple and those of the Robert Waller High school in the hall of the Le Moyne grammar school.

In one school two girls tied for highest average, but Mr. Bogan recalled that one is a class president and rates a speech on that basis, so that the other becomes the valedictorian.

Range from 15 to 19.

The ages of the honor students range from 15 to 19. Two girls are 15; one boy is 19. Eight are 16 and eight are 17; three girls are 18.

In the ages, as well as in the scholarship averages, the boys and girls were almost equal.

At the Lindblom High school two girls divided the honor of representing their class both having an average of 3.81 on the basis of four points being equal to an average of 95.25 using 100 points as the basis. There is, however, a difference of two years in the ages of these girls, one being 16 and the other 18.

To all of these school children marriage is a vague problem for the distant future, questioning of them revealed. Some, mostly girls, have decided on business careers.

The occupations that the future college graduates expect to follow varied widely.

Would Be City Editor.

Katherine Tuach, 17, of the Bowen high school, who came from Scotland six years ago, declared she will be a city editor.

Science, literature, and languages took equal rank in interest. For several of the boys and for two girls mathematics had charm.

Those not expecting to attend college planned for technical or commercial studies.

The names, ages of the valedictorians and their schools are as follows:

Medill—David Ginsburg, 19.
Marshall—Saul Weinberg, 16.

Whitie and his Drake Orchestra in Chicago's newest dance sensation
—Direction Mel Snyder

"It's a marvel!"

Whitie's Drake Orchestra! The leader himself a famous pianist, already a Brunswick recording artist. Violinist, drums, saxophones—stars who have been featured by Isham Jones, Mark Fisher, Paul Whiteman. And Al Carsello is here with his magic accordion; Mel Snyder with Mel Snyder's voice! Let them cast their spell. Come—dance to their haunting syncopations.

If you like delicious food—unsurpassed anywhere—and music just as out of the ordinary, you'll find the gay garden setting of THE DRAKE lakeside dining room a fascinating place to spend these summer evenings.

As for dancing, the captivating melodies of Whitie and his Drake Orchestra fairly lend wings to your feet. Chicago has seldom presented an orchestra received with such instant enthusiasm. The nightly crowds come back and back—you'll understand why when you've once danced to the hypnotizing strains of these famous music makers.

From 6:30 to 8:30 nightly, except Sunday, a delicious table d'hote dinner is served—$2.50—which includes the evening's dancing. A la carte cover charge 50c. After 8:30 the usual charge per person $1.25, Saturday nights $2.50. Informal—For reservations phone Superior 2200

UNDER THE FAMOUS BLACKSTONE MANAGEMENT KNOWN THE WORLD OVER

Different Methods Needed to Kill Different Kinds of Bugs

Millions of housewives have found that spraying Black Flag Liquid is the deadliest method of killing flies, mosquitoes, and other flying pests. It's so simple. The insects buzz around. You see them. You hear them. You spray Black Flag, and down they fall. Not merely stupefied. But absolutely dead!

But roaches, bed bugs, fleas and other crawling pests hide in cracks. You don't see them. For they won't come out while you're around. So you've got to have something that will kill them when they do come out—no matter where you happen to be.

Use Black Flag Powder, rather than Liquid. Blow it into cracks. The Powder won't evaporate. It stays where you blow it. When the insects come out of their hiding places—they crawl through the powder. They breathe it in. And Black Flag's secret ingredient kills them—quickly, surely. Powder also kills fleas on dogs.

Black Flag, in both powder and liquid form, is the deadliest insect-killer made. (Money back if it doesn't prove so.) The Liquid costs only 25 cents for half a pint—just one-half of the price of other liquid insect-killers. The powder, packed in glass to prevent spoiling, costs 15 cents, and up. Both liquid and powder are the surest known death to all household insect pests.

Some people prefer Black Flag Liquid to kill flying pests—Powder to kill crawling pests, including ants.

STOCKS BOUNCE BACK; SCARED TRADERS RELAX

Upturn Spoils Day for Bargain Hunters.

BY TOM PETTEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 13.—[Special.]—The bargain hunters, after yesterday's smash, went shopping in Wall street today, but they were met with a tide of rising prices. The financial district decided overnight that Hoover wasn't such a bad fellow after all and forgot about the Republican presidential campaign in a rally that shot prices back 2 to 15 points. The butcher, the baker, the candlestick maker and their thinly margined friends are breathing a bit easier tonight.

There was tumult on the stock exchange floor today, but none of the collar-tearing frenzy that marked yesterday's riotous 5,000,000 share session. The market opened in a flashy spurt and traders were tugging at one another's coat tails all morning, but in the afternoon they grew more orderly and transactions for the day fell just short of the 4,000,000 mark.

Baldwin Leads Comeback.

Baldwin Locomotive, with its 15 point net gain, the right-about-face movement of the recognized market leaders, and the smart recovery of the bank stocks featured the trading.

After yesterday's storm, Wall street today found itself at the foot of its financial rainbow and there was nothing there but a crock of ticker tape. "Well, we've hit bottom at last," was the word that ran up and down each side of the street and was heard above the din on the floor of the exchange.

But when the market began to bounce back the rainbow again took on rosy tints and the close found the traders digging just as feverishly as ever for the "pot of gold."

John Bouvier, the oldest active trader on the floor, chewed happily on the stub of his unlighted black cigar. He leaned against the wall reading a newspaper this morning. Yesterday his tired eyes never wandered from the illuminated tape that runs around the huge room.

Steel Crowd Happier.

Oliver B. Bridgeman, the steel specialist, slim and straight with his short gray moustache and shining head, was as active as any of his younger companions around Post No. 1. J. L. Warden, another steel man who hides behind horn rimmed glasses was smiling broadly as he fixed a fresh carnation in his coat lapel.

Howard Logan, former Chicago trader, who buys and sells anything for any one, was dashing from post to post just as he did at the height of the trading yesterday.

Stuyvesant Fish Jr., one of the tallest men on the floor, and Earl Smith, youthful husband of Consuelo Vanderbilt, found time today to chat for a minute. Yesterday they went without lunch.

Lost Glasses Found.

F. V. Brodil, who won his seat two weeks ago, lost his glasses in the melee yesterday, but they were perched safely on his nose today.

E. H. Simmons, president of the exchange, was taking things easy after the debacle.

Today there were 1,500 on the floor. Yesterday afternoon more than 2,000 milled and squeezed around the posts. Approximately 1,000 of these human dynamos are member traders, the others are messengers and clerks who hope some day to make the grade.

YOUTH HELD FOR ROBBING WOMAN.

Louis Poulos, 19, who is charged with snatching a package of money from Miss Edith Katz, cashier for the North Shore Food Products company, 427 South Morgan street, was held to the grand jury yesterday in bonds of $10,000 when he was arraigned in the Boys' court.

UTILITIES AND COLLEGES OFTEN HELP EACH OTHER

Their Team Work Is Related by Witness.

Washington, D. C., June 13.—(AP)—Contacts established by the Texas public service information bureau and the Southwestern Public Service association with college professors and educational institutions in the southwest, particularly in Texas, were described today by C. W. Davis of Dallas, chairman of the bureau, at the federal trade commission's utility investigation.

Another witness, S. J. Ballinger, secretary of the southwestern division of the National Electric Light association, testified that his organization in Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Louisiana and Mississippi planned to spend $80,000 this year on public relation work.

His organization, Ballinger said, already had paid the expenses of a meeting of professors called by Dean C. O. Ruggles, formerly of Ohio State university, at New Orleans to discuss utility courses in colleges. He added that the expenses of many professors to this gathering had been paid.

Davis testified that the Texas Agricultural and Mechanical college was used by the southwestern association as an avenue through which a survey of rural electrification was made.

Davis declared that the Texas utility companies were thorough in their contacts with educational institutions, making them through personal acquaintance and joint work with them.

The third witness of today's session, Hugh M. Blain of New Orleans, director of the Louisiana-Mississippi committee on public utility information, declared that T. H. Harris, superintendent of education for Louisiana, granted him permission on Dec. 13, 1927, to distribute thousands of utility pamphlets to the schools in the state.

With the consent of the utility companies and the president of Tulane university at New Orleans, Blain also testified he had held a position as instructor in journalism.

ALDERMAN SEEKS TO SPEED ACTION ON LAKE AIRPORT

Clark to Call All Agencies Into Conference.

Action is needed at once to solve Chicago's air needs, it was declared yesterday by Ald. John S. Clark, chairman of the city council finance committee, apropos of the widespread discussion as to the feasibility of establishing a $5,000,000 airport upon an island off Grant park in Lake Michigan.

Ald. Clark announced that within thirty days he will request the various agencies working over plans for the project to meet with his committee. These agencies include representatives of the Illinois Central railroad, the city, the south park commission, and the government, the latter being represented by Col. Edward Schulz, federal engineer here.

Must Be On Fall Ballot.

"Whoever builds the new port, the city or the south park commission, the necessary bond issue must be upon the ballot next November," said Alderman Clark. "Therefore it's time for this thing to be thrashed out, and the finance committee is going to take the initiative in trying to get it thrashed out."

Ald. Clark stated that the latest discussion, involving the objections of a number of pilots to the lake front site, will play its part toward bringing to a conclusion one way or the other the seemingly interminable "conversations" of the interested agencies in the construction of the airport.

"I'm not unheedful of criticisms against the Grant park site coming from the pilots, who are the men who actually do the work, and at risk of their own lives," said the alderman, "but the advantages of locating the port upon the lake front are manifold.

Seeks Views of All.

"I'm convinced that before the final step is taken, if it falls to the lot of the city to build this port, that everybody qualified to know anything about flying, pilots included, should have the opportunity to give their views before public sessions of the committee."

Ald. Dorsey Crowe [42d], in announcing a conference of the council air committee, of which he is chairman, for next Friday morning, declared he also favored inviting the opinions of experienced aviators.

"I'm addressing a letter tonight to every member of the Chicago aero commission urging that the fullest inquiry be made before the city or anybody else is committed to the lake front port," said Ald. Crowe, who was an army flyer during the world war.

Doubts Amount of Fog.

"I don't think a flyer's opinion should be taken lightly, but perhaps conditions along the lake front are not nearly so bad as flyers paint them. I doubt if there's as much fog as clings to the Des Plaines river valley, adjoining the former field at Maywood.

"Personally, I favor the lake front site. I believe if its dimensions are made large enough, the features objected to by the pilots may be obviated. Anyway, the field's worth $5,000,000 of Chicago's money. Even if found impractical as an air port, the island would bring untold riches to Chicago in a dozen other ways."

U. S. Tax Board to Hear Reduction Appeals Here

The United States Board of Tax Appeals will open hearings on June 18 at the Palmer house, at which pleas will be heard of corporations, estates and other heavy taxpayers for reductions of their federal taxes.

THE GREAT GOODRICH FLEET

12 Modern Steamships - 12 Floating Cities

Acres and Acres of Deck Area

Half-a-million passengers traveled on Goodrich Steamships during 1927! Vacationists, excursionists, business travelers. A glorious tribute from a confident public! Government statistics show that you are safer on a Goodrich ship than you are in your own home.

This year, you too, come out for a real vacation on old Lake Michigan. Clean, water-washed air! Join the happy throng whose increasing numbers already promise a banner year in 1928!

Miles of delightful promenades! Only a few cities in the United States can boast a population exceeding the great numbers comfortably accommodated on Goodrich Steamships each year.

It was in 1856 that the first Goodrich steamship plowed its way across the waters of Lake Michigan. Three generations have enjoyed Goodrich service.

Today 12 modern cities afloat fly the Goodrich flag. Each ship is of a type and construction of proved seaworthiness. Each has every accommodation for the safety, convenience and comfort of passengers. Competent masters are in charge. Carefully selected crews extend the courteous and efficient service that has made the Goodrich name the standard in lake travel.

Half Century Safety Record!

A half-century of safety is the Goodrich record! Not a life has been lost on a Goodrich boat by an accident on Lake Michigan during this long period. A remarkable record for a line that has carried more than 20,000,000 passengers since service began! Constant attention of vigilant crews and frequent, rigid inspections by Goodrich and Government officials insure the efficient operation that has made this wonderful safety record possible.

All this summer there will be regular daily and double-daily trips. Service between Chicago and cities and resorts on both sides of Lake Michigan.

Make your plans now for several Goodrich trips this summer.

MAIMED VETERAN OF WARD BATTLE TALKS TO JURORS

One of Many to Tell of 20th Fight April 10.

Evidence dealing directly with alleged election frauds in the bloody 20th ward, bossed by Morris Eller, city collector and Thompson-Crowe nominee for sanitary district trustee, was presented to the special vote fraud grand jury yesterday afternoon. This is the first evidence submitted to the jury headed by F. Edson White, president of Armour & Co., bearing directly on the casting of fraudulent votes in the last primary.

Hears Gun Prompted Voter.

Special Prosecutor Frank J. Loesch, who is also president of the Chicago crime commission, said the jury was given evidence to show that illiterate persons were voted in the 20th in violation of the law and that at least one case was shown where a man was forced at the point of a gun to vote as an illiterate, even though he was not.

Under the law it is necessary, Mr. Loesch said, for an illiterate to make an affidavit and that two persons must accompany him in the booth to mark his ballot so that no fraud can be committed.

The affidavit feature was entirely ignored, it is charged, and in most cases so was the requirement as to witnesses.

This evidence with testimony on kidnaping of election workers and the assaulting of others, is leading to the higher ups, the prosecutor indicated. He said the jury may be in a position next week to vote a blanket conspiracy indictment.

One colored election worker appeared before the jury with part of his left arm shot off. He was the victim of the violence on election day in the 20th ward. His name as well as the names of others were withheld because of the fear of retaliation against them, because they dared to tell their story to the jury.

The jury is searching for evidence, it was said, as to the conspiracy which caused the establishment in the Eller ward, within a block of the home of Judge Emanuel Eller and almost around the corner from the Maxwell police station, of a "detention home for kidnaped poll workers."

Three Wards, One "Prison."

The jurors consider it significant, Mr. Loesch indicated, that workers from three wards—the 2[illegible]th, where the leader is Joseph Savage, former assistant prosecutor; the 27th, where Homer K. Galpin holds sway, and the 20th, where the Ellers have their stronghold—should be brought to one central headquarters and held prisoner until the polls closed.

BUSINESS BUREAU MOVES TO DRIVE OUT RACKETEERS

Plans were made at a special meeting of the Chicago Better Business bureau at a luncheon in the Morrison hotel yesterday to call the business men of the city into a general conference in order to stamp out the racketeer and the shady dealers from the commercial life of the city. The meeting yesterday was the first of a series.

George Lytton, president of the bureau, and Flint Grinnell, manager, announced that they are starting a drive for a fund of $150,000 to carry on the fight.

Invite Smaller Dealers.

The meeting yesterday was attended by executives from various large business institutions, but the later conferences are expected to bring in the smaller neighborhood dealers, who, it was pointed out, will be benefitted by putting the racketeer out of business.

"We have undertaken a big job, but we will be successful if we have the support of honest business men," said Mr. Lytton. "The racketeers and the crooked business men are yellow and easily stamped out if a concerted drive is made against them."

Results of Investigations.

Grinnell pointed out that his bureau has made investigations and stamped out evil practices in various merchandising lines as well as fraudulent advertising.

"Chicago must keep its reputation as an honest trading center," he said. "In order to maintain the reputation it is up to the honest business men to support the drive to put the racketeer and dishonest dealer out of existence. By so doing, the legitimate enterprise profits because money is diverted into that channel which would otherwise find its way into the pockets of the crooks."

FOUR CHICAGO GIRLS HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENT

No deaths were reported yesterday in automobile accidents, Cook county's 1928 motor toll remaining at 415.

Four young women from Chicago, en route home after a vacation in northern Michigan, were injured in an automobile accident on the Dunes highway seven miles east of Michigan City, Ind. They are Grace Rogan, 24, of South Park way and Oakwood boulevard; Dorothy Swanson, 22, of 1732 West Adams street; Irene Ferguson, 29, of 2240 South Whipple street, and Jeannette North, 24, of 5228 South Michigan avenue.

Thirty passengers on a Sheridan road bus were shaken up, when it crashed into an automobile at Sheridan road and Rokeby street.

Joseph Gross, 60 years old, was knocked down by an automobile in front of his home, 1651 South Harding avenue, while carrying his sick grandson, Kenneth Gross, 2 years old, to a doctor. The child's skull was fractured.

SCHOOL BOARD SUES TEACHERS; SEEKS $200,000

The board of education yesterday filed suit to collect $200,000 from 112 teachers and principals more than 70 years of age who were recently reinstated by an Appellate court decision that held their retirement on half pay was invalid.

The board, through Attorney Frank S. Righeimer, takes the position that, since the emeritus teachers rule was found invalid, then payments made in accordance with the rule were illegal and should be returned. The teachers, however, contend that, since their retirement on half pay was illegal, they are entitled to the half of their salary they didn't receive, or approximately $200,000 more. Arguments will be heard Monday by Circuit Judge Hugo M. Friend.

BUTCHER IS FINED.

Frank Kahn, owner of a meat market at 1507 East 63d street, was fined $10 and costs yesterday by Judge Charles F. McKinley on a charge of selling adulterated meat. Health department inspectors were the complainants.

Paint Your Cheeks From the Inside

Rosy complexions and clear skin come with internal cleanliness

A clear, soft, youthful skin, and bright sparkling eyes are signs of radiant health.

Poor complexions usually travel hand in hand with Internal Poisoning, a condition caused by decay-producing germs in the intestinal tract. These germs create poisons which are quickly absorbed into the blood, later to manifest themselves in pimples, boils, and other skin blemishes.

Brook Hill Acidophilus Milk is putting youthful color into thousands of smiling faces everywhere, because it is the natural champion of perfect health. It contains no drugs or medicine, but its millions of energizing cells drive out the germs of decay. With the germs gone, poisoning stops. With the blood freed of poisons, the improvement shows in the skin and complexion.

—and the Roads That Once Were Open Will be Open Once Again

Twenty million automobiles crowd the once open roads.

A hundred million people seeking freedom from the drabness of daily life ride up and down the modern version of the trails of pioneers.

Yet still there throbs in every vein, the old American call to romance and adventure, still the lure of going somewhere to meet the thrill of the unexpected.

But it's hard to get beyond the multitude in ordinary cars. There are so many of them. They fill so much of highways that were lonely yesterday.

There is a way to leave the crowds behind. There is a car so swift, so comfortable, so dependable, that you can reach and cross the farthest horizon with ease.

It is the Reo Flying Cloud of 1929.

Roads that once were open are open roads again when you drive this pleasure-car.

For the Reo Flying Cloud laughs at sluggish traffic as it alertly beats the rest to every opening.

Hour after hour, it will hit a higher average speed to take you farther than the average car can cruise.

Gayly it takes the roughest roads, the steepest climbs, the widest plains.

With a zest that's all its own, it sails you out to the roads that are still open, while making the roads that once were open seem uncrowded because it does so many things better.

There's a new Reo Flying Cloud of 1929 here for you to test. Try it out in every way you wish. Let it tell its story to you in its own sweet-running way. It will show you how the roads that once were open will be open once again.

The Brides and Grooms of 91 Junes

Twenty-five years before the Civil War—when Chicago's beautiful boulevards were a mesh-work of crooked trails and her citizens a handful of sturdy pioneers—Elijah Peacock's store was the first and only jewelry house in the section . . . When a June wedding was far more important to the industrial life of that little community than a presidential election, it was ELIJAH PEACOCK who furnished the bride with her wedding ring and silver and the rarest gifts to be had at the time . . . As the years passed, and Chicago grew, grew also her preference for Peacock's as a Wedding centre . . . It became the middle west headquarters for Diamonds, Watches, Silver, Crystal and China . . . This month, the House of Peacock—founded, owned and continuously operated by Peacocks—celebrates its ninety-first birthday, together with the first anniversary in the magnificent new store at State and Monroe Streets. The achievements of today stand as a monument to the historic role of the past . . . Never have June mornings dawned upon so impressive an array of beautiful gifts. Never have the Peacock collections been so complete—from the least of glorified necessities to the most exquisite frivolities and rarest of kingly imports. For the Wedding or Anniversary Gift come to Peacock's.

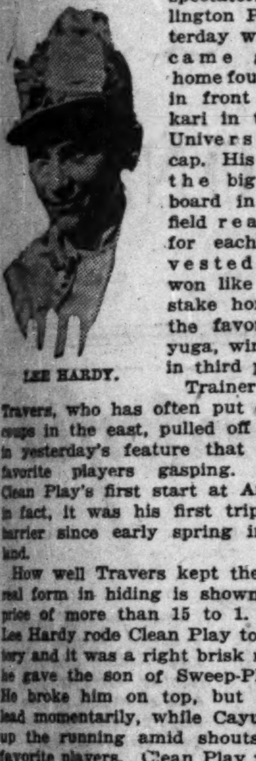
CLEAN PLAY IS STAKE WINNER AT ARLINGTON

Stuns Form Players to Pay $32.48.

BY FRENCH LANE.



LEE HARDY.

Clean Play dropped from out of the skies and stunned most of the 11,000 spectators at Arlington Park yesterday when he came galloping home four lengths in front of Sankari in the Miss Universe handicap. His odds on the big betting board in the infield read $32.48 for each $2 invested and he won like a great stake horse with the favorite, Cayuga, winding up in third place.

Trainer Willie Travers, who has often put over big coups in the east, pulled off the one in yesterday's feature that left the favorite players gasping. It was Clean Play's first start at Arlington, in fact, it was his first trip to the barrier since early spring in Maryland.

How well Travers kept the horse's real form in hiding is shown by the price of more than 15 to 1. Jockey Lee Hardy rode Clean Play to his victory and it was a right brisk ride that he gave the son of Sweep-Play Toy. He broke him on top, but lost the lead momentarily, while Cayuga took up the running amid shouts of the favorite players. Clean Play was just playing with Cayuga, however.

Runs Like Express Train.

At the end of a furlong he had headed Cayuga and Hardy had him running in front. From there home it was just a question of how far Clean Play would win. He rounded the last bend going like an express train, and this tremendous speed killed off Cayuga.

From far back there came a flash of brown. This was Sankari, late of the Rancocas stable, and he was closing ground in tremendous strides. But Sankari, as fast and game as he was, started his run too late. He ran over the rest of the field, but was 4 lengths behind the flying leader when the race ended.

Clean Play's time for the 6 furlongs was 1:11 3-5, one of the fastest races run here this season. He paid $11.40 place and $6.38 to show.

Rurik Provides Upset.

An upset came in the running of the secondary feature when the Viking stable's Lawley, close up in last Saturday's American Derby, failed to get any part of the purse. He was backed down to a 3 to 5 odds on favorite and tried to keep step with the leaders for the first five furlongs. But at the end of the seven furlongs, Rurik, running in the blue silks of L. M. Newgass of Chicago, was the winner by a length and a half. Mop Up got second money and Shasta Nut third.

It was the second start Rurik has made here and his second victory. His price in the mutuels was $8.04, and he was in front almost from start to finish with Jockey Yelton letting him take it easy at the end.

The card offered at Arlington was one of the best run here this year. Only three events carried the claiming clause. Some high grade juveniles clashed in the five furlong third race. Vinado, the favorite, was the winner after Jockey Peternel brought him from behind and nipped Johnson N. Camden's Princeton, in the closing stride.

Smiling Gus Pays 6-1.

War Rose, from the Mira Monte stock farm of California, was up in time to take third money. Protectio, from the stable of Mrs. J. D. Hertz, ran with the leaders during most of the race, after having been shuffled back at the start. When he started to come again a sixteenth from home, he found no path to go through which probably accounted for his failure to get any part of the purse.

Smiling Gus at 6 to 1, and an old time Chicago favorite, was the winner of the other allowance event. He raced close to the others most of the way and Jockey Kelly brought him up with a tremendous rush late and he lasted long enough to shake off Bright Shawl.

CHICAGO TRAP SHOOTERS WIN IN CANADIAN MEET

TECUMSEH, Ont., June 13.—(AP)—Combatting a high wind that caused unusually low scores in the international trap shooting tournament today, Walter G. Warren, Chicago, made the high score for the day by breaking 198 out of 200 targets. He ran his first 100 straight and broke 98 out of his second 100 targets to win the class A title. C. Bogart of Sandusky, O., broke 197 clay birds to take second place.

In class B, Nelson Long of Hamilton, Ont., tied with K. E. Mitchell of Dunkirk, O., for first place. Each broke 192 targets. J. S. Losee of Hebron, Ill., captured the class C title with a score of 194. Honors in class D went to Reg James, 20 year old Chicagoan, with 190.

SPEAKING OF SPORTS

BY DON MAXWELL.

Several alleged race horse experts were "throwing the figures" on the entries for the following day when an inevitable argument opened. "Name the best three year old of the year," challenged one. Four responded. Two picked Reigh Count. One liked Toro, and the fourth suggested Victorian. The discussion was on.

Each cited records of races won, time, and track conditions to prove his pick the best.

Backers of Reigh Count seemed on the highest ground. The big red colt has been started only two times this year. But both times he won easily. His victory in the Kentucky Derby was particularly impressive because of the handicap of the sloppy track, and the quality of the field beaten.

Toro's booster was forced to gloss over defeat in the Preakness, and the Kentucky and Fairmount Derbies. He made the most of the decisive way [five lengths] in which the eastern colt defeated Misstep, Strolling Player and a half dozen other good three year olds at Arlington last Saturday. "Toro only now has reached top form," his advocate argued. "From now on there'll be no chance to dispute his kingship of the three year olds."

Victorian's partisan boasted of the Whitney colt's eastern victories this year, stressing the Preakness win. He attempted to explain defeat in the Belmont stakes on the basis of a badly judged ride by Sonny Workman.

The argument proved nothing, which is not unusual, but it offered a suggestion which Maj. McLaughlin at Arlington Park, or Col. Winn of Lincoln Fields, might happily follow up.

Because of Reigh Count's injury and subsequent inability to run for the Belmont stakes the question of three year old supremacy this season remains so far at least unanswered. There is a chance, of course, that all of the claimants of the championship will run at Saratoga. But unless our informants err there is no one race planned for which the winners of the Preakness, the Kentucky, Fairmount, and American Derbies and the Belmont stakes are all eligible.

Here is Chicago's opportunity. Let the management of Lincoln Fields or Arlington Park arrange a match for the winners of these five 3 year old events. Let them offer a purse of $25,000 with the owners of each of the five horses, Victorian, Reigh Count, Misstep, Toro, and Vito putting up $5,000 "a corner." The five three year olds would be running for a pot of gold; the question of three year old championship honors would be decided, and race fans everywhere attracted.

Arlington might schedule such a race during its second meeting; Col. Winn could well afford to add it to one of his well balanced cards. We're not concerned so much as to where it would be run, as we are that Chicago have the fun of watching it.

Turf experts may pick a peck of flaws in this suggestion. Let 'em. There's no charge for the idea.

Mons. Mullens beams as he announces that $90,000 already is in the till and a $150,000 gate assured for the Walker-Hudkins battle. And that announcement might be cause for amazement were not the attractiveness of the coming title bout so apparent. The boxing business has not been prospering in New York for the last several months. The customers have seemed box office shy. But the trouble might be found in the match making department.

That is where Mons. Mullen is fortunate. Walker and Hudkins, trite as it sounds, are each blessed with a punch. There ought to be sufficient action in their meeting to make up for the deficiency in a good many fights staged hereabouts. No one ever has accused boxing fans of being bored by hard hitting.

Speaking of boxers those of you who saw George Hoffman humble our Mr. Radke in the heavyweight clash of the intercity golden glove tournament, will be interested to hear that Hoffman has continued deaf to professional offers. He'll remain an amateur until after his participation as American heavyyeight champion in the Olympic games.

Any European heavyweight desiring information concerning Hoffman's punch may obtain the same from Mr. Radke.

SENIORS BRAVE GALE IN TUNEUP FOR STATE MEET

Brawley's 80 Tops Field on Rockford Course.

BY HARLAND ROHM.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Rockford, Ill., June 13.—A hundred and twenty of the Illinois Senior Golf association old boys—from 50 years up to more than the biblical span of three score and ten—tossed aside the cares of home and children, business and politics at the Rockford Country club this afternoon and played golf with the spirit of youth in the fifth annual spring tournament.

The golf this afternoon, after most of the players had arrived from Chicago on a special train, was more or less of a tune up, a practice round with old friends. The real tournament with the old boys playing in five classes will begin at 8:30 o'clock this morning.

Stiff Gale Sweeps Course.

Despite a stiff gale which swept the course and pulled shots into sand traps and the beautiful Rock river which borders the course, to say nothing of giving a well hit ball wild rolls on the hilly fairways, the practice golf was first class.

Dr. Frank Brawley of Flossmoor, had the best round of the day, shooting 39—41—80. Brawley gave evidence he'll give Charles W. Booth of Midlothian, present champion, a stiff battle. Booth today went around in 43—41—84, but wasn't putting, so he's likely to be lower tomorrow.

Joseph Leduc of Bunker Hill, a new member, was out in 43, but found his game coming back so decidedly he came in in 39 for 82. Winthrop Ingersoll of Rockford, who a few years ago gave Rockford a municipal golf course, also had a 42—40—82, with five on the par 3 first hole and seven on the par 4 twelfth.

Traylor Shoots an 86.

Melvin Traylor, president of the U. S. G. A., had a pair of 43s, which put him up among the unofficial leaders. His card included a deuce on the short sixth. Incidently, Charles Beach of Olympia Fields, one of the older seniors who has been seriously ill, also had a deuce on that hole, laying a pitch within two feet of the cup.

Tomorrow, play will be in the five classes for four low net prizes and two putting prizes in each class. Class A is for seniors 70 years and over; class B, 65 to 69 years, inclusive; class C, 60 to 64 years, inclusive; class D, 55 to 59 years, inclusive, and class E, 50 to 54 years, inclusive.

At the last meeting of the seniors the membership was increased from 350 to 400 and the following were advanced from the waiting list to regular membership:

Charles F. Samma, Butterfield; Dr. C. W. Morrow, Midlothian; Harry B. Runyan, Green Valley; Thos. H. Clagett, Green Valley; J. N. Van Patten, Rock Island Arsenal golf club; J. C. Hornung, Skokie; Chester Cleveland, Glen Flora; Markham B. Orde, Skokie; Roscoe S. Chapman, Rockford; Eugene S. Garnett, Skokie; Edward Haupt, Skokie; George M. Spangler, Skokie; E. C. Divine, Skokie; Dr. D. C. Orcutt, Skokie; Daniel G. Swannell, Champaign; Henry O'Callaghan, Butterfield; Charles H. MacDowell, Glenview; Dr. George W. Hall, Flossmoor; Edward G. Pratt, Rockford; D. T. Mervine, La Grange; Tom R. Wyles, Exmoor; Charles T. Atkinson, Onwentsia; L. A. Downs, Old Elm; J. H. Young, Westmoreland; Edward E. Carry, Old Elm; H. B. Eigelberner, Oak Park; Charles O. Loucks, Park Ridge; A. P. Webster, Rock Island Arsenal golf club; Joseph C. Leduc, Bunker Hill; James L. Martin, Exmoor; Dr. Wm. H. Roth, Blakewood [St. Andrews], and John P. O'Connor, Westmoreland.

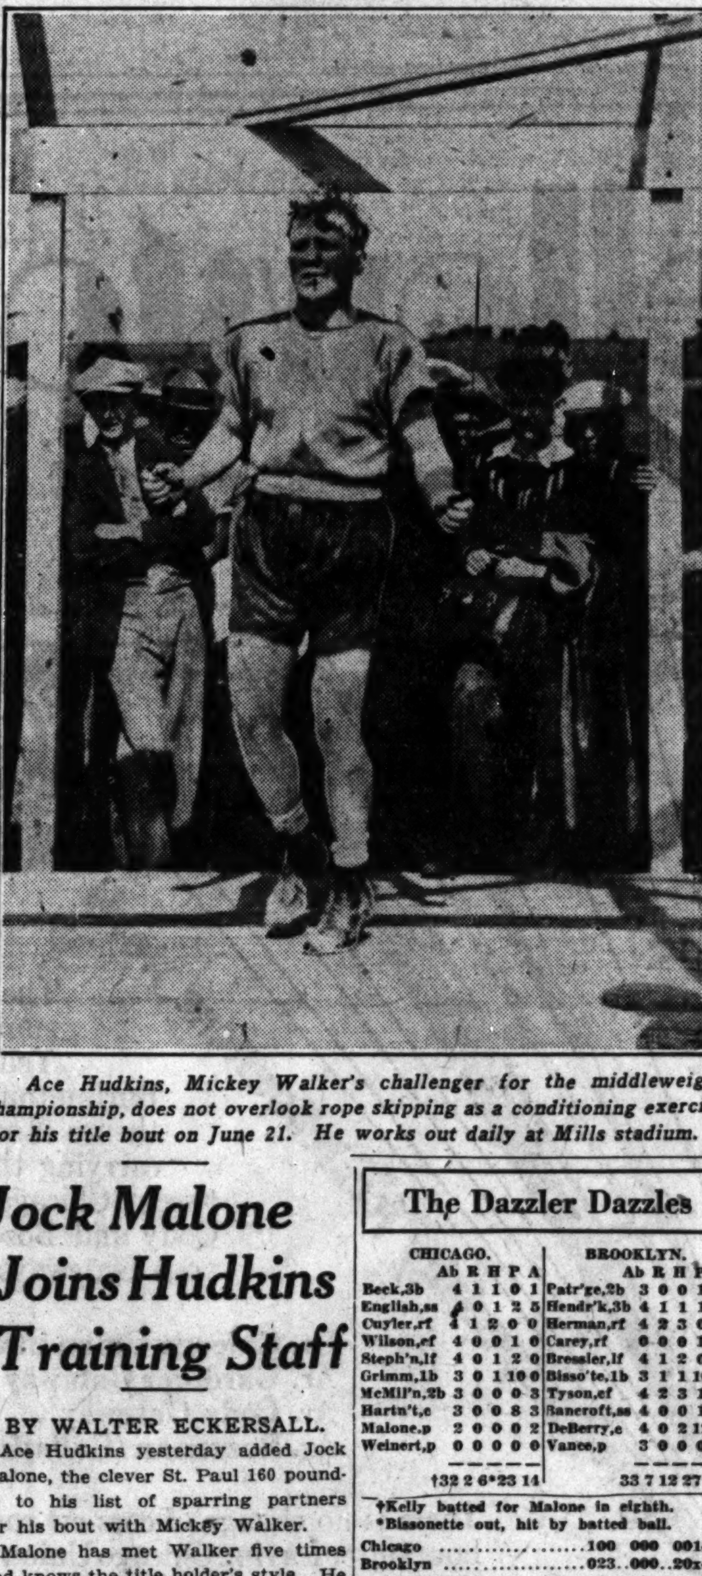
SKIPPING TOWARD TITLE?



Ace Hudkins, Mickey Walker's challenger for the middleweight championship, does not overlook rope skipping as a conditioning exercise for his title bout on June 21. He works out daily at Mills stadium.

Jock Malone Joins Hudkins Training Staff

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

Ace Hudkins yesterday added Jock Malone, the clever St. Paul 160 pounder to his list of sparring partners for his bout with Mickey Walker.

Malone has met Walker five times and knows the title holder's style. He lost to the champion at St. Paul last week, but learned enough about Walker's strong and weak points to give Hudkins valuable information. Jock still is considered one of the cleverest fighters in the middleweight division but has never been able to hit because of brittle hands.

The Nebraska Wildcat put in another busy afternoon at the Mills' sadium where he boxed six rounds He worked two rounds with Dixie Kid, two with Johnny Gerardin and as many with Billy Atkinson. Previous to pulling on the gloves, Hudkins skipped the rope for two rounds and punched the bag for an equal number. He did his road work in the morning in Lincoln park.

Walkers' Staff Grows.

Walker added three new sparring partners to his list. Jimmy Mollette, local colored lightweight, was engaged to help speed Mickey's attack. Johnny Hoekstra of Buchanan, Mich., and Billy Sherman of Grand Rapids, Mich., also worked out with the champion. He took on each of them for two rounds and at the close of the eight round session did not appear fatigued. Walker went on the road in Garfield park in the morning.

Both fighters are extremely confident of victory a week from tonight. Each expects to win by a knockout. Hudkins is the more certain of victory. The challenger claims Walker is made to order for him. He is ready to box or slug.

Marriner on Card.

The champion will not work today. Hudkins will train at the Mills stadium at 2:30 o'clock.

Promoter Mullen yesterday announced that Les Marriner, the former Illinois football player, who has been establishing a knockout record, will meet Abe Friedman of Boston in the eight round semi-windup of the Walker show. The easterner weighs 182 pounds and will come west with an impressive record.

VANCE BAFFLES CUBS LIKE KITTY LEAGUERS, 7 TO 2

Star Brooklyn Pitcher Strikes Out Ten.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Brooklyn, N. Y., June 13.—Dazzy Vance had his old phantom ball working this afternoon, which means that it was just too bad for the Chicago Cubs. Pat Malone, himself of some repute as a strikeout specialist, got little inspiration from the work of the whiff king. The score was Brooklyn 7, Cubs 2.

Dazzy sturck out ten, the casualty record in this department reading Beck [3], Wilson [2], McMillan [2], Cuyler [1], Hartnett [1], Malone [1].

Only six hits were made off Vance, no two of which came in the same inning. There were no walks allotted by Mr. Dazzy. Cuyler's home run in the first inning was the only Chicago swat with any thrilling qualities whatsoever. The other Cub run, in the ninth, was full of the spirit of Santa Claus.

Herman Gets Two Homers.

Kiki's was a nice homer but it put vicious ideas into the head of Babe Herman. Babe made two homers—and what terrific affairs they were. They don't hit 'em like that up in St. Paul where Pat was so happy last year.

Herman's two homers, responsible for three runs, were, of course, enough to win the ball game. Which makes it ethical to wail a little about the character of four of the extra base hits made by the Robins. They were the flukiest things you ever saw. We say this to make Pat feel better. An earnest pitcher doesn't like to think that a second division team can make twelve legitimate hits for 22 bases off his delivery.

As it stands, the Cubs can't possibly reach their desired 500 for the eastern trip until they get to Boston Friday. And that's figuring Art Nehf will be a better left hander than Jess Petty in the game here tomorrow.

Tyson's Fly Drops for Double.

The lead which Cuyler's home run in the first inning gave the Cubs lasted till the second when unfortunate work in the outfield game the Robins two runs. Bissonette singled to center. Tyson sent a long, high fly to left center which went for a double when it dropped between Stephenson and Wilson when the pair seemed to get the notion simultaneously there might be a collision. Bissonette stopped at third but came in a minute later on Bancroft's infield out. Deberry sent one to right. Cuyler elected to dive, but missed, the blow going for a triple, scoring Tyson. Vance struck out and Partridge walked. Partridge ended the inning with an unsuccessful attempt to steal second. The score was Robins, 2; Cubs, 1.

The Robins came back for three more runs in the third. Henrick filed to left but Herman got the first 1928 inside-the-park homer at Ebbets field. Bressler beat out a hit to short and went to second on Bisonette's infield out. Tyson dropped a Texas leaguer over second which was a sixteenth of an inch too short for Hack to get off his shoe laces and it went for a double, Bressler scoring. Tyson took third and Bancroft was safe on English's error, Deberry singled to center, scoring Tyson and putting Bancroft on third. Bancroft was eradicated at the plate on an attempted double steal. The score was Robins, 5; Cubs, 1.

Hartnett Pulls Double Play.

Things then were peaceful until the Robins' fifth when a freak double play caused a spirited swarm of Brooklyn debaters. Herman opened with a single to left but was forced at second by Bressler. Bisonette lifted a high foul which went within a foot of the screen. Hartnett juggled it for three or four high hops in the air, then finally got hold of it. Bressler apparently figured the umpires all were watching Gabby's Japanese carnival act and went to second. Gabby threw to Grimm for a double play. Umpire Hart ruled that Bressler left first before the Hartnett catch.

Herman got his second homer in

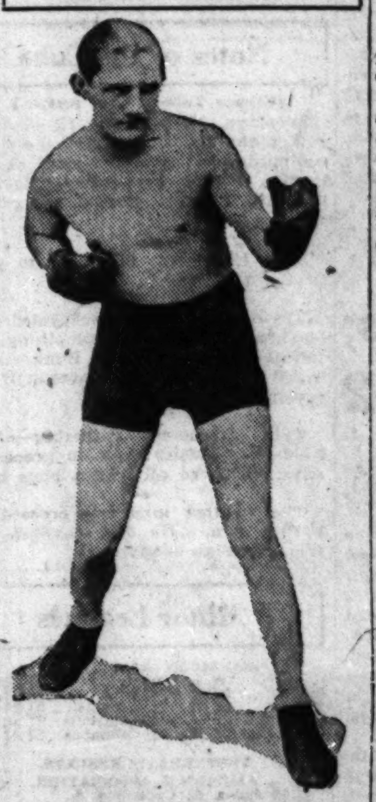
COMING BACK



Pete Latzo, former champion of the welterweights, slows Leo Lomski's climb to 175 pound heights by winning in sixth round on foul.

Lomski Hits Low; Latzo Wins on Foul

Brooklyn, N. Y., June 13.—(AP)—Pete Latzo won on a foul from Leo Lomski in the sixth round of the main bout at Ebbets field tonight. The blow which ended as savage a battle as two human beings could put up without taking clubs was undeniably low.

Lomski had been warned by Referee Lou Magnolia on three occasions in the early rounds. In the fifth Leo dug his right below Pete's belt during a whirling scrimmage on the ropes. Pete claimed a foul and deserved it, but Magnolia did not see it and Latzo fought with one hand holding his groin until he got his bearings.

Lomski had won the first, second, fourth and fifth rounds. Latzo took the third and had the Aberdeen assassin almost out in the sixth when Leo struck the foul blow which ended the fight. Lomski was so dazed and bewildered that Latzo might conceivably have won on a knockout in that session.

The result of the fight will have some effect on the appearance of Mickey Walker at Ebbets field tentatively set for July 4. The usual punishment for a flagrant foul is 30 days and Lomski who was matched with Walker, will not be available on that date, if the commission takes its customary action. There is also the possibility that Latzo, because of his fighting against Lomski and his fine showing with Tommy Loughran, might move into the spot with Walker.

The crowd was estimated at 18,000 and the receipts at $30,000.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

TONY LAZZERI.

Mr. Huggins' Yankees refrained from the usual home run frolic yesterday, but the result was the same. They merely switched to a diet of singles, sprinkled here and there with a triple or double or even a home made error, and in this manner gathered an even break in the four game set with the White Sox by capturing the final, 8 to 6.

Ted Lyons has been known to furnish the New York ball bruisers plenty of trouble, but this was not one of those days. Almost before he knew he was in a ball game Lyons was plastered for four runs and with a lead such as this the champions jogged along easily but always keeping ahead of the Sox who, despite a large number of hits off Waite Hoyt, couldn't solve the problem of how to score more than one or two runs at a time.

Lazzeri Trouble Maker.

With Ruth and Gehrig held to such mediocre things as singles and doubles the real trouble for Lyons broke out in a new spot. Tony Lazzeri spanked a triple that did much of the damage in the first round and he was the innocent cause of a boot by Cissell in the third, when two more scored. He and another fellow wasted a couple of hits in the fifth, but in the seventh he came back with another three bagger to shove home a gentleman who had survived on a Clancy fumble.

Lyons was a good pitcher only until Ruth came up in the first chapter. He walked the Babe and it proved a mistake. Gehrig rapped a single to center and while the ball was being thrown back Babe ran to third and Gehrig to second. Durst bounced a hit past Lyons and Ruth scored. Then Lazzeri dispatched Mostil to right center to recover a triple, Gehrig and Durst counting. Tony came in with the fourth run of the session when Dugan singled to left. After this jolt the 10,000 customers merely hung around to see Babe do something, but he didn't.

Gehrig's Drive Hits Wall.

The Sox happened into their first run in the second because in between singles by Kamm and Lyons, Lazzeri booted one. This apparently irritated the Yanks so they thumped the ball some more in the third, making their total six. Gehrig started it with a double that came painfully close to clearing the right field concrete. Durst drove him in with a single. Cissell booted Lazzeri's grounder on what should have been a double play. An infield out and a long fly followed to let Durst reach the plate.

Schalk's men cornered most of the action for the next few rounds. They picked up one in the half of the third on a single by Clancy and double by Reynolds. They added another in the fourth when Cissell doubled and Mostil singled. One more scored in the sixth when McCurdy doubled and moved up two pegs and as many outs. This left the Yanks only two ahead so they resumed action.

Clancy Stumbles Fielding Ball.

The seventh opened with Gehrig bouncing to Clancy who fell down and endeavored to crawl to the bag. He crawled but left the ball behind him. After Durst had flied out, Lazzeri let loose his second triple, Gehrig scoring. This was followed by two runs in the home seventh. Clancy beat out a scratch hit to Gehrig and completed the trip on Metzler's triple to center. Just as Metzler reached third he noticed that Durocher was fumbling the return throw so he continued homeward and made it with ease.

Then the Yanks stepped up once more and showed that you can't fool with 'em even after two are out. Hoyt and Combs were deposed and Durocher singled to left. Ruth made another single that put Durocher on third. The latter scored the last run of the day when Gehrig hit to right for one base.

COLLEGE CREWS CHURN HUDSON IN TIME TRIALS

Cornell Eights Arrive; Flotilla Complete.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 13.—(AP)—The entire flotilla which will take part in the Intercollegiate Rowing association regatta on the Hudson river here next Tuesday was assembled today with the arrival of three Cornell crews from Lake Cayuga.

Twenty regular eights and several substitute shells dotted the river this evening for the late day workout. Coach Al Ulbrickson sent his three Washington crews up the river with the tide for a time trial over the course. Each eight rowed its respective distance, then started the long pull for the Huskies' rowing camp seven miles up the river, a three mile row, after the time trial was concluded.

Penn Crews in Drill.

Pennsylvania's varsity and junior varsity eights also went over the course in the late afternoon workout.

Cornell, the last to arrive, is now the only crew which has not raced the four miles against the watch on the local course. The Ithacans come to the Hudson with the advantage of their training on Lake Cayuga and probably will be ready for a time trial within a few days.

Columbia Makes Fast Time.

While the official silence concerning the times made in the trials is still unbroken, there is no lack of unofficial rumors concerning the times made by the various crews in their tests yesterday. Those given the widest circulation are that Columbia covered the course in 19 minutes 52 seconds, Navy in 20:40, California in 20:12 and Syracuse in 21 minutes. If these times are anywhere near authentic, they bear out the "dope" that a close race is in prospect, with Columbia and California as the probable winners.

Vance Strikes Out Ten Cubs; Robins Win 7-2

the seventh inning, a beautiful drive that was still rising when it passed the fence. Malone had struck out Vance and Hartridge had flied out. Hendrick singled and came in ahead of Babe on the aforementioned sock. Bressler singled and Bisonette walked. Tyson got credit for a single when his grounder hit Bisonette, causing Del to be called out for interference. The score was Robins, 7; Cubs, 1.

Phil Weinert pitched the eighth inning and was all right. The Cub marker in the ninth was tainted. Beck beat out an infield hit, went to second and third unmolested and scored on Hendrick's error.

Reds Rally with Two Out in 10th to Nip Giants, 5-3

New York, June 13.—(AP)—The Cincinnati Reds made it three out of four by taking the final game of the series from the Giants, 5 to 3, in 10 innings here today. With two out in the tenth, Zitzmann beat out an infield hit, stole second, advanced on O'Farrell's bad throw and scored on Dressen's double. Picinich walked and Ford singled, scoring Dressen.

Jakie May, who shut out the Giants last Sunday, tried an iron man rôle, but weakened toward the finish. Carl Mays, Ray Kolp, and Eppa Rixey followed him to the mound. Score:

U. S. STARS SEEK WORLD NET TITLE AT WIMBLEDON

American, French Davis Cup Teams Entered.

WIMBLEDON, England, June 13.—(AP)—Many of the leading tennis players of the world are gathering here for the Wimbledon championships, beginning June 25. The entries show a strong international flavor, with women stars of half a dozen countries after Miss Helen Wills' singles title.

English tennis critics who have watched the California girl practicing at Wimbledon this week with other of the American Wightman cup team for the international matches with the English team Friday and Saturday have the highest praise for Miss Wills' play, which they say appears greatly improved even over her sterling game of last year.

The men's entry list also is strong, with William T. Tilden and Francis T. Hunter scheduled to defend their doubles championship as well as competing in singles. The other members of the American Davis cup team also are entered.

The French "big four," consisting of Henri Cochet, defending champion; Rene La Coste, Jacques Brugnon, and Jean Borotra, will be on hand, together with Borotra's younger brother, a newcomer to Wimbledon.

HUNTER WINS IN DOUBLES.

SCHEVENINGEN, Holland, June 13.—(AP)—Francis T. Hunter, American Davis cup star, and his partner, Miss Cecile Aussem of Germany, advanced to the fourth round in the mixed doubles of the international tennis tournament here today by defeating the Belgian champions, Miss J. Sigart and Lacroix in three hard sets. The scores were 6-3, 3-6, 7-5.

Rock River Towns Extend Camp Sites to Canoeists

BY BOB BECKER.

When the Chicago boys in THE TRIBUNE canoe cruise lift their paddles and start down the Rock river for the Mississippi the last week of this month there should be no lack of suitable camp sites for the party, as several cities along the river have extended invitations to the expedition to utilize spots which they have set aside on the banks of the stream.

The fleet of canoes carrying Chicago Boy Scouts, their chief scoutmaster, and counselors will start from Rockford. Overnight camps will be made all the way down the Rock until the Mississippi river is reached.

Dixon is one Rock river city which has invited the expedition to spend a night on a camp site within reach of town. Henry W. Hellener, secretary of the chamber of commerce, extended the invitation on behalf of the city. He writes:

"We have just the place for the boys to camp for a night. The site is located on the bank of the Rock. It is high and dry, has a swimming beach in connection, also good drinking water and all camp facilities.

"We are much interested in Boy Scouts in this city and would like THE TRIBUNE canoe party to take advantage of this camp site."

Pup tents are being put in readiness, mess gear is being assembled, and Oscar W. Anderson of the Black Hawk Canoe club of Rockford is lining up canoes for the cruise.

Inasmuch as only boys who are proficient in the use of canoe, as well as swimmers and seasoned campers are eligible for the trip, the party will be made up of older boys who know the outdoors and able to get the most out of this cruise through one of the most beautiful river valleys in the middle west.

The whole town will be STRETCHING!

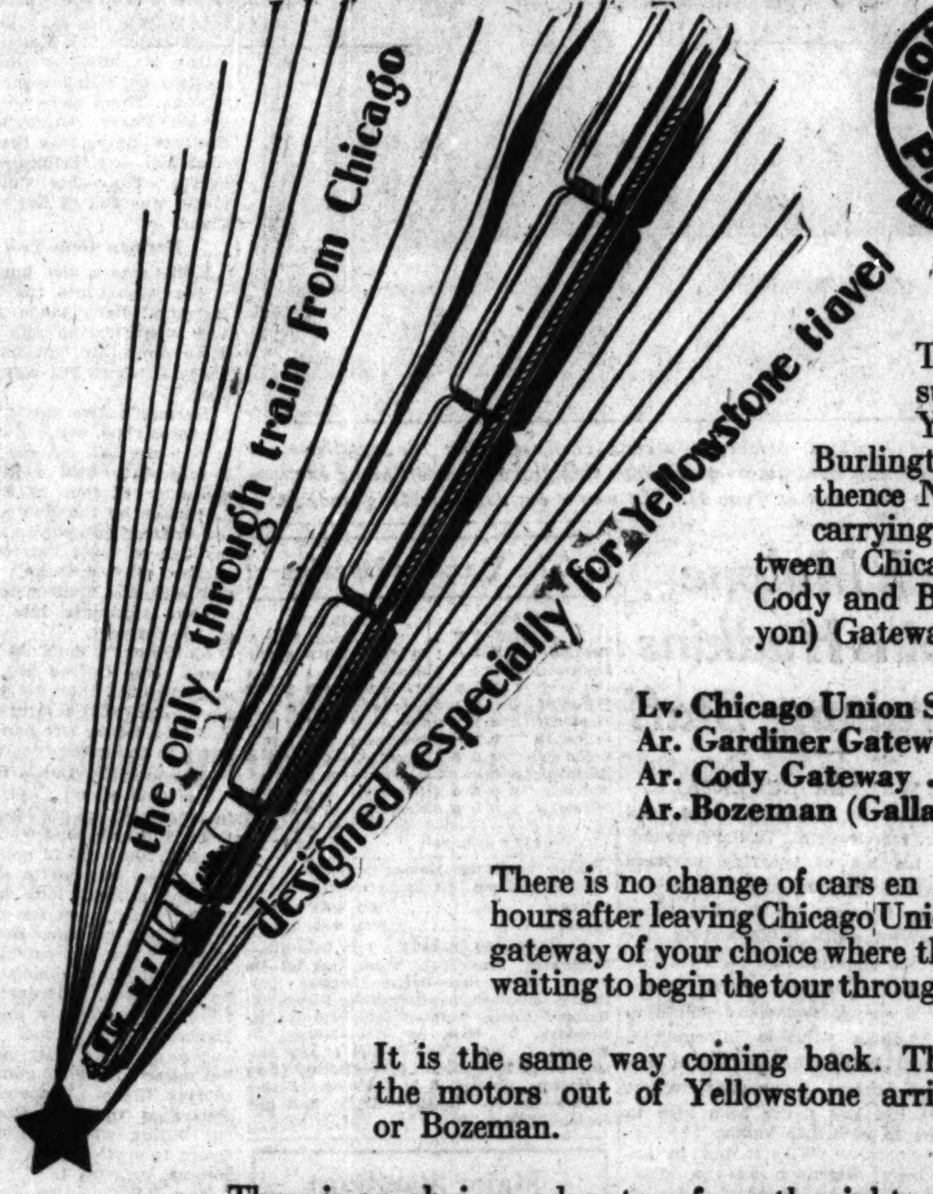
Yellowstone Comet

Burlington Route

NORTHERN PACIFIC
YELLOWSTONE PARK LINE



the only through train from Chicago
designed especially for Yellowstone travel

The COMET is a crack summer train to and from Yellowstone Park via the Burlington Route to St. Paul, thence Northern Pacific Ry.—carrying through Pullmans between Chicago and the Gardiner, Cody and Bozeman (Gallatin Canyon) Gateways of Yellowstone.

Lv. Chicago Union Station 10:35 A.M.
Ar. Gardiner Gateway . . . 9:30 A.M.
Ar. Cody Gateway . . . . . 7:15 A.M.
Ar. Bozeman (Gallatin) . . 7:00 A.M.
SECOND MORNING

There is no change of cars en route. In less than 48 hours after leaving Chicago Union Station you reach the gateway of your choice where the big yellow motors are waiting to begin the tour through the Magic Geyserland.

It is the same way coming back. The train is ready when the motors out of Yellowstone arrive in Cody, Gardiner or Bozeman.

There is an obvious advantage from the sight-seeing standpoint of entering the Park via one gateway and departing via another. It costs nothing extra to do this. "IN via Gardiner—OUT over the Cody Road" is a very popular way. (President Coolidge made the tour this way last year). "COMET" service lends itself efficiently to this travel plan.

I. W. A. C. OPENS OLYMPIC SWIM TRYOUTS TO ALL

Because a youngster from one of the smaller clubs came to her and wanted to know who was going to send the girls of Chicago who didn't belong to the Illinois Women's Athletic Club to the Olympic tryouts for women, Coach Lillian Reilly of the I. W. A. C. announced yesterday that she was going to throw the club's Olympic tryouts open to all Chicago girl swimmers. If the trials develop any promising material among the non-club swimmers, Coach Reilly promises to aid them in getting a chance to compete in the final tryouts. The I. W. A. C. holds its trials tomorrow night. The only requirement that will be imposed on the non-club swimmers is that they meet the rules governing amateurism.

Mrs. Reilly requests that any girl in Chicago who thinks she has the necessary ability to qualify for the 100 meters free style, 400 meters free style, 100 meters back stroke, 200 meters breast stroke or diving from the 10 foot board communicate with her at the I. W. A. C., Superior 7823, before noon tomorrow.

Berg, Mueller Meet in Mills' Show Tonight

Two clever lightweights, Freddie Mueller of Buffalo, N. Y., and Jack Berg of London, Eng., will meet in the main attraction of the boxing show tonight at Mills' stadium, Kilpatrick avenue and Lake street. They will battle ten rounds to a decision and weigh 136 pounds.

Mueller and Berg appeared at the same arena a short time ago. Mueller came from behind to win the decision over Ray Miller of the west side. Freddie overcame a knockdown to win the verdict.

Berg appeared on the same card with Mueller and Miller and won a decision over Pedro Amador of Panama. Off to a bad start, he rallied in the later rounds and had the fans up on their feet cheering at the end. Jack is a right hand socker and knows something about boxing. Both finished training yesterday and are well under the weight.

Of almost equal interest will be the ten round semi-windup between Archie Bell of Brooklyn, N. Y., and young Nationalista, the Filipino. Bell has been selected by the New York boxing commission as one of the opponents for Busby Graham, the world's bantamweight champion.

Joey Medill, the west side lightweight, and Steve McDonald of Toronto, Can., will mingle in the third ten rounder. Both are fast and clever.

THIRTY INDIANS START 480 MILE ROAD RACE TODAY

San Francisco, Cal., June 13.—(AP)—Pet theories and queer ideas will get healthy workouts during the running of the Redwood highway Indian Marathon, which starts in San Francisco tomorrow and will have its ending in Grant's pass, Ore., 480 miles north of here.

Most of the 30 Indians entered intend to wear shoes or moccasins—some will alternate with barefoot running. In last year's race some of the contestants encased their pedal extremities in layers of wet green leaves. Others wrapped rolls of cloth around their feet.

An old trick used by fighters in the early days around here, that of toughening the skin by immersions in salt water, has been adopted by six Zuni.

REIGH COUNT'S GOOD WORKOUT CHEERS TRAINER

Early morning visitors at Arlington Park yesterday saw Reigh Count, the Kentucky Derby winner, in action. It was the first time the big chestnut son of Sun Reigh had been on a race track since he galloped to victory in the Derby at Churchill Downs on May 19. He was given a slow drill of a mile and a half and came out of the rehearsal in fine condition, according to Trainer B. S. Michell. In the saddle on Reigh Count was Jockey Chick Lang, while galloping alongside of him was his illustrious stable mate, Anita Peabody, the Futurity winner.

A field of more than 20 is in prospect for Saturday's running of the $10,000 added American National Juvenile stakes. All the good 2 year olds in the west will be at the barrier, according to the outlook last night. The field will include H. P. Gardner's Clyde Van Dusen, the Nevada Stock farm's Chicleight and Voltear, E. B. McLean's The Okah and Sunnyport; Three D stable's Double Heart and Vermajo, Mrs. J. D. Hertz's Protection, J. N. Camden's Tamina Boris and the Padre, H. P. Headley's Country Boy and Paraphrase, Stuyvesant Peabody's Judea, and the Mira Monte farm's War Buddy, along with several others.

Rougish Eyes, the star 2 year old in Ald. J. J. Coughlin's stable, is not eligible for Saturday's stake, one of the alderman's trainers having neglected to nominate him. This colt won the Bashford Manor stakes in Kentucky and worked five furlongs in a minute flat at Arlington yesterday, which was faster than yesterday afternoon's 2 year old race was run.

The Three D's stable has taken a call on Jockey Willie Fronk for the Juvenile and he will probably ride Double Heart.

Jockey Chick Lang, who has been serving a three day suspension inflicted by Starter Dean, will be eligible to resume riding tomorrow afternoon.

Jockey D. Chamberlain drew a five day suspension for striking Jockey Willie Fronk with his whip during the running of the fourth race.

Ironsides Is Stake Winner at Aqueduct

New York, June 13.—(AP)—Ironsides, R. L. Gerry's son of Man O'War-Bees Wax, led the field in the Broadway handicap, a mile and one sixteenth gallop for three year olds, which was the feature of the card at Aqueduct today. Miss P. Bailey Bradley's Peggy finished second, two lengths behind, and H. P. Whitney's Tantivy third.

After a poor start in which Valkyr was left, Bradley's Peggy jumped into a long lead with Ironsides trailing in second place. At the head of the stretch, McAtee rushed the Gerry colt to the front and won easily. The winner's time was 1:46 1-5. Ironsides was heavily played, closing at 12 to 5. The race was worth $4,175.

MICHELIN RED RING SHAPED TUBES

Michelin Ring Shaped Tubes fit
Ordinary Straight Tubes do not fit

They make Tires Last Longer by keeping them cooler

BECAUSE they are compounded with a special kind of antimony, Michelin Red Ring-Shaped Tubes carry away the heat of the tire. Tires run as much as 20° cooler with Michelin Tubes. That increases tire mileage greatly. And in addition, Michelin Tubes themselves last longer. It certainly pays to use them.

CHARLIE CHAPLIN

in the blindfold cigarette test

OLD GOLD

"One cigarette of the four I smoked in the blindfold test was like shooting a scene successfully after a whole series of failures. It just 'clicked' and I named it as my choice. It was OLD GOLD. Which clears up a mystery, for the supply of OLD GOLDS in my Beverly Hills home is constantly being depleted. It seems that Strongheart and Rin-tin-tin are the only motion picture actor stars who don't smoke them."

Charlie Chaplin

©P. Lorillard Co., Est. 1760

Made from the heart-leaves of the tobacco plant

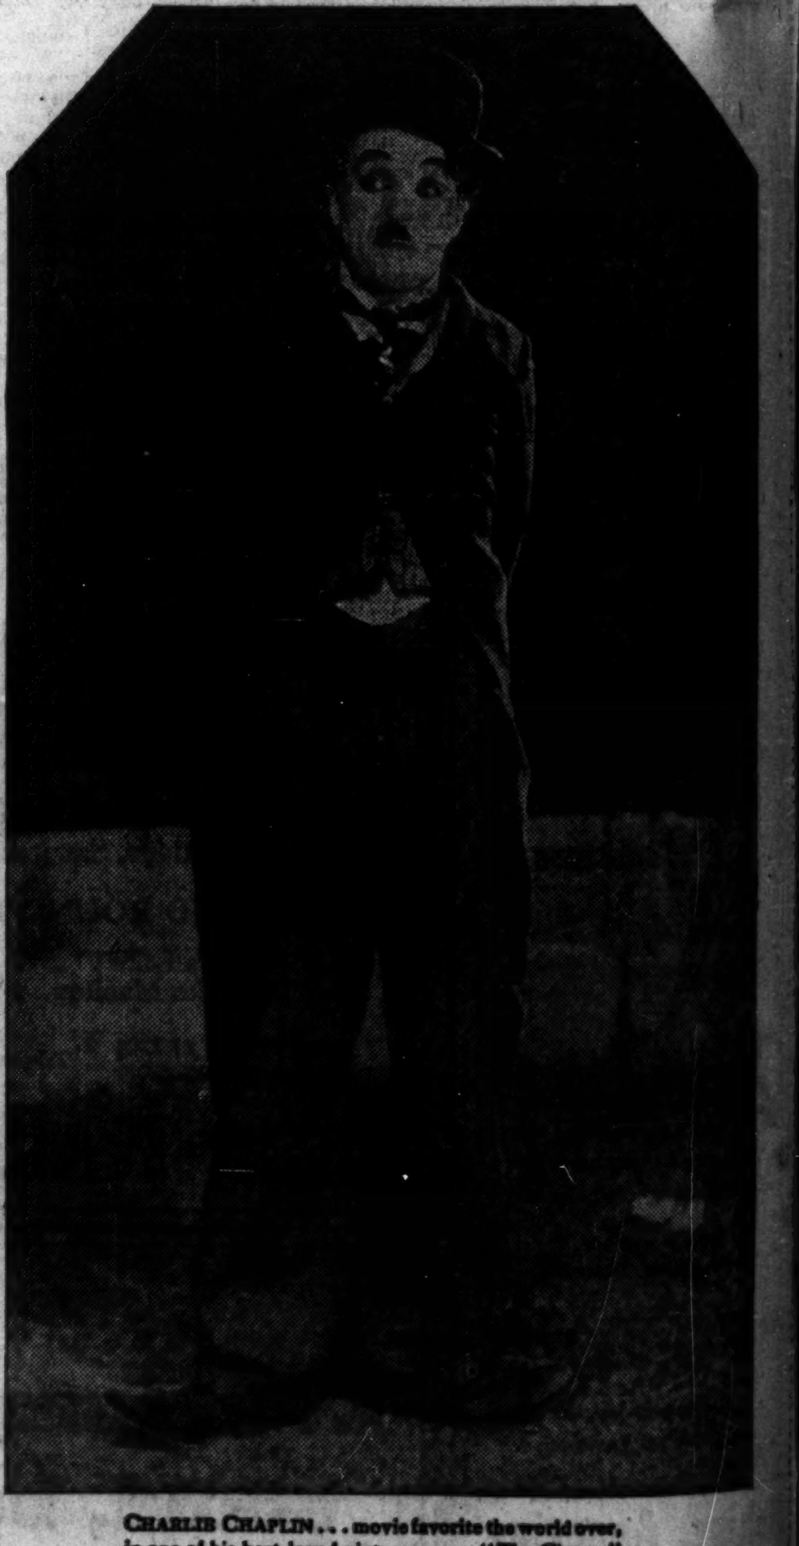
MR. CHAPLIN was asked to smoke each of the four leading brands, clearing his taste with coffee between smokes. Only one question was asked: "Which one do you like best?"



CHARLIE CHAPLIN . . . movie favorite the world over, in one of his best-loved pictures . . . "The Circus."

How does OLD GOLD do it?

WHAT'S the secret of OLD GOLD'S winning charm? The answer is very simple. Three types of leaves grow on the tobacco plant . . . coarse, heavy top-leaves, irritating to the throat . . . withered ground-leaves, without taste or aroma . . . and the heart-leaves, rich in cool and fragrant smoking qualities. These golden-ripe heart-leaves give Old Golds their honey-like smoothness. That's why so many famous people choose them. And that's why you too can pick them . . . even in the dark.

MERGER REPORTS PROVE INCENTIVE TO STOCK BUYING

BY O. A. MATHER.

Prospective mergers of several big industrial and public utility companies did much yesterday to rekindle the speculative imagination and aid in the partial recovery of the stock market.

First off, the New York Central railroad announced the sale of its majority holdings in the Mohawk Valley company and the New York State Railways to interests headed by E. E. Phillips, president of the Long Island Lighting and the Empire Power companies. The New York Central held approximately 65 per cent of the stocks of both companies and will receive nearly $42,000,000 for its holdings. The Mohawk Valley stock was sold for $75 a share and the New York State Railways stock for $25 a share.

$150,000,000 Company Planned.

It is understood Mr. Phillips and his associates will form a new company to combine their holdings and thus will bring together electric, gas and traction properties with an aggregate value exceeding $150,000,000. The minority stockholders of the Mohawk Valley and New York State Railways will be offered the same prices paid the New York Central or will be offered an exchange of their present stocks for stock of the new company. The Mohawk Valley company also controls the Rochester Gas & Electric company.

Equally important although less definite, was confirmation of rumors that a merger of the Studebaker corporation and the Pierce Arrow Motor Car company is being discussed. Both A. R. Erskine and M. E. Forbes, respective presidents of these automobile companies, said conferences are in progress. Combined assets would be around $180,000,000.

Movie Merger Rumored.

A possible merger in the motion picture field also was said to be developing. New York bankers have been discussing a combination to involve the Stanley companies, First National Pictures, Warner Brothers, Pathe Exchange, Keith-Albee-Orpheum, and the Film Booking offices.

Several other consolidations were announced. The Community Water Service company extended its operations in the middle west by acquiring the Marion Water company and the Ohio Cities Water company. The Standard Telephone Company of Illinois purchased control of the Interstate Utilities company, which serves Montana, Idaho, and Washington. The United States Leather company sold its controlling interest in the Griess-Pfleger Tanning company to minority interests.

Crude Oil Prices Advanced.

The petroleum industry was given another bit of cheer yesterday. Price advances ranging from 10 to 30 cents a barrel were made in Pennsylvania crude oil by the principal purchasing agencies. This was the first advance since 1927. The new schedule ranges from $1.20 to $3.05 a barrel, according to grade. The Sinclair Refining company advanced kerosene prices.

While the mid-week steel trade reviews reported declining production, they pointed out that business is more active than at this time last year and in 1926.

"Steel buyers are increasingly cautious as mill output continues to decline," the Iron Age says. "The opening of books for third quarter in finished products has found buyers unresponsive and new business as a rule is too light to develop further changes in current prices. Shipping orders are in close step with the actual needs of consuming plants. What does command attention, however, is that specifications are supporting so high a rate of production."

TOPICS OF FINANCE TRADE AND INDUSTRY

Herr, president, said he looked for a good business year, not materially better than last year, but with sufficient improvement in view to warrant confidence.

LESSON DRAWN FROM ANTICS OF STOCK MARKET

BY HARPER LEECH.

"I hear you calling me!" The old air must have flashed across the memory of many a speculator within the last few hours as the cry for more margin pierced the stilly night—or ticking day.

It has been a delightful bull market. As it went up without reason, so it crashed without reason, and rebounded without reason. A regular Mardi Gras affair under the auspices of a lord of misrule.

We can have an entertaining presidential campaign in this centennial year of Jacksonian triumph—but how the showmanship of a struggle between two such eminently safe and sane institutions as Tammany hall and the triumphant guardians of the tariff for industry only, can possibly affect values in America is impossible of demonstration. For business, 1928 politics is heads I win, tails you lose.

And that's that, but the market does teach some valuable lessons. It demonstrates that there are limits to the desirable diffusion of the ownership of capital securities—that savings banks, good bonds, building and loan stock and the other old reliables are still the best form of investment for great masses of small accumulators.

This column was one of the first to question the unmitigated or unalloyed nature of the benefits of widespread stock ownership. That doubt came from a study of absentee ownership and managerial control. As the sale of close companies has progressed in the last two years and the owner manager has declined in importance in industry, the desirability of maintaining a considerable degree of owner as well as manager responsibility in part of our industries has become evident.

The wide extent of speculative fever among new investors in the stock market has given rise to more doubts, and the speculation in Bancitaly shares, despite the strenuous efforts of A. P. Giannini to restrain it, has given us a powerful object lesson in the desirability of slow and substantial evolutionary methods in the process of making everybody a capitalist.

Long before the sensational rise in General Motors, President Sloan in an interview pointed out that one of the elements of the strength of that corporation was the ownership of 40 per cent of its stock by a great personal interest—which stabilized the holdings of the public and its employés, 85 per cent of whom are owners.

People unfamiliar with finance are too speculative in their hopes of increased values and also too easily panic stricken. Financial institutions especially should have the bulk of their stock strongly held or in the hands of classes who are temperamentally disinclined to speculate.

The handicap of popularized banking has been in the mob psychology of owners. That was proved as far back as the great 18th century speculative frenzies.

There is something in mob nature which leads a crowd to suspect that advice not to gamble, is an attempt by the insiders to keep the good things for themselves. Keep telling people not to do a thing—which is all a conscientious man can do when he is in a responsible position—and you run the risk of tempting them to do that very thing. Back in Eden the serpent found that Eve was already eaten up with curiosity about those forbidden apples.

FINANCIAL NOTES

Directors of the Universal State bank voted to transfer $25,000 from undivided profits to surplus making that item $200,000. The capital stock of the bank is also $200,000. The directors also declared the regular semi-annual dividend of 3 per cent.

Foreign exchanges yesterday moved within narrow and irregular limits with a 15 point jump in the Portuguese rate to 4.50 cents as the only feature. Sterling cables ruled around $4.88 3-32.

Large Dollar Purchase by France Is Reported

[Copyright: 1928: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, June 13.—Large new purchases of dollars by the Bank of France are reported here to have been made during the last five days on the American market. One report states as much as 50,000,000 have been ordered and a further 30,000,000 are expected. This report here is believed to lend color to the report that the government will stabilize the franc at somewhat stronger than the present rate, probably as suggested yesterday at 25 francs, 90 centimes to the dollar. From the franc viewpoint in the case, the dollar is 45 centimes cheaper today than it will be after the franc is stabilized.

When Lincoln was nominated

The real estate investment business of H. O. Stone was already twenty-five years old when Lincoln was nominated for the Presidency.

For it was in 1835 that H. O. Stone, the pioneer, cast his lot with the few hundred frontiersmen who inhabited the village which then was Chicago. With foresight he began to make the real estate investments which proved to be the foundation of the House of Stone.

Wings have shrunk the map!

Distribution City becomes a Great Airport—offering unusual advantages for Airplane Manufacture HISTORY, repeating itself, gives wings to Atlanta. Free to choose its own path, the airplane still has followed the locomotive in making Atlanta the hub of Southern traffic.

As the railroads long years ago chose this meeting-point for 15 main lines, connecting East and Mid-west with the rich South—so aviation has now made Atlanta the focal point of lines to New York and Boston, Chicago and St. Louis, New Orleans and the Southwest, Jacksonville and Miami.

The air-line operator has seen Atlanta's vital importance. Next to come is the manufacturer of airplanes. The same production advantages which have brought other industries will bring here the production of 'ships.

Labor for example. In airplane manufacture, honest and intelligent labor is a life-and-death matter. The Anglo-Saxon workers of the Atlanta Industrial Area are rated among the most highly conscientious people of the world. Naturally skillful, they bring to their work a genuine interest, a willingness, a deeply ingrained code: "a full day's work for a full day's pay."

This sturdy race has created an industrial center that is today the focus of industrial eyes.

Taxes are low in the Atlanta Industrial Area. Power is plentiful and cheap. Raw materials are close by. Building costs are 25% to 35% under those in other sections. These factors, with labor and others, cut costs and permit a better profit, an improved competitive situation for those who produce in the area, the center of America's fastest growing market.

The Aviation Industry, young and virile, will profit by the experience of older industries—and come South in the beginning, as the others have been forced to do after many years of struggle in congested centers elsewhere.

We are ready to supply the Aviation Industry, as we will supply any logical industry, with a full engineering report—free of charge—on the profit to be gained from Atlanta location. Write for the facts. Your correspondence will be kept in the strictest confidence. The information supplied will be the result of the most careful, unbiased research.

WHEAT AND CORN PRICES TUMBLE ON FREE SELLING

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Undermining of confidence in the maintenance of grain values was largely responsible for liquidation yesterday that sent wheat values crashing 1⅝@2⅛c and corn 1½@3⅝c from the finish of the previous day, with December wheat and September and December corn at a new low on the crop. July wheat at the inside figure showed 33⅛c under the recent high, while September corn dropped below $1 for the first time in many weeks. Rallies were feeble, and the close was at net losses of 1⅝c@2c on wheat, 1@3⅛c on corn, ¾@1c on oats, and 1⅞@2⅜c on rye.

Wheat market was relatively firm at the start due to better Liverpool cables than due, but there was free selling by houses with eastern connections later which disclosed a lack of support, and with stop loss orders uncovered prices dropped rapidly to a new low on the present downturn, with the July selling at $1.37¼, the lowest since March 27. Short covering and buying against bids checked the break, but the close was within a fraction of the bottom. The northwest and houses with foreign connections sold early. A leading local professional was also credited with having been a good seller on the way down.

Longs in July corn were persistent sellers and found support lacking, and prices declined very rapidly, and the close was about the bottom, with the trade anticipating that further liquidation was to come. There was free selling of the July and buying of the September and December, which narrowed the spread, the July being 1⅝c over September at the last against 1⅞c over on Tuesday. Crop reports were generally favorable, although higher temperatures would be beneficial.

Houses with eastern connections were sellers of July oats, representing liquidation, and prices declined to a new low on the present movement, with the July selling within 1⅛c of the lowest figures on the crop. Commission houses bought the deferred deliveries and they showed relative strength. Support in rye was lacking and liquidation by scattered longs caused a decline of 2½@3⅛c from the early high, with the close at the bottom. Export sales in all positions were estimated at 50,000 bu.

LARD FAIRLY ABSORBED

Good buying of September lard in the early trading credited to eastern and foreign interests met selling by packing interests. Prices had a fair range, and there was considerable changing developed. At the last prices were 5c lower except on December, which lost 2½c. Liverpool was 6d to 1s lower, the latter on October. Exports were 88,750 lbs.

Slaughtering in the west for the season to date as given by the Grain World aggregates 10,112,400 hogs, against 9,711,500 last year. Prices follow:

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

With the close in wheat the lowest in more than two months, with nearby deliveries in Chicago below $1.40, the trade believed that, while values might sag lower, there would be little in selling short. Drought as a bullish factor has been removed, uncertainty as to southwestern weather will induce covering by shorts, while bulges bring out sales by the northwest and foreigners. In the main traders are not looking for any decided upturn to hold long unless conditions change.

A Winnipeg man says there is too much wheat in the Canadian northwest, with acreage in wheat too large and prospects for the crop too favorable, to be other than bearish. In addition to the Canadian situation there is the large crop in the southwest coming to harvest and too little wheat sold for export, combined with too limited export buying, to expect high prices unless a drastic change is made.

Corn traders expect to see general liquidation in July corn, which they asserted started yesterday with a break of over 3c to $1.00⅜, with practically no recovery, indicating poor buying support other than by shorts, who appeared indifferent. No pressure of corn from the country is apparent and the cash situation is moderately bullish, although cash premiums hardened.

Following a generally steady opening yesterday, the hog market broke mostly 10@15c, closing at the low point, with the increased number of cheaper grades off most. Top lowered 5c at $10.10, with general average 15c lower at $9.70, poorer quality for Wednesday forcing the average down. An advance estimate of only 29,000 for today, against 39,360 last Thursday, encouraged some to hold good hogs off of the market again. About 12,000 were left at the close. Outsiders took only 2,000, the smallest shipment in some time.

Recent advances in cattle prices attracted a liberal mid-week run, which sent prices down 15@25c. Fancy baby beef steers and heifers averaging 760 lbs, brought $14.75, with some prime 1475 lb steers at the same price. Cows and heifers broke 25c, grassy stock selling to the poorest advantage. Calves were unchanged. Stockers and feeders were more plentiful and sold weak to 25c lower.

Lambs in Sharp Break.

Further losses of mostly 50c on best kinds and 50c to $1.00 on culls carried quotations $2.50@2.75 under the high time about 10 days ago. Top natives fell to $16.25 against a top of $18.75 early last week. Best western range lambs to packers stopped at $16.50, a few to city butchers reaching $16.65. Yearlings broke 50c to $1.00, top quotation resting at $13.50. Feeding lambs are selling mostly at $13.00@13.25.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 7,000 cattle, 29,000 hogs and 8,000 sheep, against 9,862 cattle, 39,360 hogs and 16,220 sheep, the previous Thursday and 11,412 cattle, 32,954 hogs and 10,643 sheep, a year ago.

Cotton prices had a higher range yesterday, although it was not extensive. Sellers of Tuesday were buyers, and while the disposition of the trade is to assume no positive position, there was a lessening of selling pressure and a fair response of values to the covering movement.

To the Holders of Associated Electric Company Convertible Gold Bonds 5½% Series, due 1946

The unretired portion of the original issue of $65,000,000 of these Bonds has now been called. Final notice of the call has been widely published and sent to all holders.

$10,000,000 of these Bonds were called for payment on May 1st. Though over a month has elapsed $750,000 of them have not yet been presented for payment.

The holders are suffering a daily loss of interest arising from their failure to present them for the redemption price. We suggest you immediately check the numbers of your Bonds with your investment security dealer or with us and ascertain whether any of the Bonds which you still hold are among the called Bonds on which interest has ceased. Or, better still, immediately send in your Bonds for exchange or payment.

Your attention is called to the exchanges that may not have come to your attention and which are open to all bondholders. You may, if you choose, receive Associated Gas and Electric 4½% Convertible Gold Debentures due 1948 with Detachable Stock Purchase Warrants at the market (based on the preceding day) in exchange for your Bonds at the redemption price, 105, or $1,050 Convertible 6% Debenture Obligations for each $1,000 bond with adjustment for accrued interest to July 1.

For further particulars and descriptive circulars consult your regular investment security dealer or Associated Gas and Electric Securities Company, Inc., 61 Broadway, New York City.

Bonds may now be deposited for exchange, or redemption in cash at the call price with interest to date of deposit at the Chase National Bank of the City of New York, 57 Broadway, or the National Bank of Commerce in New York, 31 Nassau Street, prior to July 1. On or after July 1, bonds may be deposited with either bank for exchange, but bonds to be redeemed for cash should be presented only at the latter bank.

Salient features, as summarized by Mr. L. S. Ganter, President of the Company, from his letter:

History and Business: The Company commenced operations in 1887 in Ontario, Canada, moving to Muncie, Indiana, and incorporating (as Ontario Silver Company) under the laws of Indiana in 1897, with a paid up capital of $150,000. The Company owns in fee fourteen acres of land on which is located a completely equipped factory, employing approximately 500 persons. The machinery and equipment have recently been thoroughly modernized, through the installation of up-to-date labor saving machinery.

The Company is engaged in the manufacture of silver plated flat ware, table cutlery and specialties. It has been unusually successful in its particular line, having shown a steady annual growth for 30 years, especially since the recent installation of improved manufacturing facilities. The Company's entire production is devoted to making special patterns, under private trade marks, for large distributors. Its whole output is manufactured under definite firm contracts; more than 50% of the output is distributed to chain and department stores, the balance being distributed to nationally known hotel supply houses and jobbers with whom the Company has been doing business for more than 20 years.

Sales and Earnings: The business has operated at a profit every year for the past 27 years. The sales and earnings of the business, as certified by Messrs. Ernst & Ernst, for the past three years, are as follows:

	Net Sales	Net Profits after Taxes	No. of Times Dividend Requirements Earned on 7% Preferred	Earned per Share on 50,000 Shares Common
1925	$1,202,666	$132,774	3.1	$1.81
1926	1,299,830	136,954	3.3	1.90
1927	1,516,232	235,457	5.6	3.87

The Company's sales for the first four months of 1928 show a substantial increase over the corresponding period of the previous year, the major portion of the year's output having already been contracted for. From the results of the first four months' operation, the management estimates that the net profits for the year 1928 will be the largest in its history.

Balance Sheet: The audited balance sheet as of December 31, 1927, giving effect to this financing, shows an excellent financial condition, with total current assets of $677,652.48 as against total current and accrued liabilities of $86,898.16, a ratio of approximately 8 for 1, cash alone exceeding all liabilities.

Dividends: The Company has averaged 24% per annum in dividends on its original capital for the past ten years and has announced its intention of placing its Common Stock on an annual dividend basis of $1.80 per share, payable quarterly, beginning October 1, 1928.

Management: The active management and control of the Company will continue in the hands of those responsible for the successful development and expansion of the business.

The Common Stock Is Listed on the Chicago Stock Exchange.

All legal matters in connection with this issue will be passed upon by Messrs. Cadwalader, Wickersham & Taft, New York, N. Y., for the Bankers, and Messrs. Glenn & Ganter, New York, N. Y., for the Company. We offer this 7% Cumulative Convertible Preferred Stock if, when and as authorized, issued and accepted by us, subject to the approval of legal proceedings by counsel.

BONDS FOLLOW STOCKS IN THEIR BOUND UPWARD

NEW YORK, June 13.—(AP)—Bond market prices took an upturn today reflecting the change of trend in the stock market. Although gains ranged as great as five points, rather extensive irregularity gave evidence that the market is still unsettled and traders hesitate to increase commitments in view of high money rates.

Anaconda Copper 7s with a gain of nearly four points and Andes copper 7s up about 2 were prominent in the advance. Dodge Brothers 6s, General Motors acceptance 6s, Loew's 6s, with warrants and others also improved.

The railroad group showed marked recovery. St. Paul issues again were in demand at fractionally higher levels. Katy first 4s, Pennsylvania General 5s, Seaboard Air Line adjustment 5s and Atlantic Coast Line 4½s advanced more than a point each. New York tractions attracted buyers on reports that new unification agreements have been reached, while New York State Railways 6½s soared more than 3 points to the year's top at 72 and the convertible 4½s gained 2 points.

The firmer tone extended to the foreign list. Italian municipals and industrials led an advance which included also Australia commonwealth 4½s and Seine Department 7s.

ANALYSIS CHART
FOR THE DETERMINATION OF INVESTMENT POLICY and POSITION

New, Improved Edition of this Useful Chart

As revised, this chart provides an enlarged form for entering bonds and other kinds of investments, classifying them as necessary for analysis. Shows the structure of the whole investment account, and the adaptability of individual items to one's purpose.

Are Your Bond Holdings Properly Balanced?

This chart will tell you

IF you are hesitant about submitting your bond holdings to others for analysis, you can make your own survey with this chart—to show how your investments are diversified as to type and locality—what the maturities are—how income is distributed over the year—how present market prices compare with the prices paid, etc.

There is ample and convenient space for all such information—based on the form we use for analyzing the bond holdings of banks, institutions and large individual investors. It also contains an outline for determining the investment policy most effective for your particular needs, thus lessening the possibility of accumulating bonds which do not fit your needs. It serves also as a ready reference sheet.

Newly revised, the chart provides double the former space for listing issues. There is also a separate recapitulation sheet allowing for semi-annual revision over a two-year period. This enables an accurate survey of the investment structure at all times. An added feature is the maturity tickler where issues maturing in the current year may be listed.

Altogether, it is a necessary step in appraising every security on your list and in deciding what to buy next. We shall be glad to send you this chart without obligation.

Copies of a letter from Mr. Edgar J. Kaufmann, President, setting forth information regarding the Company and its Common Stock, may be obtained from the undersigned. Mr. Kaufmann gives the substance of this letter in part as follows:

BUSINESS

"Kaufmann Department Stores, Inc., operates the largest department store in Pittsburgh. The business, founded 57 years ago, has never had an unprofitable year. Today the store serves a greater number of customers in proportion to the total population in its area than does any other large American store. The control of the business remains in the hands of my brother, Oliver M. Kaufmann, and myself.

Pittsburgh is one of the great retail markets in the country, for it is the natural shopping center of some 2,750,000 people who live within a fifty mile radius. The store, covering an entire block, occupies the most strategic retail location in the city. A shift of the retail district from its vicinity is extremely unlikely, because the location of the Pittsburgh shopping district is a result of the peculiar topographical setting of the city.

The present buildings, with approximately 700,000 square feet devoted to selling space, are sufficiently large to provide for an increased volume of business. The company has purchased an adjoining property on Diamond Street, a city block in length, as an additional reserve for expansion.

ASSETS

The consolidated balance sheet of the Company, and its wholly owned subsidiaries, as of December 31, 1927, as certified by Messrs. Price, Waterhouse & Co., shows net tangible assets of $15,089,578. Current assets of $11,282,575 compare with current liabilities of $3,593,740, a ratio of over 3.1 to 1.

EARNINGS

The net sales and consolidated net profits of the Company and its wholly owned subsidiaries for the four years ended December 31, 1927, after eliminating as a charge to income that portion of amortization of leaseholds in excess of the amount deductible for tax purposes (in the amount of $19,000 per annum) and after deducting (1) all other charges including ample depreciation, (2) Federal income taxes at the rate of 12% per annum, and (3) dividends on the preferred stock now outstanding, as certified by Messrs. Price, Waterhouse & Co., are set forth below:

Year ended Dec. 31	Net Sales	Net Profits as defined above	Per Share of Common Stock presently to be outstanding
1924	$27,400,477	$1,609,511	$2.68
1925	28,251,505	1,583,208	2.64
1926	28,992,323	1,695,688	2.82
1927	29,001,335	1,618,081	2.69

The Board of Directors will declare a dividend of 25 cents a share on the Common Stock presently to be outstanding payable August 1, 1928, and will increase the annual rate to $1.50 a share by the declaration of a quarterly dividend of 37½ cents a share on the following dividend date, November 1, 1928."

The Company has agreed to make application to list its Common Stock on the New York Stock Exchange.

Price $36.75 per Share

Inasmuch as this stock has been purchased from an Estate, this offering does not involve new financing on the part of the Company. Of the above shares, 19,128 are reserved for sale to the employees of the Company.

This stock is offered subject to allotment or prior sale and in all respects when, as and if issued and accepted by us and subject to authorization by the stockholders and approval of Messrs. Sullivan & Cromwell, for the Bankers, and of Messrs. Reed, Smith, Shaw & McClay, for the Company. It is expected that delivery of temporary stock certificates or of interim receipts will be made on or about June 29, 1928, at the office of Goldman, Sachs & Co., 30 Pine Street, New York, N. Y., against payment therefor in New York funds.

HEAVY BUYING OF UTILITIES HELPS PRICES ON CURB

New York, June 13.—(AP)—Heavy buying of utilities by interests which apparently had been awaiting the opportunity and the recovery of the stock exchange sent prices up throughout the entire list on the curb market today. [Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, June 13.—After nine consecutive days of heavy selling, the stock market turned about for a remarkable recovery today. Except for a few minutes of confusion immediately following the opening, prices pushed steadily upward throughout the session, the final figures reflecting gains of from 2 to 15 points.

Trading was on a much smaller scale and when the market finished the ticker was only about three minutes behind. The mild activity, particularly in the afternoon, contrasted sharply with the pandemonium of yesterday when the list took its sensational plunge following the news that President Coolidge wouldn't run.

Mellon Aids Recovery.

One of several developments which helped to encourage a feeling of bullishness today was a statement from Secretary of the Treasury Mellon belittling the theory that the political doings of the last few days have had anything to do with the stock market break. Another was an easiness of the call money market. The stock exchange rate held at 6 per cent but outside loans were available at 5¾.

Such leaders as General Motors, Steel, General Electric, New York Central, Harvester, American Telephone and Telegraph, Chrysler and Hudson came up sharply. The advance in oils, rails, public utilities and specialties in general was almost as impressive. There was some profit taking near the end but it reduced the day's gains only moderately.

Bull Pools Active.

Bull pools were noticeably active and buying orders on a large scale were placed in several of the leading speculative issues. Such orders appeared particularly in United States Steel common, which opened ½ point higher at 137⅝, and wound up at 140, up 2¾ points.

Airplane issues were on a boom throughout the session. Curtiss advanced 9¼ points and Wright 8. Baldwin Locomotive jumped fifteen points, closing at 250. Case Threshing Machine went up 13¾ points.

The largest net advances attained included Allied Chemical, 7¼; Radio, 4; General Electric, 7⅝; Du Pont, 8; Brunswick Terminal, 5¾; Cast Iron Pipe, 6; International Telephone, 9⅜; American Telephone, 6⅞; American International, 6¼; American Power & Light, 5¼; N. England's Share in World Export Trade Shows Loss

LONDON, June 13.—(AP)—Great Britain's share in the world export trade in 1927 was 11 per cent, Sir Philip Cunliffe-Lister, president of the board of trade, said last night in introducing his department's estimates in the house of commons. This was two per cent less than in 1913. In the same period the European share of the world trade shrunk from 62 per cent to 52 per cent.

There was an increasing market in South America, he said, particularly in the Argentine, to where the exports for the first three months of 1928 were 50 per cent higher than the exports to that country for 1924. Despite the high tariffs existing in the United States there was also a great opportunity there for increased sales. He said that Britain had obtained 55½ per cent of the world's shipbuilding contracts.

SAFETY ASSURED FOR FOREIGNERS IN NORTH CHINA

War Lord Tells Envoys He's Not Hostile.

BY CHARLES DAILEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

[Copyright: 1928: By The Chicago Tribune.]

PEKING, June 13.—The telegraph wires which were severed June 7 have been restored and railways will be running possibly tomorrow. Martial law in Peking has been materially relaxed.

Gen. Yen Hsi-shan, whose troops have also occupied Tientsin, called on the foreign legations today. He assured the envoys he had no hostile intentions toward foreigners. He has appointed foreign affairs commissioners for both Peking and Tientsin.

The Nationalist manifesto demanding immediate negotiations for equal treaties, with the demand for the withdrawal of foreign garrisons on the penalty of denying foreigners any rights in the interior of China, has not been seriously considered by the legations. It is regarded as largely intended for Chinese consumption.

Terror of Communists Moves In.

While the important government heads, including the foreign co-directors, have been ordered to Nanking, the archives will remain in Peking, where the diplomats will also stay.

The students and populace have been ordered not to demonstrate.

Gen. Pai Chung-hse, the terror of the communists at Shanghai and Hankow, where he executed nearly 2,000, has taken possession of the Yang Yu Ting palace in Peking. He marched 2,000 Hunan troops into the city as a bodyguard. He announced he will bring 120,000 of his soldiers from Kwangsi and Hunan provinces to the Peking and Tientsin area, which, he said, will swell the number of Nationalist troops of this district to more than 500,000.

Feng Has 140,000 Men.

He said Gen. Feng Yu-hsiang, the Christian general, had 140,000 men and Gen. Yen Hsi-shan's forces are in excess of 250,000. The latter figure is believed to be excessive by foreign observers.

"AD" STAFF OF TRIBUNE FROLICS AT FARM OUTING

Two hundred members of the advertising staff of THE TRIBUNE forgot business cares yesterday when they were guests of the publisher, Col. R. R. McCormick, for an athletic outing on his Cantigny farm estate near Wheaton.

To entertain the go-getters who aid in making THE TRIBUNE the World's Greatest Newspaper a replica of an old-time country fair was set up in a grove on the farm. The concessions were well patronized. Three games of baseball were played, the National Advertising department team winning the finals from the business survey. The tug of war went to the team from the classified department.

Following the games the participants were regaled with a barbecue cooked in the open air.

The outing was preceded on Monday and Tuesday by the sixteenth semiannual convention of the advertising department. During this meeting Col. McCormick traced the rise of THE TRIBUNE to its present dominating position, asserting that its great circulation and drawing power made it the most valuable publication in the United States to advertisers.

TRIES TO SPEED COUNTY'S ROAD WIDENING WORK

The county highway department has decided to send to the county board on June 20 requests that bids be taken for the widening of the paving on Milwaukee avenue at the northern end for a distance of more than fifteen miles from the county line to the recently widened portion near the city limits. The project is participated in by the state highway department as a part of the 40 foot widening program agreed on in 1926.

Other 40 foot widening projects to go to the board at the same time include the south portion of Halsted street between 138th street and the Lincoln highway, and Lake street between the city and county limits. Plans for further construction 40 feet wide on Southwest highway and for widening River road and Northwest highway are to be submitted.

Elmer Marvels at Wonders of Modern World

Mozart's String Quartet No. 12 Delights Him.

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

It is fine even in this present day world of wonders, to step to the radio, touch the switch, hear the announcement that Mozart's string quartet No. 12 is to be played, and then hear it played straight through with only slight pauses between the four movements. And that's what happened last evening from W-G-N, 7 to 7:30.

It is unfortunate that works of this character cannot legitimately be given attractive titles that mean something to the imagination, such as "Moonlight Quartet," or something. Here is is a work that is as lovely as music need be. A good sounding name would help put things like this over. I will remember it as the "Sol, fe, fa, me, re, ra" quartet, due to this recurring chromatic run in the second, or minuet, movement.

The chamber music players were William Levitt, first violin; Erl Eldred, second violin; Gaston Du Moulin, viola, and Johann Lingeman, cello. Here's hoping they let us hear this charming work of many moods again, and advertising the date so that it may have the widest possible hearing.

A treat above the ordinary was Frederic Cowen's secular contata, "The Rose Maiden," sung by the Albany Park M. E. church choir, George F. Unger directing, WLS, 9 to 10. The title eminently befits the color of this happy, melodius work as a whole, but it does not suggest anything of the grandeur that the composer poured into the choral numbers, and, fortunately, this latter quality was brought out in an uncommonly charming manner by this apparently well trained company of singers.

There was a half-hour performance of Victor Herbert's last operetta, "Her Regiment," through KYW, 8 to 8:30. But I'll wager that this weekly operatic feature would get across better if the announcer would refrain from exchanging pleasantries with "Jessica," the soprano, and if said Jessica would cease her answers of "um um." The time allotment for this otherwise excellent broadcast, is too short.

Oscar Heather, tenor, stirred up something attractive at WENR, 8 o'clock, when he gave what was termed a song title of lyrics from "Sapho." His voice stood the test surprisingly well, and I believe the suggestion that he undertake further delvings in song cycle land, only making them of longer duration, will meet with general approval.

Republican convention broadcasts raised havoc with the prearranged studio programs last evening; but then Kansas City takes presidential precedence these days.

CAMPAIGN GIFTS BY TAX ADJUSTER TOLD AT HEARING

Clyde F. Lloyd, makes $10,000 a year through getting tax reductions for his clients, and he contributed $2,500 in the last campaign, he testified yesterday. But he balked efforts to connect his tax work with his campaign donations.

He was one of a group of witnesses called by State Senator John Dailey's revenue commission investigating taxation adjustments in Cook county. Lloyd said he operates under the name of Lloyd's Property Owners' association, with offices at 139 North Clark street, but he admitted he is the association and that as his fees he takes one-third of the tax cuts which he obtains.

"I gave $2,000 to the Dever fund and $500 to the Thompson committee in the mayoralty campaign last year," Lloyd testified, and then in answer to a question by Representative Thomas O'Grady he said he is a Democrat.

He testified that this year he gave $300 to State's Attorney Crowe's campaign and $500 to the Emmerson governorship committee, but refused to tell to whom he had given an additional $1,700, whereupon a subpœna was issued for his bank books.

MISSOURI CROPS GOOD; FARMERS WEARING SMILES

Corn Is Growing Fine; Late Rains Help.

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

Columbia, Mo., June 13.—[Special.]—Farmers' frowns that go along with the backward season and late crops in the agricultural regions east of the Mississippi river, change to broad smiles as soon as the traveler gets into Missouri.

The agricultural map is of a rich green color this side of the river. "Show me" farmers have the best crops I have seen since leaving Chicago—the speedometer is clicking above the 2,400 mile mark.

Corn is waving high in many fields. Hazards are ahead of the crop this early in the season, but farmers in virtually all sections of the state have hopes of a bumper crop. The corn was planted early and most of it has been plowed once, and some of it twice.

In this state, prosperity and gloom are mixed, but the general outlook is good. While the oat crop is thin it is far better in Missouri than in Michigan, New York, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois—crossed in THE TRIBUNE's agricultural survey.

Strawberry growers in southern Missouri have marketed the bulk of their big crop this year. Up to June 2 they had shipped out more than 1,700 carloads of strawberries. The yield will be higher than last year, although prices have not been quite as satisfactory.

400 Pupils March Safely Out of Burning School

Several nuns marched 400 pupils to safety yesterday when a fire started in the store rooms of the Holy Name School, adjacent to the Holy Name Cathedral, at State street and Chicago avenue. The pupils were all clear of the building when firemen arrived.

$323,000 CALIFORNIA LAND BOUGHT IN NAME OF H. F. M'CORMICK

Los Angeles, Cal., June 13.—[Special.]—Purchase of a $323,000 parcel of land overlooking Santa Monica bay and Potrero canyon was completed here today, presumably for Harold F. McCormick of Chicago. The property is to be converted into a marine view estate.

Arthur Fleming of the California Institute of Technology is said to have acted as agent for Mr. McCormick, after having made a survey of southern California properties suitable for such an estate. The tract is situated to give a 40 mile unobstructed view across the bay from Point Vicente to Point Dume.

Harold F. McCormick, at his Chicago home last night, said that he knew of the purchase of a $323,000 tract of land in his name at Los Angeles, but asserted it was not for his personal interest. He added that he was not free to discuss the transaction. When he was asked if the purchase indicates any intention on his part to establish a permanent residence in California, Mr. McCromick replied:

"Absolutely not. That's a wonderful country out there, but not for me."

MAJ. WOOLMAN, LONG ACTIVE IN GUARD, IS DEAD

Maj. Maurice Woolman, who for most of his 66 years was active in Illinois military affairs, died yesterday at the Alexian Brothers hospital after a long illness. He went to the hospital from his home at 1927 North Park avenue.

Born in Philadelphia in 1862, he was brought to Chicago at the age of 7 and when he was 15 became a member of an independent battery commanded by Capt. Edgar B. Tobey. It was called out for guard duty during a railroad strike in 1877. Disbanded in 1897, the battery was reorganized as the Lake View battery for the Spanish-American war. In later years it became part of the First Illinois Field artillery which during the world war became the 149th Field artillery of the Rainbow division.

Maj. Woolman is survived by his widow and three children. Burial will be at Rosehill tomorrow after services at Piser's undertaking rooms, 4936 Broadway.

Three Generations

By WARWICK DEEPING

SYNOPSIS.

Old John Pybus, formerly a bookseller in London and later in Winterbourn, is serving as a porter in an inn at Castle Craven when his son, Conrad, sees him there. He's been estranged from both his sons since the beginning of the war and they have lost track of him. Conrad hastens to tell his brother, Probyn, that he has seen their father. Probyn's son, Lance Pybus, had believed his grandfather dead, but he looks him up at the Saracen's Head without telling his parents of the meeting. When Lance finishes at Cambridge he takes a room in London and after gaining his father's reluctant consent and a small allowance he devotes himself to writing. In London Lance meets and is attracted to Olive Gadsden, a manikin.

Mary Merris, a friend of old Pybus, takes care of a blind brother.

INSTALLMENT LIII.

A HINT OF MYSTERY.

Lance went down to Castle Craven with the tang of September in his blood. The stale season was over, and the year and its enterprise renewed. He had the Venerable's money in his pocket, and "Rust"—complete save for the last three chapters—neatly tied up in brown paper and packed away at the bottom of his suitcase. He walked up through Castle Craven with the lightness of a young man who had dropped a load of mischief from his shoulders, and to whom the days was a renewal of the great adventure.

"Grandpater!"

"Hello, my dear."

"I've brought you all sorts of things."

"Surprises?"

"Well, there's the book. It's good. I believe it is better than I thought. And this——"

He had the money in his hand.

"I didn't need it after all. But your sending of it, grandpater."

"Was nothing, my dear."

"I think it was everything."

. . . .

Old Pybus sat up till midnight, his white head close to the green shade of the lamp. He had read his grandson's novel from chapter 1 to chapter 32, and when he put the book away and lit his candle, his heart was glad in him.

"Good business!"

After turning out the lamp he went slowly up the little steep staircase. He trod softly, and pausing outside his grandson's door stood listening. By all probabilities Lance should be asleep, but the Venerable, full of his own wakefulness, divined a like wakefulness in Lance. He rapped gently at the door.

"Is that you, grandpater?"

"Yes, my dear. Many happy returns of the inspiration."

"You like it?"

"Great stuff, at your age. Had to stop and tell you. Good-night."

"Good-night, grandpater. I'm glad. You've had a hand in it."

"Nonsense."

"O, yes, you have."

She turned her head, but very slowly.

"A little stirring with a spoon on one occasion. Good-night, and God bless you."

. . . .

On the Sunday Lance went up to his room directly after breakfast. He allowed himself to look at the landscape while he filled a pipe. The Venerable had gone on duty, and from nine o'clock till twelve the cottage would be a box of blessed silence.

He was on the edge of what he described as "getting off," when he heard the closing of a door, and the sound of two voices, his grandfather's and a woman's. They were in the room below. The sitting room window was open, and Lance could hear what the two voices said.

"I feel that it can't go on much longer."

"Poor child."

"I must talk. Sometimes one must talk."

"I'll shut the window, my dear. My grandson's working upstairs. Don't want to disturb him."

The window was closed, and the murmur of the two voices continued for a couple of minutes and then it ceased. A door opened and shut while Lance sat stiffly attentive. His personal consciousness had come back to him. The moment of inward illumination had passed.

Usually he would have felt some impatience, or like a man on the edge of sleep jarred into sudden wakefulness, but on this Sunday morning he accepted the two voices. They were not fool voices, and his self had been appeased. Moreover, the girl's voice had had an inevitableness. "I must talk. Sometimes one must talk." Of course! And that utterance had had for him the appeal of the first few notes of a violin when some human movement opens. He ceased to feel impersonal. He stood up and looked out of the window, and saw the two figures pass along by the fence at the end of the cottage garden. Mary Merris and his grandfather.

He watched them across the castle field. They disappeared behind a gray wall, and he stood holding the curtain aside, very conscious of the memory of a woman surprised in the midst of her weeping. Why had she wept? What was it that could not go on much longer? What had she to say to his grandfather, and he to her?

He sat and waited, and presently he saw his grandfather come back alone, and looking rather as he looked when he fed his pigeons. His eyes and face had an upwardness.

Lance and his grandfather dined together at half past twelve. Old Pybus carried the meal down on a tray from the Saracen kitchen; roast beef and Yorkshire pudding, potatoes and kidney beans, and two helpings of cold plum tart. They sat down opposite each other, and the silence between them was sensitive and expectant. For the Venerable had a feeling that Lance was going to ask him a question, and Lance had that question waiting upon his lips.

"Hope we didn't disturb you, my dear?"

Lance, setting to upon that very English dinner, accepted his opportunity.

"No. I was just casting about. Good of you to think about it, grandpater. Besides——"

Old Pybus, knife and fork in hand, cut a potato in half and waited.

"Some things are importunate."

"Things or people, my dear?"

"Both. I'll confess, that before you shut that window——"

The Venerable gave him a quick look.

"You did."

"I couldn't help it. And I don't know whether I wanted to help it. Some things have a kind of inevitableness. I suppose I could not be allowed to know?"

"I'm not at liberty to tell you, my dear. I don't gossip about her. No, not even to you."

"Sorry, grandpater. I did not mean——"

But why was the Venerable making all this mystery about Mary Merris?

Lance turned from the high road into the lane that led up past Marions to the Woolshot woods. He had come down from Castle Craven to stretch his legs and to do some thinking. A robin was singing, and Lance idled. He said to himself that this was the lane in which Mary Merris lived, that mysterious Mary Merris into whose wet eyes he had looked for one short moment. But was any woman mysterious? It was a mere sex illusion. And yet, as he went on up the lane he seemed to be pressing more deeply into a stillness, a secrecy, a sadness.

Lance came to the white gate and looking over it saw the white porch flanked by the two yew trees, the green door standing open, and some one's brown raincoat hanging on a peg. The little house seemed to him as shut in by silence as it was shut in by green leaves. It had for him a curious melancholy.

He went on. He became possessed by a feeling that an essential something that belonged to that cottage penetrated the hedges like a drifting perfume, and filled the lane with a scented sadness. A melancholy place. And suddenly he paused, becoming aware of a movement on the other side of the Marions hedge. There was a rustling. He saw an apple bough shaken.

Some one began to sing, though the murmuring of the voice was almost inward, suggesting a little moaning, a sound produced almost unconsciously by some one who was solitarily busy, and in a lonely mood.

The prongs of a light ladder appeared in the foliage of the tree. A branch trembled. A dark head appeared, and then a hand reaching out for a red apple.

The hand plucked the apple, but even in the plucking of it seemed to hesitate as though the owner of the hand had been made aware of that other presence. She turned her head, but very slowly. She saw beyond the hedge Lance's upturned face and watching eyes.

Neither of them spoke. He gave her a quick and self-conscious lift of the hat, and went on up the lane, while she remained motionless for a moment, her bosom pressed against one of the rungs of the ladder.

Miss Vidor Is Snappy Widow in Smart Film

"THE MAGNIFICENT FLIRT."

Produced by Paramount.
Directed by the author, H. d'Abbadie d'Arrast.
Presented at the Oriental Theater.

THE CAST.

Madame Florence Laverne	Florence Vidor
Count D'Estranges	Albert Conti
Denise Laverne	Loretta Young
Hubert	Matty Kemp
Fifi	Marietta Milner
Tim, an American in Paris	Ned Sparks

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

This is a rather smart film that would have been smarter had they left out the funny modernistic, futuristic "Variety"istic whirligigs that hurt your eyes. Its star, Florence Vidor, is delightful in a rather more mature and sophisticated rôle than she usually plays, and you will find those two young people, Loretta Young and Matty Kemp, adorable.

The scene of the story is Paris, where lives the beautiful, gay, and considerably discussed Madame Laverne, and her carefully reared, flower-like daughter.

Madame and the Count d'Estranges are carrying on a bit of an affair. The daughter, unknown to the mother, loves and is loved by the count's young nephew, Hubert. The boy asks his uncle's consent to propose to the girl and is refused.

"One loves the Lavernes but one does not marry them," says the Count d'Estranges. And, though he is fond of madame, he promises the nephew to show him that she is not the sort of woman a D'Estranges would wish for a mother-in-law.

I will not tell you any more of the story. It works out interestingly.

Miss Vidor wears some dashing gowns—"You know you DO use too much rouge and you DON'T wear the right kind of clothes," her daughter tells her—and plays her rôle with snap, sympathy and sophistication. Albert Conti seems to me a bit dumb as the count, but he is quite nice to look at when he is all dressed up. Loretta Young as the daughter does a beautiful piece of work and Matty Kemp is nice as the adoring Hubert.

The picture bears all the earmarks of expensiveness and the direction, taken as a whole, is smooth.

Beery and Hatton Again Perform for You

"THE BIG KILLING."

Produced by Paramount.
Directed by F. Richard Jones.
Presented at the Castle Theater.

THE CAST.

Powder Horn Pete	Wallace Beery
Bad Eye Dan	Raymond Hatton
Beagle's daughter	Mary Brian
Jim Hicks	Gardner James
George Hicks	Lane Chandler
Old Man Beagle	Anders Randolf
Old Man Hicks	Paul McAllister

KIND: Comedy drama.
QUALITY: Fair.
DIRECTION: All right.
PHOTOGRAPHY: Fine.
SCENERY: Beautiful.
ACTING: Quite good.

STORY: Well, the story as I see it, is the thorn. It is one of those forced stories. A pair of circus sharpshooters are sent on their way by the sheriff. Fate lands them in the midst of an Ozark mountain feud. Here they find themselves always in the way, and first aids to a romance between the son of a Hicks and the daughter of a Beagle.

REMARKS: The picture gets quite a few laughs and is plumb full of action. If you like the Beery-Hatton combination, it may please you, though it in no way comes up to the standard of "Partners in Crime," the last film in which we saw these two boys featured.

See you soon.

Mrs. Edward Leight Is Presented at the Court of St. James

BY ANNE WHITTINGHAM.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

[Copyright: 1928: By The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, June 13.—Among the eight American matrons and debutantes presented by Mrs. Alanson B. Houghton, wife of the American ambassador here, at the fifth and last court of the present season tonight was Mrs. Edward A. Leight of Chicago. The others included Mrs. Ray Atherton, wife of the American chargé d'affaires; Miss Mary Stevens Hammond of Bernardsville, N. J., dughter of the American minister to Madrid; Miss Anne G. Colby of Orange, N. J., and the Misses Sylvia Brewster, Eleanor P. Hutton, Elizabeth Sturges, and Lawrence B. Van Ingen, all of New York City.

Mrs. Leight wore a charming gown of gold chiffon embroidered with tiny mirrors and bordered with cloth of gold at the neck and hem. Her train, too, was of cloth of gold. She wore a diamond necklace and diamond tiara. Her evening wrap was of ermine.

Mrs. Houghton's appearance at the court was her last social function before departing with her daughter for America. She wore a gown of beime and gold brocade, with beime satin train embroidered in seed pearls and diamante. Her jewels were a string of pearls and diamonds and a diamond tiara.

Those presented at the two June courts enjoyed the best weather London can offer. Dense crowds of onlookers lined up a mile long on the Mall, watching the procession of gleaming motor cars.

The etiquette may be doubtful, but custom and tradition give the onlookers the privilege of standing close to the cars, where they stare unchallenged. The result is to convert the slow journey down the Mall into what can only be described as a most distinguished parade of mannequins. Many of the women quickly adapt themselves to the strange experience, but for others it is said to be an ordeal much more severe than the actual presentation in court.

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

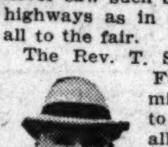
The Tribune will pay $5 for each question accepted for the Inquiring Reporter to ask. Send name and address with your question to "The Inquiring Reporter," Chicago Tribune. For today's question Miss Margery Masterson, 330 West Washington boulevard, Oak Park, Ill., was awarded $5.

The Question.

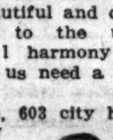
What suggestions can you make for the Chicago Centennial?

The Answers.

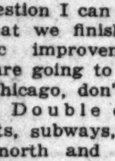
Mrs. Ann Donaberg, Belmont hotel, housewife. — I visited Europe four years ago. I found much of interest in London. In Vienna I marveled at their perfectly kept parks and streets, and I never saw so many beautiful women. The styles were best in Paris. Later, I never saw such beautiful scenery and highways as in California. Bring it all to the fair.



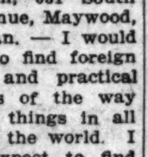
The Rev. T. Stanley Oadams, 520 Fullerton parkway, minister.—I would like to see the finest art in all its varied manifestations, that it might develop the sense of the beautiful and contribute to the universal harmony of mind of which all of us need a full measure.



Miss Mary Florence, 603 city hall, secretary. — The only suggestion I can make is that we finish our public improvements. We are going to show up Chicago, don't you see? Double deck streets, subways, both the north and south outer drives, among other projects, ought to be completed realities.



Raymond S. Welshon, 631 South 21st avenue, Maywood, draftsman. — I would expect to find foreign peoples and practical examples of the way they do things in all parts of the world. I would expect to find buildings that are better architecturally than any in the world.



Miss Cynthia R. Kelly, 160 North La Salle street, lawyer.—They ought to have a series of big outstanding competitive sport contests running as continuously as possible throughout the duration of the exposition. And permanent structures that could be converted into health and educational centers.

Midwest Will Shape U. S. Life, Dr. Kinley Says

University of Illinois Awards 1,946 Degrees.

Urbana, Ill., June 13.—[Special.]—"The America of the future will be largely determined by the standards and life of the people who make the Mississippi valley their home," Dr. David Kinley, president of the University of Illinois, told 1,599 graduating seniors from the down state departments in his address at the 57th commencement here today.

He emphasized that Illinois is in the heart of the Mississippi valley, and its cultural life and standards will be determined largely by the work of the university.

"No such opportunity has ever before come to young men and women to utilize their educational advantages so as to mold their country's future," Dr. Kinley declared.

"There are great problems before the American people today. Are we university educated people taking the lead in discussing them, or are we not leaving our duty in this matter to be discharged by too many so-called 'constructionists' and 'reformers' who 'lack balance of judgment, breadth of knowledge, and dispassionateness of view?'"

"Each of you," Dr. Kinley told the students, "will be called on to live, so to speak, three lives—one the field of your private personality; a second, that of your duty as a citizen, politically speaking, and a third that of the practice of the vocation for which you are specially trained.

"We should examine ourselves and answer the question whether in the communities in which we live we play that part for the benefit of the public which the advantages of a university education entitle the public to expect."

Degrees were awarded at Chicago last Saturday to 347 graduates of the Chicago departments, including the colleges of medicine and dentistry and the school of pharmacy, making the total graduating class of the state coeducantional university 1,946 students. In addition to this number 550 degrees have been awarded since the commencement exercises a year ago, the awards having been made in August, October and February. Of these awards 157 were made by the Chicago departments and 393 by the Urbana departments.

Art Institute School Holds Its Graduating Exercises Tomorrow

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

The graduating class of the Art institute art school is about equally divided this year between young men and women. There are in all approximately one hundred students and the Goodman theater will be filled tomorrow afternoon to witness their graduation exercises. Dr. Louis Mann will deliver the address.

Degrees of master of fine arts will be conferred on George Oberteuffer, John W. Norton, Alfonso Iannelli, Elmer A. Forsberg, Albin Polasek, and Mary C. Scovel, instructors in the Art institute school. The title of bachelor of art education will be conferred on fifteen students from the teacher training department who have completed three years in the school and one year of academic work in some university.

The graduates from the art school are from the teacher training department, the drawing, painting, and illustration departments, and the department of design and interior decoration, which includes costume designing and printing arts.

A particularly serious atmosphere will be lent to the occasion by the introduction for the first time of the academic cap and gown, which will be worn by the trustees, officers, and graduates. After the ceremony in the theater a reception is planned in the lobby. The trustees, the faculty and the alumni will play host to the graduating students.

In the east wing galleries of the Art institute there will open tomorrow afternoon, the annual exhibition of work by students of the school. The exhibition is unusually complete this year and the work shown of high standard. The scholarship competition paintings bear the brunt of the criticism. The exhibit will continue into July.

In the Art Students' league exhibit, which hangs in the far gallery, Lucile Kaltenbach was awarded the Art Students' league prize. Among the other exhibitors in this room is Eleanor Duke who shows an adorable rendering in color of a youthful May Day Queen astride a little boy's back.

The work of the Chicago Plant, Flower and Fruit guild will be inspected this week by Mrs. George Hill of New York, special representative of the national guild. Mrs. Hill organized the Chicago branch three years ago to distribute flowers to hospitals, social settlements and shut-ins in the city.

The guild conducts a booth in the main concourse of the Chicago and North Western terminal where each morning during the summer choice flowers are brought from city and suburban gardens for distribution. Theodore W. Purcell is president and Fenton Kelsey secretary of the organization. Among others active in the enterprise are Mrs. Robert R. McCormick, Mrs. Lester Armour, Mrs. Walter Brewster, Miss Jane Addams, Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick, William Nelson Pelouze, and Mrs. Tiffany Blake.

Flag to Fly in All Its Glory on 151st Birthday

Chicago Will Celebrate Anniversary Today.

Flags will fly from homes and business houses all over the city today. School programs, picnics, meetings, and exercises by many organizations will celebrate the 151st birthday anniversary of Old Glory.

A congress under the direction of the American Legion Auxiliary's Department of Americanism, will open this morning at 10 o'clock at the Hotel La Salle. Among the speakers will be Maj. J. E. White, senior vice commander of the Legion, department of Illinois; Maj. Frederick Beals, director of the R. O. T. C. in the Chicago high schools; Dr. George James, national director of the C. M. T. C.; Judge Thomas Norton, Harry Jung, and Mrs. William H. Cudsworth, national Americanism chairman of the auxiliary.

Representative Henry Rathbone will be the principal speaker tonight at the exercises of the Chicago Elks, at 174 West Washington street. A dance and entertainment will follow. Pupils of Hirsch Junior High school and the Cornell Elementary school will hold a flag raising ceremony at a spring festival in Grand Crossing park.

As a part of the nation-wide Flag day observance, the Chicago army recruiting office, 537 South Dearborn street, will distribute to those who call at the office 125,000 copies of a flag etiquette booklet.

A special exhibition of flags will be shown at the Chicago Historical society. Among them is one of the best preserved and oldest service flags extant, made in 1795, and captured by the Chippewa Indians from the American forces at Drummond island; the thirteen starred flag President Andrew Jackson presented to Chief Sheboynay in 1836; the first flag to be raised over San Juan after its capture by American forces in the Spanish-American war and the flag which covered the body of President Lincoln.

Chicago chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution will have a program and tea this afternoon in the north ballroom of the Stevens hotel. Representative Rathbone will speak.

The Illinois Daughters of 1812 will hold their Flag day celebration tomorrow when they will gather in Lincoln park refectory for a picnic.

The Golden Rule for a Ripe Old Age Is: Be Young and Happy

If you're interested in living to a rip old age there are two rules you must adopt. Be young and be happy.

If you're not concerned about becoming a centenarian there are still two rules that will not do you any harm. Be young and be happy.

Perhaps your reaction to an adviser who sits on a high stool, shakes a finger at you, and says, "Go now, be young and be happy," is a feeling of pity for the poor thing. Where, you say, can you take the prescription to be young and be happy filled?

How can I be happy, perhaps you'll say, when life has dealt me so many disappointments? How can I be happy with the world around me going to the demnition bowwows? With the young 'uns carrying on as they never did when I was a girl? Et cetera, etc.

Well, there was an interviewing orgy not long since of seven young girls, the baby sister of the group, 99. They were sisters under the skin—not daughters of the same mother. They were asked for a few pointers on how to achieve 100 years. The seven of them proffered the advice I've already offered you. Be young and be happy.

The seven of them had gone through those inescapable periods of disappointments, disillusions, and sicknesses to which life treats (or tries) its subjects every one. But they didn't let the gloom engulf them for long. They didn't go about spreading gloom where cheerfulness was needed. They refused to let life drag down mouth corners or spirit.

And that's about all that the advice to be young and be happy involves. It doesn't mean going around grinning like a chessy cat, nor overplaying the Pollyanna rôle. You can enjoy your sorrows if you must. But not for long. That's the point—not for long. And whatever else you do, if you want to be a flapper at 100, or at 20, or at 30, or 40, don't indulge in self-pity. That's the habit of mind that cripples more people than anything else.

Don't think about yourself while there is something or somebody else in the world you can think about. Bitterness is another youth and beauty destroyer whose calamities are numbered by the thousands. Fight against it. Fight like everything against it. It's a killer. It kills youth, happiness, and beauty.

A Friend in Need

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Plea from a Sunday School.

"There may be some one who would like to give a few used chairs or benches to help in our Sunday school work. We are badly in need of seats and a donation of that sort would be greatly appreciated. A. C."

Here's a request which, perhaps, another engaged in religious work can fill. It's a worthy project and if your Sunday school is about to invest in new furnishings you might donate the chairs or pews to this less affluent congregation.

Wants a Spinning Wheel.

"I wonder if you know of any one who has an old spinning wheel. I would be most happy and thankful to receive one. M. B."

Here's an unusual request. Can you fill it? If one of you has a spinning wheel, a relic of the days of your grandparents, and would not mind parting with it, this correspondent would be more than grateful to receive it.

A Disparaging Remark.

We were much surprised when dad announced that our long awaited car was to be delivered that day.

When I came home that evening, in front of the house stood a new car which I greatly disapproved of. I found dad speaking to a man, and with a disgusted look said, "O, dad, whatever made you buy that piece of junk?"

Imagine my embarrassment when I learned that the car belonged to the other man, who was dad's boss.

G. M.

Sent Sprawling.

It was at a carnival during carnival week in our neighborhood. I decided to go on the "whip." As I tried to act gracefully and jumped into the seat my heel caught on the side of the car and I went sprawling.

Embarrassed? I just couldn't get off fast enough. W. B.

Cabbage Omelet.

In one of the famous Alpine regions climbers have gone into ecstasy over the potato omelet featured in an Alpine inn. Other vegetable omelets—often called hashes, but folded—have been in high repute elsewhere, and there is good reason why a cabbage omelet should fit into the budget of many a small home. If cabbage is at all a favorite vegetable in a small family, there will need to be ways of using the left-over, or otherwise the half of a raw cabbage will perhaps be hanging around too long. Cut in half and the cut side covered with waxed paper, it will keep well in a cool place for a day or two, but it inevitably dries, and especially in the electric refrigerators.

For a cabbage omelet take two cups of cooked cabbage chopped fine, one or two raw onions, perhaps some green sweet pepper, two cups of freshly cooked mashed potato, and some bacon in rashers or cooked and ground into dust. Enough for from four to six people.

Put potatoes to cook. Have cabbage chopped fine. Put a tablespoon of bacon fat in the frying pan and put in with it the onion, cut fine, and the sweet pepper, if used. Cover the pan and have it over a small fire until the onion is tender but not browned. The pepper should be chopped fine also. When these are tender put the cabbage in the pan in an even layer and let it slowly heat through and brown gently on the bottom, perhaps, if it will, over a small fire. Finally spread the hot mashed potato evenly over the cabbage and let them cook together for five minutes; then fold like any omelet and serve on a hot platter, garnishing to taste.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

MARIE H.: FOR DRY AND FALLING hair I recommend brushing it every morning and night for five minutes and massaging the scalp every night with the following tonic: Resorcin, 45 grains; glycerin, 1 ounce; and equal parts of water and alcohol to fill a six ounce bottle. Just rub the scalp with the finger tips until you produce a feeling of life. Send stamped, addressed envelope for my booklet on the hair.

Miss Jane Scriven's Troth Is Announced to John J. Finlay

BY THALIA

The announcement of the engagement of Miss Jane Scriven to John J. Finlay, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur M. Finlay of 2100 Lincoln Park West, formerly of St. Louis, being made public today by Mrs. William Hooper Scriven of 102 East Oak street, is of unusual interest, as Miss Scriven is one of the best known and most popular girls in society. Mrs. Scriven is to give two small teas, one this afternoon for those of her friends who have known her daughter from childhood, and one tomorrow afternoon for some of Miss Scriven's intimate friends.

The Scrivens came to Chicago from Cleveland when Jane was only 3 months old and they lived in the Reginald De Koven house at 104 Bellevue until last year, shortly after Mr. Scriven's tragic death in a motor accident. Jane was one of the first small pupils at Mrs. McCormick's school, conducted in the ballroom of the old McCormick mansion at 675 Rush street. There were about 15 children, among them Muriel and Mathilde McCormick, Ginny Carpenter, Janet Fairbank, Marjorie King (who is now Mrs. Clarence Mitchell), Helen Isham (who is married to Lucius Tuttle), Bertha Honore (Mrs. Warren Ripple), Lydia Hibbard (Mrs. John R. Holland Jr.), and the Higginson girls—Theresa, who is now Countess Giangiulio Rucellai, and Lee, who is Mrs. John H. P. Gould. She also went to Mrs. Isham's dancing class and to the gymnastic class of a dozen youngsters that Bertha Honoré engineered for a while.

Mrs. Scriven, who is one of the city's most hospitable and resourceful women, superintended the activities of a group of girls through their childhood diversions, and when the war work began the surgical dressings done by her protégés were among the first to leave the city. Jane made her debut in 1923, earlier than she naturally would have, because her friends were among the older girls, and since then she has been active in Junior league and Service club work.

Mr. Finlay has an interesting background also, with connections in St. Louis, Philadelphia, and New York City. His grandfather, John H. Finlay of Edinburgh, Scotland, was the first oil refiner in the United States, in 1859. His great-grandfather, Charles Mitchell, accompanied Napoleon to his exile at St. Helena, and his uncle, the late Gen. Daniel B. Wentz of Philadelphia, was fuel administrator during the world war.

Mr. Finlay's aunt, Mrs. Henry Clay Pierce of St. Louis, is the owner of the estate, Cedar Island Lodge, in northern Wisconsin, which has been taken by President Coolidge for the summer White House [a circumstance which, by the way, prevents a planned house party for Miss Scriven and her fiancé]. Mr. Finlay was a member of the class of 1915 at St. Louis university, and served overseas as an officer in the navy during the war.

The wedding will probably take place next fall.

Chicago may well regret the loss of J. Ballard Moore, one of its most personable and eligible bachelors, as such, but, on the other hand, they may well be pleased to welcome his new wife, the former Miss Olyve Graef, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Campbell Graef of Washington, D. C. The wedding took place, without any fanfare, on Monday at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Graef in Georgetown with only relatives present. Brig. Gen. Charles G. Treat was best man. Mr. Moore, who is a former Washingtonian himself, has brought his bride to Chicago, and they are at the Ambassador hotel until they sail, on June 30, for several weeks in Europe. Mrs. Moore made her debut in Washington three seasons ago, and is a Junior leaguer. She is a great friend of Mme. Georges Thenault, wife of the attaché of the French embassy in Washington. She was Miss Sarah Spencer before her marriage, and is the daughter of the late Judge Oliver M. Spencer of Chicago.

Mr. Moore's parents were the late Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm M. Moore, and he was graduated from George Washington university in 1913.

Mrs. Edward Hines of Evanston, who returned on Monday from three months' travel in Europe, told about her audience with the pope and the presentation by the pope of a blessed rose, at the annual luncheon of the Rosary college auxiliary yesterday at the Midwest Athletic club.

Mrs. Russell Whitman of Evanston departed yesterday to attend the reunion festivities attending the 45th anniversary of her graduation from Smith college. Her daughter, Mrs. Howard Henderson (Sally Whitman) went east earlier this week, to be present at her tenth reunion. She is to be one of two marshals leading the alumnae parade on alumnae day. Afterwards Mrs. Whitman will go to Plymouth, Mass., where Mr. Whitman will join her for their annual summer stay.

Mr. and Mrs. David R. Forgan Jr. of 1315 Astor street are receiving congratulations upon the birth on Sunday of a daughter at St. Luke's hospital. Mrs. Forgan was Mrs. Florence Grey Leonard. The Forgans plan to be in Lake Forest for the summer.

Troth Announced

[Drake Studio Photo.]

Mrs. William Hooper Scriven of 102 East Oak street announces the engagement of her daughter, Jane, to John J. Finlay, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur M. Finlay of 2100 Lincoln Park West, formerly of St. Louis.

91 Year Old Alumnus to Lead N. U. Parade

Horace E. Goodrich, 91 years old, who entered Northwestern university in 1855 and was a member of the first graduating class, will lead the alumni day parade from Old college to Patten gymnasium on Saturday afternoon. Preceding the parade he will light the huge purple candle which he recently presented to the university for the annual lighting ritual.

The annual alumni meeting will be held the same afternoon. At 6 p. m. there will be a dinner for the old grads and at 9 p. m. President Walter Dill Scott will hold a reception for alumni, faculty, trustees, and friends of the university.

Senator Shipstead of Minnesota, a graduate of the Northwestern dental school in 1903 and the only dentist who ever went to the senate, spoke last night at the school's alumni meeting in the Hotel La Salle. At noon the law school alumni held a luncheon in the Furniture Mart. Among the attendants were Thomas M. Hoyne, 86 years old, a graduate in 1866, and Mrs. Catherine Waugh McCulloch, who received a diploma in 1886.

WEDDING

The wedding of Miss Julia Ursula Rounds, daughter of Mrs. Fred C. Rounds of Pasadena, Cal., formerly of Chicago, and Kenneth Leonard Colborn, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Colborn of Monrovia, Cal., is to take place at 4 o'clock this afternoon at All Saints' church in Pasadena. The bride is a granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. J. McCarthy, and a niece of Mrs. Edwin J. Randall of Evanston, Mrs. Raymond C. Dudley of the Ambassador, and Mrs. Edwin M. Hadley of 4750 Woodlawn avenue. Her cousin, Miss Lillian Dudley, is to be maid of honor, and Miss Evelyn Randall and Miss Maida Randall, also cousins, are to be bridesmaids. Miss Rounds is to wear a frock of ivory satin, fashioned from her mother's wedding dress, with a bodice and skirt panel of rose point and a veil of point de Venise lace, and she will carry orchids and lilies of the valley. The maid of honor is to wear green chiffon with a large drooping hat of green horsehair, and the Misses Randall are to be in blue and corn color respectively. Pastel flowers will bank the altar for the ceremony, and there are to be tall standards full of roses and gladioli.

This Evening Wrap Is of Metal Cloth

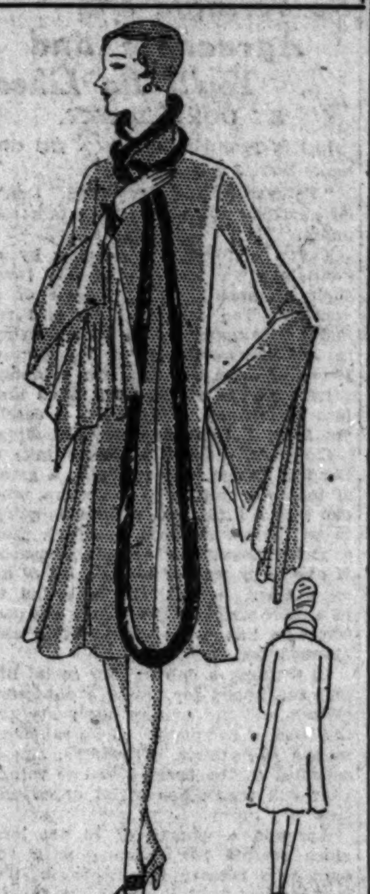
by Corinne Lowe

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—It is not only the dance floor of today that we frequently wax but also the dance wrap. These ciré metal fabrics are, in fact, chosen almost as widely for the evening capes and coats as they are for the frocks worn beneath them, and to this fact the Jenny model sketched today offers vivid testimony.

Here is a wrap which is distinguished both for its choice of materials and for its line. The latter strikes that admirable mean of conduct some place between the ultra tailored and and the ultra feminine. Far removed from the skimpy little narrow-sleeved coats which we continue to see about, it nevertheless eschews the more extravagant femininity of so many later-day wraps.

Ciré metal cloth is the medium and this is developed to distinction chiefly through a form of scarf collar which Jenny has emphasized throughout all her summer coats—both daytime and evening. Slipped through the collar a long end of this scarf descends below the hem of the coat with the effect of a full-fledged panel. It is trimmed with a narrow band of brown fur that brings out all the golden glint of the material.

As for the sleeves, these are especially delightful. They are slashed to the elbow of the underarm and thus reveal two layers of rose color chiffon.



Meeting of Hadassah.

Chicago chapter of Hadassah will hold a tea and annual meeting next Tuesday at 2 o'clock in the Almco galleries, Almco building, 1433 South Wabash avenue. Annual reports will be given and new officers will be elected.

WARNS GIRLS of Body Odor!

Eileen Bourne, LIBERTY MAGAZINE'S famous beauty authority, writes:

"No matter how vividly a girl appeals, if there is ever so faint an odor of perspiration clinging to her person, she goes into the category of damaged beauties."

"What a great many women do not understand" this famous authority warns, "is that odors may escape a regularly bathed skin . . . One may be a perspiration offender and be unconscious of the fact."

Thanks to Spic, a fine, pure and soothing powder, you need never—never—risk offending, even unknowingly. For Spic ENDS body odor in a flash!

Modern science developed Spic to end the CAUSE of odor by continuously destroying the odor-causing acids in perspiration and other secretions. Only Spic can do this. Spic is protected by a U. S. patent.

Doctors and nurses recommend Spic because it is soothing to the skin . . . instantly and lastingly ends odor . . . does not clog pores . . . and cannot injure fine fabrics.

Women and men by the tens of thousands now use Spic instead of the old, messy or inefficient preparations which attempt to disguise odor temporarily with a strong perfume or try to close the pores completely—with disastrous results.

Rub plenty of Spic into the armpits, over the feet and between the toes to stop itching, burning and scalding. Dust freely all over the body.

Many, many women, on Doctors' advice, use Spic to deodorize the Sanitary Napkin.

Your druggist has Spic in large cans. Or mail coupon to Helen Lee Scott for generous sample can.

Red Letter Days
By Edna Wallace Hopper

For very special occasions, "when one simply must look her best," the skin needs freshening and toning. And a "facial" comes to the rescue.

Some women look young and carefully groomed for a night or two. Then their skin gradually lapses back into muddy, dull hue . . . until another important event.

You can give your face the firm, flawless tone of youth. You should keep it in this condition, not only for important engagements, but every day, because you're just as closely scrutinized day in any day out.

Edna Wallace Hopper as she looks today

This is the simple treatment I have found really necessary for youthful skin:

Apply my White Youth Clay once a week, twice a month, or as often as your skin requires. After washing it off you will feel the pleasant sensation of a real astringent. The clay rids your skin of blackheads and similar blemishes, gently purging the pores of their accumulated impurities which sometimes sink so deep, especially in oily skins.

My White Youth Clay is the only dainty, agreeable clay pack I know. You can get it at any toilet counter.

If you want your eyes to be clear and beautiful heed the advice of twelve thousand oculists who recommend the eye bath. Once you have the knowledge of washing your eyes you will realize why Iris, America's Eye Bath, has become an absolute essential with thousands of well-groomed women.

Iris is a clear, harmless bath containing boric acid, witch-hazel, menthol and other astringent cleaners. It relieves tired, inflamed eyes and gives luster and brightness to eyes to make them sparkle and look alive and dancing.

Iris comes complete with eye cup in sterilized dressing-table size flasks at 48c. Also in larger size at 98c. We guarantee and recommend Iris. Try it today.

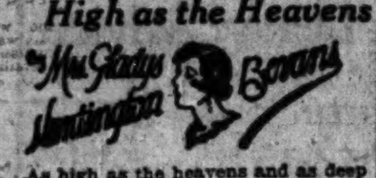
Their Questions Are Deep as the Sea; High as the Heavens



by Mrs. Gladys Huntington Bevans

As high as the heavens and as deep as the sea.

The subject of the questions children ask is engrossing my interest more and more.

There was a time when adults were very apt to be annoyed by the persistent questioning of children—that is, of those children who didn't get discouraged by the unresponsiveness they met with. Most of the questions they asked were regarded as silly or as evidence of idle curiosity—and certainly not worth the careful consideration of older people nor a careful reply.

Happily, this attitude is passing away and we're coming to realize that if there is anything in the world children's questions are not, it is silly or empty. Any mother or father who has kept the bars down so that his children go on asking questions goes right on having an increasing respect for the workings of children's minds. For their questions are as deep as the sea and as high as the heavens—and any one who can answer them all is a superman.

Naturally, since my closest and most continuous association with any child has been with my own, my greatest experience of the kind of questions children ask is based on his personality. Consequently, it would be of great interest to know from other mothers or fathers or relatives very close to a child what questions other children ask. (And, incidentally, I am not referring to questions pertaining to life and its reproduction—those are questions to each of which there is usually a specific answer.) The source of such information would have to be as intimate as this, since children do not often ask their most searching questions of their teachers, or casual friends, or people making psychological tests.

What is the trend of questions from the littlest children up—for some of the most amazing ones are asked when they are toddlers? We might make a symposium, if mothers and fathers had the time to write me, of those particular questions their children have asked which show unusually deep thought, keen perception or great spiritual imagination—and many of which are absolutely unanswerable.

Are many of the questions universal—or are they mostly highly individual? It would be fascinating to hear, and valuable—for as far as I know this is a phase of childhood which has never been recorded.

Be Versatile and Agreeable and You'll Be Liked

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Is this your idea of how a girl can make herself popular?

"Be able to do everything. Don't do anything too well. Don't talk too much."

That's a formula presented by a gentleman who has squired debs [and their mammas] for a quarter of a century. The fact that he still remains a bachelor rather puts a crimp in the trustworthiness of the advice. If one of them had done her vamping extra well she might have lured him into matrimony. He's quite a catch, you know. And really very charming.

Certainly the girl who can take a hand at bridge, who can play a game of tennis or golf, who can swim, who can play a little, sing a little, is going to be invited to more functions than a girl without any accomplishments. If one is by way of being a bit of an entertainer, herself, she is bound to be a more welcome guest than the person who has to be looked after and planned for.

In training a deb for her social life and the hoped for season's conquest, clothes and the coming out party are the least of her plans. Her popularity means everything. Therefore, she is schooled in the dozen and one things that will widen her social opportunities.

Apropos, a woman of 33 not long since recited her meeting with the man who became her husband. She was a good bridge player. A fourth was needed one evening. The man was visiting some friends of hers. They called her up the last minute to fill in. Now she's presiding over a handsome home with her bridge partner of that evening. That's what came of knowing how to play bridge. Playing it well, perhaps I should add, in spite of the bachelor's advice.

The objection to the copybook maxim of doing one thing and doing it well, no doubt is the impression substantially verified that one may become somewhat of a bore with one interest. You limit your audience with one accomplishment.

I don't think any comment is necessary about not talking too much.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., June 13.—[Special.]—Capt. and Mrs. Herbert Stevens and their twin daughters, Miss Sarah Stevens and Miss Marie Stevens, have given up their apartment at 1746 K street and gone to their new station at the Great Lakes Naval station, Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Moore have arrived from their home in Chicago and are at the Mayflower.

Mrs. Clarence Crittenden Calhoun was hostess at luncheon today at Rosshau, her country estate near Chevy Chase, her guests remaining to play bridge and listen in on the convention. The company included Mrs. Howard Sutherland, Mrs. Frank W. Mondell, Frau von Lewinski, Mrs. Elonzo Tyner, Mrs. Emerson Howe, Mrs. Robert F. Mackenzie, and Mrs. Clarence N. Busch, recently elected president of the National League of American Penwomen.

Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Gratama of Blaricum, Holland, who are making a three year tour of the globe, are now in Washington, and will be at the Mayflower for about a week.

Bright Sayings of the Children

The Tribune will pay $5 for each childish saying printed. The story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unavailable contributions. Write on one side of the paper. Address bright sayings to Aunty Bee, The Tribune, Chicago.

Jimmy, aged 4, was having a fine time playing ball with the grown-ups of his family. Usually he could be lured away by an invitation from his playmates across the street. But this time when they called, "Jimmie-e-e! Jimmie-e-e! Come on over!" he replied, "Aw, I don't want to. We're having a commotion over here."

E. D.

A mother and child boarded a jammed street car the other evening during the rush hour. The car was so crowded that the mother was held up for several moments on the platform while those ahead of her paid their fares. When she finally succeeded in worming her way to the door, she was greeted by the thickly packed bodies of standing occupants, but no child.

In momentary anxiety she called, "Billie—where are you?"

Out of the depths of the jam a tiny voice answered: "I'se here, muzzer, down by people's feets." T. L.

Throws clothes away

THAT'S all there is to do with clothes that are riddled with moth-holes! And it's the mothworms that do all the damage—flying moths eat nothing! Insect-killers, moth-balls, tar-bags and cedar chests can't stop mothworms from eating. But Larvex does! It mothproofs the cloth itself! Guaranteed by Good Housekeeping Magazine. Odorless, non-injurious and non-inflammable. Larvex comes in two forms. Spraying Larvex and Rinsing Larvex. Use Spraying Larvex for clothes, furniture, etc. Costs as little as pressing—enough to thoroughly mothproof two suits, only $1. Simply spray it on and they are mothproofed for an entire year. Use Rinsing Larvex for all washable woolens—blankets, sweaters, wool hose, baby garments, etc. Easy as rinsing! Dissolve in water—put woolens in—and they're completely mothproofed until washed again. A $1 package mothproofs all the washable woolens of the average family. Sold by drug and department stores. Spraying Larvex; pints, $1. In combination with special atomizer, $1.50. ½ gallons, $3. Gallons, $5. Rinsing Larvex, package of 4 tubes, $1. The Larvex Corporation, 250 Park Avenue, New York, N. Y.

"That's the loveliest thing you've ever worn"

"When the handsomest man in the office asked me to go to the Annual Picnic with him, I was so thrilled that I bought a new dress in honor of the occasion—a lovely white zephyr-weight sweater frock flecked with metal thread—then foolishly wore it two days before the picnic, and spilled strawberries down the front!

"Though I didn't believe the material was really washable, I decided to wash it in Lux. And the results were truly marvelous! The dress came out like new.

"At the picnic, 'he' said it was the loveliest thing I had ever worn. And said, too, that he thought I was the best-dressed girl in the office!

"As I do not spend as much on clothes as many of the girls, I must give the credit to Lux for keeping even my everyday office things fresh, unfaded, new-looking more than twice as long."—Marie Long, 1629 Everett Ave., Louisville, Ky.

[Every musical show in New York uses Lux to keep stockings and costumes new-looking twice as long!]

"How do you keep them so fluffy and new-looking?"

"I wash all my good table linens, my bedspreads and blankets with Lux, just as I do my stockings and underthings.

"Recently, a friend happened to drop in just as I was putting my blankets away after their spring washing. She asked if the pink ones I had in my arms could possibly be the same ones I got five years ago.

"'My blankets are only two years old,' she said, 'and they are matted and shrunken. How do you keep yours so soft and fluffy?'

"When I told her I washed mine with Lux she said, 'That explains it—I thought any soap would do for such heavy things as blankets.' Now she, too, has beautiful blankets, thanks to Lux."—Victoria Wallace, 2920 Avenue E., Ft. Worth, Texas.

These are just two of the 491,000 letters received during the past year by Lever Brothers Co.

I can give many persons spare time work—in your own home—no selling, no canvassing, and plenty of money. Possibly you can take advantage of my offer.

Anyway, write me a letter, tell me about yourself, your education, your desires, your present position, anything that might guide me in helping you.

Your letters will be held in strictest confidence and returned to you when I finish studying them.

SECOND MORTGAGE LOANS

On Tuesday of this week the Chicago Morris Plan Bank will have loaned its 50,000,000th dollar. Like the 49,999,999 preceding dollars, it will be used for some family running need.

It was only a little over ten years ago that The Chicago Morris Plan Bank introduced into this community a plan whereby credit was made available to the man of moderate circumstances at a reasonable cost and upon terms which met with his purse. Little did the community realize that the facilities offered were so greatly needed and that the amount of money loaned would ever approach the amount of money which has already been loaned.

A little over two years ago this same institution was instrumental in providing facilities for another phase of the family running business. We were almost shocked at the high rates which were charged for second mortgage loans on homes, and we were equally shocked at other conditions which were accepted as a part of the second mortgage business. A very large fund was made available to see if the home owners could not be spared the exorbitant charges and the other unsatisfactory conditions.

While we have not as yet loaned $50,000,000 on second mortgages, we have already loaned several million dollars in the short period in which we have been engaged in this field. We are hopeful that as time goes on the record established by The Chicago Morris Plan Bank as agent in second mortgage development will be quite as notable as the record which has been established in the making of industrial loans.

We will be glad to meet home owners in Cook, Lake and Du Page counties. We will make loans to you for a period up to three years on houses and homes and up to three flat buildings. The appraisals will be made promptly and payments will be made to fit the home owner's income, and the rates charged will not be out of sight. At the present time we charge 6% interest plus a commission which works out as follows:

65.00	per $1,000	for	2	years
90.00	per $1,000	for	3	years

"Cadillac Supremacy" Also Applies to Our Reconditioned Cars

A reconditioned Cadillac or La Salle possesses the plain and obvious superiorities which have made the term, "Cadillac performance," stand for supremacy in the fine car field.

Our reconditioned models now on display are fine examples of this supremacy—a supremacy due to the supersmoothness and efficiency of the famous Cadillac 90 degree V-type 8 cylinder engine.

The prices of these reconditioned cars are striking examples of our values.
